No Spite Work to Count.

Better Prospects for the Officials.

Another Attack Is Made on the Liquor Dealers.

A Bill That Will Make Street Car Men Feel Happy.

Special Correspondence of The Tribune.

SACRAMENTO, February 20.—The members of the Alameda county delegation are going to be just in their action on the County Government bill. When it became known that they were investigating the salaries of the various officials with a view of cutting down the pay of those who were in receipt of fat incomes, everyone with an ax to grind or spleen to vent imagined he saw an opportunity to get even.

As a result the legislators have been flooded with correspondence effusive, but scarcely reliable. The spitework is too apparent in many cases to have any effect, for individuals who were telling one story three or four months ago before it was known how the election would go, have now veered around to exactly the opposite point of the compass.

It stands to reason that statements from these sources will have but little weight, and as the delegation is a fair minded one the rabid slaughter which was predicted a short time ago will fail to materialize. There will of course be some pruning, but it will be more in the way of regulating salaries rather than of making radical changes in the conducting of the offices.

"What we are essaying," said a Senatorial member of the delegation today, "is to have the offices conducted properly and fair to the incumbent as well as to the people. For my part I do not think it right to consider venomous attacks from disappointed candidates who, if the conditions were reversed, would be shouting just as loud at the top end of the see-saw as they are doing now at the lower extremity. It is all very well to furnish statements and figures, but it is not a proper deal for us to accept them literally, as there is no telling what expenses incurred in the workings of the office have been suppressed, and it would not be right to act on a distorted or colored showing."

As regards the the township officers, the intentions of the committee are now pretty well known. The new County Government act, which went into effect the first of the present year, cuts down the fees of civil business about one-half, so that it will be permitted to stand. As for the criminal litigation, the proposition is to allow the Township Justices $75 a month salary and a limit of $75 in fees. The constables are to get $75 a month and an outside fee limit of $83.

This will make a great change in Judge Cliff's office, especially in the profits on tramps, for it means a loss to him in that connection alone of $400 a month for some months of the year, the average loss per annum being about $2400. However, neither he nor the constables are complaining very much, as even under the new regulations they will have offices well worth fighting for.

THE LIQUOR FIGHT.

The attacks on the liquor men are becoming virulent, for the temperance people are afraid something will pass the Legislature that will undo all the moral knots they have been trying to tie for the past two years. In consequence they are flooding Sacramento with protests and appeals, and ministerial agents are again shedding their benign influence over the law makers.

But the onslaught is not confined to the prohibitionists by any means. Another element is at work, as may be seen by the following sweeping constitutional amendment prepared by Senator Linder:

"The Legislature shall have no power to impose taxes upon counties, cities, towns or other public or municipal corporations, or upon the inhabitants or property thereof, for county, city, town or other municipal purposes, but may, by general laws, vest in the corporate authorities thereof the power to assess and collect taxes for such purposes.

"Provided, however, that no person, firm or corporation shall transact, carry on, conduct or engage in the business of selling or vending malt, vinous or spirituous liquors without first paying the sum of $500 to the State Treasurer, who shall thereupon issue a license, to be countersigned by the State Controller, to carry on and conduct such business at a place named in said license, and said license shall be valid for one year from its date. Any person, firm or corporation conducting, carrying on, transacting or engaging in such business without obtaining such license is hereby declared guilty of a misdemeanor and is punishable accordingly, provided, however, that nothing contained herein shall be construed to abridge, deny or impair the right of county, city and county or other municipal corporation to impose and collect license taxes on such business, or to regulate for any purpose, or to control, abolish or suppress the same.

"Provided further, that no license shall be issued by the State Treasurer to carry on or conduct said business within the limits of any such municipality in which the legislative body has declared by ordinance that no license shall be issued for such business, or that the same shall be abolished or suppressed."

This is all what is known as "hot stuff," but the representatives here of the liquor men say they do not fear it, as whatever animosity there may be against them is not so pronounced as to attempt to legislate them out of business.

THE CIGARETTE CRUSADE.

An attack on a kindred organization is the way the cigarette people are being latted. Senator Gesford's bill not only got through the upper house, but also passed the Assembly, where a notice to reconsider brought it up with a short turn. Outside of the fact that they do not like this indication of public sentiment the cigarette men say they do not care whether the bill passes or not, for they believe they can knock it out in the courts.

Their argument in this direction is as follows: The bill reads: "Every person who manufactures, or deals in, or sells, or offers for sale, or gives away, or otherwise disposes of cigarettes, is guilty of a misdemeanor." The point they take is that the section does not read "cigarettes containing tobacco," and that, therefore, cubebs and many other products are assailed, making it certain that the law will not stand.

HIGH HATS MUST GO.

The crusade against high hats seems to have taken hold, for the Assembly has passed the bill which declares it unlawful for any one visiting a place of public amusement to wear a hat, bonnet, hood or other headwear during the hours of the performance. The individual violating the act is liable to a fine of $25, and furthermore, is to pay to the person aggrieved a sum not to exceed $50.

Senator Mathews' proposition to allow counties to issue bonds for the construction of railroads is to be considered during the early part of the coming week. He will go into the fight strongly backed, for he has obtained indorsements from Chambers of Commerce throughout the State. He says he does not think the Southern Pacific will antagonize his project, as it will have the effect of helping the company's business by tapping productive territory throughout the State in sections where it would not pay the corporation to build.

FOR STREET CAR MEN.

Here is a bill that will make street car employes happy. It is by Senator Earl and declares that it shall be unlawful for any owner of a street railway in this State or for any agent or representative of such owner to require any deposit whatever from any conductor, motorman or other employe at any time, either before, during or after the employment of any such employe. Any owner of a street railroad in this State who now has in custody or possession any deposit heretofore required of any conductor, motorman or other employes of such railroad company shall forthwith, within thirty days of the passage of this act, return the same to the person from whom the same has been received.

There is a little history to this bill. When the Piedmont road went into bankruptcy, about $3000 deposited by the carmen was tied up. Furthermore, the companies have always held this fund as a sword over the heads of their employes, fines and delinquencies being charged up against the deposit of $25, which every man is required to make. Then again the fact that the money is held by the corporations without interest, is a point not to be forgotten.

Senator Earl says that he does not desire to wreak any hardship on the car companies or to subject them to probable losses. They can guard themselves against this by a system of indemnity bonds which would give them all the protection they now have, and at the same time be fair to their men.

MILLARD IS BETTER.

Considerable consternation was aroused around the Capitol when the dispatches were read announcing that Lieutenant Governor Millard is dying. Senator Androus was soon out denying the rumor, as he is in constant communication with Millard and would be certain to hear if such a condition of affairs existed. As a matter of fact, he has only just received a letter to the contrary. It is dated Indio, February 14 th, and reads as follows:

"I am improving in health, but it is doubtful if I shall be able to reach Sacramento before the end of the session."

THE PAUPER BILL.

The Indigent bill has been engaging the attention of the Legislature. Assemblymen Dodge and North have been fighting the proposition to continue the allowances, their point being that the system is far too extravagant. The apportionment has been $100 per annum for each indigent, and though everything went well at first it did not take long to get the charity abused. From every hill and dale paupers were in evidence, and the magnitude of the business is best illustrated by the fact that it would take $800,000 to meet the expenses for the coming two years. The proposition now is to make every county take care of its own poor.

THE FERRY FOUNDATION.

Well Known Engineers Employed to Investigate It.

SACRAMENTO, February 21.—In the Assembly the concurrent resolution was adopted by a vote of 36 to 26, authorizing Colonels Mendell and Heuer of the United States engineers to examine the ferry depot foundations at San Francisco and report to the Assembly.

The resolution was opposed by the Democrats, who charged this to be direct discourtesy to the Governor, who has been conducting the investigation. The resolution was offered at the request of Harbor Commissioner Bassett, who said that the integrity of the commission had been attacked by the report of the Governor's expert.

An effort to reconsider the vote by which the Anti-Cigarette bill was passed yesterday was defeated.

The Agricultural Committee reported that after a conference with the Senate Committee it was agreed to favor the maintenance of district fairs and the State fair at one-half of the appropriation made at the last session.

A concurrent resolution, asking Congress to consider a plan for the protection to farm produce, was adopted.

The bill submitted by the committee appointed by Mayor Sutro to afford relief to unemployed was reported from the committee adversely.

BILLS PASSED.

Action Taken in the Senate This Morning.

SACRAMENTO, February 21.—The Senate this morning adopted the Assembly resolution to adjourn until Monday.

Among the bills passed were the following:

Protecting the grounds of Whittier school from intruders; providing stenographer for the Coroner of each county of over 100,000 population; concerning contracts for the lease or sale of street railway equipment; amending Street Improvement Bond act; appropriating $275,000 for coyote scalp claims.

Action on all special orders and bills was postponed until Tuesday next.

ON THE STAND.

Harry Hayward Tells His Story in Court.

He Says His Brother Gave False Testimony.

He Declares That Miss Ging Was a Noble Woman.

MINNEAPOLIS, February 21. — The cross-examination of W. W. Hayward, father of the young man accused of murdering Miss Ging, was continued today.

County Attorney Nye could not shake his testimony the slightest.

By the testimony of Gunsmith William Yale the defense established that the bullet which killed Miss Ging was the same weight as the one taken from the 33 short cartridge.

Blixt had testified that Harry Hayward had told him the cartridges were 33 long.

The defendant, Harry Hayward, was called and took the stand with arms folded and teeth set.

He declared, in answer to questions, that the testimony of Blixt and Adry Hayward was false.

He said he knew the reason that his brother testified falsely against him, and Erwin asked him to explain.

The prosecution objected and the objection was sustained.

Erwin asked: "Did your brother have any fear of you for the reason you might make disclosures about him?"

"Yes, sir," responded Harry. The answer was ruled out.

"Now, you have heard Adry say he had never seen Miss Ging. Did he ever see her?"

"He did. It was on a narrow, dark road between Nicollet avenue and Lake Calhoun. He could not see her very well, but he could feel her all right."

"Was he alone with her?"

"He was not."

"Who was with him?"

"I would rather not tell, unless it is necessary. The young lady is here in the city."

"What is the name? It will be necessary to know it."

"Miss Veddar. They were both with him."

Nye objected strenuously to anything further on this line and was sustained by the court.

"I tell you," said Judge Smith, "it is an insult to this court when you know what you are proposing to show has been ruled out by this court, you try to bring it in in another way."

"I mean no disrespect," said Erwin, "and I do not think I deserve reproof.

"Now (turning to the witness) I will ask you about your relations with Miss Ging."

"Well," said Harry, "I was introduced to Miss Ging, I think, in January, 1894, by Mr. Speaker, at a boarding-house. I met her at first perhaps as often as once a week. After a while I met her as often as twice a week. From July and August on to December we were what you might call lovers, I suppose."

"Now, I will ask you if at any time while you were lovers there were improper relations existing between you?"

"No, sir. She was a true and noble girl to the best of my belief, both toward me and toward everybody else."

Hayward said he had "gambled high and lots of it."

He admitted he tried to keep it from the public, but his friends all knew it. He said he had gambled in almost every city in the country, and named San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego and Cheyenne among the places he had visited.

Miss Ging knew that he gambled and took part in faro games herself.

A DIAMOND THIEF.

He Was Captured With the Gems in His Possession.

NEW YORK, February 21.—A man, apparently 55 years of age, who refused to give his name, took a package containing diamonds, valued at $10,000, from the establishment of M. Fox & Co., importers of gems, Maiden lane, at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon and was arrested five minutes later.

On his person were found two packages of gems, only one of which, however, was identified as belonging to Fox & Co.

CANNOT BE ELECTED.

Dolph Losing Ground in the Senatorial Fight.

SALEM, Or., February 21.—In the Senatorial ballot today Dolph lost two votes. The ballot resulted: Dolph, 39; Williams, 30; Hare, 10; Raley, 7; absent, 4.

It is thought that a Senator will be elected tomorrow, the last day of the session. It is generally conceded Dolph cannot be elected.

FIGHTING STUDENTS.

Soldiers Called Out to Quell Them.

ST. PETERSBURG, February 21.—The students' demonstrations became so riotous that soldiers were summoned to quell them.

The students resisted and a fierce fight ensued.

Order was not restored before many students had been arrested and a number of them injured.

A MERCHANT MURDERED.

He Was Found Dead in His Store Last Night.

ELLIOT CITY, Md., February 21.—Daniel F. Shea, a merchant, was found murdered in his store on Main street here last night.

Robbery was evidently the motive.

VERY LIVELY.

Trouble in the Chicago City Convention.

The Delegates Did Not Agree and Fought.

George Swift Received the Nomination for Mayor.

CHICAGO, February 21.—In the Republican city convention trouble arose over credentials.

Delegates armed themselves with canes and chairs and pounded each other energetically and indiscriminately.

The battle lasted a quarter of an hour, resulting in many bad bruises and sadly battered hats.

Police interference stopped the row.

George B. Swift was nominated for Mayor by acclamation.

He acted as Mayor after Harrison's assassination.

A BIG STRIKE.

Many Workmen in New York Go Out.

NEW YORK, February 21.—The strike of the building trades, in sympathy with that of the electrical wire men, bids fair to surpass any other in the history of these organizations. It may affect nearly 100,000.

So far 2000 men are out.

At noon today the workmen employed on the American Surety Building and the addition to St. Luke's Hospital quit.

It is announced that work will cease this afternoon on the new Clearing House building on Cedar street.

FOOTE ALL RIGHT.

The Senate Has Confirmed His Appointment.

SAN FRANCISCO, February 21.—H. S. Foote received a private telegram from Washington, this afternoon, announcing that the Senate had confirmed his appointment as United States District Attorney.

Foote announced he would retain Samuel Knight as his first assistant and that E. S. Stonehill would be his second assistant.

IN LINE.

Business Men Will Subscribe.

The Committee Making Fine Progress.

An Appeal Has Been Sent to Prominent Citizens.

Great Work Being Done in the Interest of Oakland.

There is activity all along the line in the fight for the terminal. Since the publication of the first fruits of the committee's labors there has been an encouraging response from all sides. The financial support already accorded the terminal proposition has through publicity given a fresh impetus to the work in hand. The committee has settled down to systematic work, which will bring results very rapidly, now that the movement is well in hand.

It is confidently expected that the subscription list will swell very rapidly as the financial interests already represented are so well known that their participation in the project immediately stamps it as a business-like proposition. A most gratifying feature of the situation is the keen interest manifested by the local mercantile firms. Nearly $10,000 has already been subscribed by them and the individual amounts average nearly $1000 to each firm. If this ratio is maintained the mercantile community will have no reason to be ashamed of its representation. The work that is being accomplished in this direction by the Merchants' Exchange speaks well for the organization's future labors in behalf of the city.

The agitation of the subscription matter in connection with the terminal fight has thoroughly aroused all classes of business men in the city. There is ample manifestation of this in the calling together of representative organizations to devise ways and means for furthering the work of the committee.

Last evening the Builders' Exchange was in session to discuss the situation. A large number of members responded to the call for the meeting. President William Winnie was in the chair. J. B. McDonald believed in the project, both as an individual and as a member of the Exchange. He was in favor of a subscription by the Exchange of $1000. Contractor Concannon thought the individual members should subscribe.

Mr. Shay thought the new road should be supported. Oakland was its natural terminus. "We must bestir ourselves," he said, "to secure it. San Jose has offered to raise $1,000,000 and 250 acres of land for the road. It will stimulate our building and real estate interests, and will infuse new blood into the city."

Several members debated the question whether the Exchange should make a subscription. A motion finally prevailed that the Exchange be listed for $1000, and the individual members subscribe in such amounts as they desired. The list as started last evening is as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| BUILDERS' EXCHANGE | $1000 |
| E. M. DERBY | 200 |
| L. COHEN | 100 |
| P. MALONEY | 100 |
| J. M. SHAY | 100 |
| W. P. WETMORE | 100 |
| W. CONCANNON | 100 |
| TOTAL | $1700 |

A committee, composed of J. B. McDonald, W. Concannon, P. Maloney, William Winnie and J. M. Shay, was appointed to secure subscriptions.

The Terminal Committee has issued a letter which is being sent today to a large number of prominent property owners who cannot be reached directly.

The text of the letter is as follows:

Dear Sir—The Oakland Terminal Committee, knowing that you are personally and as a citizen interested in everything that concerns the development and prosperity of Oakland, beg leave to draw your special attention to the present opportunity and pleasant duty of helping to bring the western terminus of the San Francisco and San Joaquin Valley Railroad to Oakland and within such reasonable limits and territory as to avail something to Oakland as well as to the general idea of a competing railroad. Will you kindly in advance think over the amount you will be able to subscribe, so that the time of the committee's representatives will be saved and made the more effective. We ask you to consider fairly and fully the public welfare side of the question. The individual side will present itself strongly enough without thinking about it on this special occasion.

Oakland has not learned well as yet how to pull together. This opportunity calls for concerted, liberal and sustained action. Help us all you reasonably can as a public-spirited citizen. Any word sent by you to the committee will be promptly attended to.

The known facts and the prospects are very favorable, and we call upon you to join those now exerting themselves in behalf of Oakland by doing on your part all that your two partners, purse and public spirit, will permit you to do.

Yours sincerely,

F. DELGER,
GEORGE C. PARDEE,
JAMES MOFFITT,
CHARLES D. PIERCE,
E. A. HERON,
WILLIAM J. DINGEE,
W. V. WITCHER,
WILLIAM R. DAVIS,
Oakland Terminal Committee.

There is every reason to suppose that the San Francisco stockholders will at once get to work formulating a plan of operations for the immediate future. The election of the board of directors yesterday will be followed by incorporation at once. The first installment on subscriptions is pouring into the road's coffers in a golden stream that tells the story of absolute confidence in the project better than all words. The board is an able, efficient and business-like organization of men with a purpose in view. There will be no delay on their part in getting down to work. It stands to reason, therefore, that Oakland must be at the front with a strong proposition before many days. The competition is becoming so keen among the interior towns and cities for railroad privileges from the new system that Oakland must press its work with speed.

There can be no doubt that this city has been favored by location. It is without question a most accessible and desirable point for the terminal. But vigorous work must be done to secure it.

Robert Watt, one of the directors of the road, was seen this morning at his residence in Oakland by a TRIBUNE reporter. He was requested to state the outlook for this city with reference to the terminal being located here.

"It is rather too soon to say anything on this matter. The directorate has only been organized half a day, and so far as I know the subject has not been considered. Personally, however, I hope Oakland will be able to make a big showing when its committee is ready to go before the stockholders with their arguments in favor of the location of the terminal here. I cannot give any statement as to the sentiment of the directors in this connection."

TERMINAL LOCATIONS.

Suitable Tracts Lying on the Water Front.

On Tuesday last, THE TRIBUNE referred to the talk associated with the site of the Pacific Nail Works as a desirable location, for a terminus for the new railroad on this side of the bay. It was, however, then understood that a clause in the deed of sale to the Pacific Nail Works prohibited the sale of the property for the purposes of a competing railroad. Councilman Heitmann, who is ever alert to the needs of the Fourth ward, has since visited Hermann J. Sadler, president of the firm of Mau, Sadler & Co. of San Francisco, who is also largely interested in the Pacific Nail Works, to ascertain the true status of the land. Mr. Heitmann remarked to a TRIBUNE representative today, that Mr. Sadler informed him that the prohibition does not exist, the Oakland Water Front and the railroad companies having given a deed to the property entirely free from any reservation.

"This tract contains," added Mr. Heitmann, "fourteen acres of land, and, I believe, is the only tract of land on the water front suitable for railroad terminal purposes which is free from any restrictive condition, and Mr. Sadler assured me it will be disposed of at a reasonable price. Mr. Sadler is one of the owners of the California Steel Works, adjoining the Judson Works at Emeryville, and the old machinery of the Pacific Nail Works could be readily transferred to that establishment and utilized there in the event of the sale of the Nail Works tract."

It may may be stated that the John Hays estate owns forty-two and one-quarter acres adjoining the Nail Works tract; but it embraces only marsh land, and does not include the water frontage. This is the tract that the Fulton Iron Works negotiated for before accepting the Fair property at North Beach, San Francisco.

SHERMAN'S CASE

He Is Placed on Trial for Criminal Libel.

Attorney Garrity Replies to an Insinuation.

The Prosecution Closes and a Recess Is Taken.

The case of the people against E. A Sherman Jr., charged with criminal libel upon Chief Schaffer of the police force, was called in the Police Court this morning. The lobby was packed with people.

The people were represented by Assistant District Attorney Melvin.

The defendant appeared for himself, though J. A. Sands and Secretary Gardner of the Young Men's Christian Endeavor Association sat beside him.

Both the prosecution and the defendant waived a jury trial.

On motion of Mr. Melvin, Thomas F. Garrity was associated with the prosecution.

As soon as this motion was made Sherman arose and said he had no objection to Mr. Garrity acting with the prosecution, but he would like to know whether or not he (Garrity) represented the complaining witness or the saloon keepers, whom he appeared in the Police Court so often to defend.

This insinuation caused a sensation in court.

Garrity then arose and said that he represented the complaining witness. He then became visibly excited, and, turning around to Sherman, said with emotion: "With reference to your statement as to the people I defend, I desire to say that I defend other people, as well as saloon keepers, and I desire further to say that if I do defend saloon keepers I am proud of it."

Garrity then resumed his seat.

Mr. Melvin said that he hoped the case would be conducted without unnecessary friction and that the counsel on the other side would show the same courtesy that the prosecution intended to show to them.

Mr. Garrity then arose and remarked that if there were any more insinuations of the kind made by Sherman, there would be some trouble between himself and Sherman before the case came to a close.

Secretary Kaufman of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners then took the stand and testified that the defendant had filed charges against Schaffer with the Fire and Police Commissioners.

On cross-examination Kaufman said that the paper had been presented to him folded; that he had not filed it; had placed it in his pocket and kept it for three or four days until the excitement of the campaign had passed; that he then handed the communication to the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners, but that they had declined to file it as they did not consider it a proper communication.

Mr. Kaufman was asked why he had not returned the communication to the party who had presented it. His reply was that he did not know who it was that had given him the document and had not seen the donor until he met the defendant in court today.

The communication containing the alleged libelous matter was then read by Mr. Melvin. The reading was listened to with the greatest attention by the lobby. The paper referred to Chief Schaffer in most abusive terms. It went on to show that he was incompetent, and the friend of the enemies of good government; that he corruptly associated with the lowest elements; that he was in connivance with lawbreakers, and that he was guilty of various other irregularities; that his resignation as head of the Police Department ought to be accepted, and that the good people of Oakland would be profoundly grateful if the commissioners would accept the resignation.

This communication was shown to have been adopted at a meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society and had been signed by several, and among them was E. A. Sherman and Secretary Gardner of the association.

The document was then filed as the people's exhibit "A."

Chief Schaffer then took the stand and was sworn. He testified that he had had an interview with the defendant and that he had shown the latter the communication containing the alleged libel. He had asked Sherman if the first signature to the document was his (the defendant's) and that Sherman had replied that it was his signature. Witness had also asked Sherman if he had read the document before signing it and Sherman again replied in the affirmative, and further, that he could prove the allegations which the communication contained.

The defendant also admitted that the signature of Gardner to the communication was that of the secretary of the Endeavorers' Union.

On cross-examination, Sherman asked whether he had not said to the chief, with reference to the signature, that "perhaps" it was his (Sherman's) signature.

The Chief admitted that Sherman had made such an answer, but said that when the witness had asked, "Don't you know whether or not it is your signature?" Sherman replied, "Yes, it is my signature."

Witness was then asked whether or not, with reference to Gardner's signature, the defendant had not said to Schaffer that he (Sherman) was looking after his own signature and no other person's.

Witness replied that such was not the case.

Witness was then asked whether or not the defendant had not said that he (Sherman) could come pretty near proving the charges made. Again the Chief gave a reply in the negative.

In response to a number of questions by the defendant, Chief Schaffer detailed how Captain Wilson had pointed Sherman out to him as Sherman was going aboard the ferry; how they had met and how Sherman had conducted himself in a mild manner. This last answer was educed for the purpose of showing that, in the defendant's estimation the lack of vehement explosion when taken to task by the Chief for writing the communication, was proof that the document was inspired by no malice on the part of Sherman.

Mr. Melvin then announced that the people rested their case.

Sherman then arose and moved that the case be dismissed on the ground that the prosecution had not shown that malice had actuated the defendant; that it had not been shown that the charges had been written and circulated by the defendant, or that he had procured any person to write or circulate them and that, consequently, no public offense had been committed and that the case of the people consequently "fell short." The document in question had been folded and handed, he said, to the secretary of the Fire and Police Commissioners; that that board was the proper one to redress the grievances and that all the evidence showed that that document had been signed by the defendant as presiding officer of the meeting at which the charges had been adopted.

The court held that he did not think the motion to dismiss could be entertained on the ground that the document was not supposed to be malicious.

Mr. Melvin held that the statute was not disjunctive but conjunctive, and that the defendant must show not only a justifiable motive in circulating the charges but must also show the truth of the charges.

Mr. Sherman then made a motion that the case be dismissed on the ground that the document was a privileged communication. He would like, he said, if the court did not feel disposed to grant the motion at present, to have a date set on which argument on the proposition could be heard. The shortness of the testimony for the State had not been expected, and the defendant at that moment was not prepared for argument.

Mr. Melvin said he certainly objected to a continuance on any such ground.

The judge said he disliked to continue the case and that the defendant should have come prepared to argue the motion. He finally asked how it would do to have the arguments heard on Monday evening next.

Mr. Melvin said that he could not be present on that occasion. The case ought not to be continued. The prosecution had put all its witnesses on the stand. The defendant should have had his witnesses there.

Mr. Garrity claimed that there had been no legal ground shown for a continuance. The case had been set a month ago, and the defendant, instead of having witnesses there and going to trial on the merits of the case, sought to get out of it by a contemptible technicality, a mere quibble.

Mr. Sherman said that he was not accompanied by all or by his principal, counsel, who, for some unknown reason, had failed to put in an appearance.

Judge Wood asked how Tuesday evening next would answer.

Mr. Melvin said that he had an appointment for that evening, but that he thought he would have to break it in order to attend the case.

Mr. Sherman said that the authorities, he thought, would support the motion made.

Mr. Melvin wanted to know if the defendant was conscious of that act, why he did not cite them now and abandon the idea of a continuance.

Mr. Sherman said he had been led to believe that the authorities were with him on the point.

It was finally decided that arguments on the motion to dismiss, on the ground of a privileged communication, would be heard next Tuesday night, and the case was continued till then.

Young Fair was present, ready to file his protest, but the whole matter was finally continued until March 21.

ANOTHER CONTEMPORARY.

A New Morning Paper Salutes the Public.

This morning, a new contemporary, The Morning Union, saluted the people of Oakland. It is a four-page paper. It is published on the co-operative principle, every worker on it having an interest in its responsibilities, its obligations and its profits, with S. K. Hammer as its president; J. C. Williamson, manager, and H. M. Brace, managing editor. The Union outlines an independent policy, its prime aim being to become a thorough newspaper. Such an ambition is laudable and deserving of success. The Union is laying down in its initial number a broad claim to the right to live and to prosper. THE TRIBUNE welcomes it to the field.

AS AN EXAMPLE.

Judge Frick's Methods Inspected by School Children.

The somber gravity of Judge Frick's court was relieved this morning by the presence of a couple of score of school children intently observing the examination of witnesses, the by-play of the attorneys and the thousand and one incidents which attend a court trial.

The presence of the children was the result of an original idea on the part of Miss A. A. McCourt, teacher of the class of civil government in the Cole school. Miss McCourt believes there is nothing so effective to the young idea as an object lesson, especially in so important a study in which she is teacher. Hence the presence of the boys and girls in the courtroom.

INGLER HELD.

The Charge Reduced to Assault, With Bonds at $1000.

The case was taken under advisement by the court yesterday and the charge was reduced from assault to murder. McNamara, another member of that hard-working confraternity, will be tried by a jury in the Police Court on the 13th and 14th of next month, respectively, on the charge of obstructing the street. The delay was occasioned by a request from Kelley that the case be put over until after the election.

Taxes Coming In.

This was the liveliest day of the season in the City Treasurer's office. The receipts have, heretofore, amounted to only about $200 per day, on an average. Today, they ran up to $2150, of which $1781 64 was paid by the German Savings and Loan Society of San Francisco.

THIEVES CAUGHT

Bold Bay Pirates Fell Into a Trap.

A Woman Gives Them Over to the Police.

Many Thefts Will Now Be Traced to the Prisoners.

Four bold bay pirates were lodged in jail this morning by Officers Lamping, Keefe and Lerri.

The prisoners are members of a gang which has been plundering vessels along the water front for several months. The gang's headquarters is unknown at present but it is believed the pirates have a large quantity of stores cached in some secluded spot.

From remarks of one of the gang last night to a person he was endeavoring to sell some flour to, it is believed the cache is located in some of the abandoned houses on the West Berkeley shore. Two of the prisoners are Jud Stack and Pat Muir. The other two are unknown.

Yesterday afternoon Muir and Stack called at a residence near the foot of Franklin street and offered to sell ten sacks of the flour at 50 cents per sack.

The lady of the house suspected that all was not right, and telling the men to call this morning, notified the officers.

At 7 o'clock today the fellows drove up to the house with an antiquated rig and the flour. They were at once arrested by the officers and lodged in jail. Shortly after the arrest the officers caught the rest of the quartet in the act of carrying away a sack of potatoes from a vessel moored at the City wharf.

The surprise was so complete that the thieves had no opportunity of escape and they were soon to join their companions behind the bars. Many mysterious thefts will undoubtedly be cleared up when the thieves' den is discovered.

Two of the boys are strangers here, but Muir and Stack are well known. Muir got into a cattle stealing scrape at East Oakland a few days ago, but was allowed to go free on a technicality. Stack was badly hurt on a steam dredger in the estuary some months ago. None of the gang will talk.

TOO "SPEEDY."

A Double Charge Against Another Industrial Leader.

Another industrial was caught in the toils this morning, the victim being George Speed, the gentleman with whom General Kelley exchanged compliments on the streets a few nights ago. He was charged with obstructing the street. A second charge, that of disturbing the peace, was preferred against him by G. W. C. De Jarley, who lives on Merrimac street.

Speed had been a lodger in the De Jarley residence, but belied his name in the manner in which he satisfied his landlord for shelter from the night's bleak winds. A few evenings ago, Speed returned to his abode and found that somebody, presumably his landlord, had not only locked him out, but had nailed the doors against him, whereupon Speed kicked the door to pieces. Then De Jarley brought about Speed's arrest.

SCHUTZ'S DIAMONDS.

It Is Thought That They Have Been Located.

There is reason to believe that the police have got a good clew to the parties who robbed the residence of J. J. Schutz, 818 Twelfth street, on the 29th of December, 1893.

In diamonds, jewelry, heirlooms of extrinsic and intrinsic value, $1200 were stolen.

During all these months a man named Wilcox was suspected by the chief of committing the robbery.

That man has just returned from abroad and has been locked up.

This afternoon, Chief Schaffer and Detective Holland went out in the country, it is thought, to secure the goods which have been stored away.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment, Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address from taking medicine. They don't like its taste. But they are eager to take what they like—Scott's Emulsion, for instance. Children almost always like Scott's Emulsion.

Children Shrink

And it does them good.

Scott's Emulsion is the easiest, most palatable form of Cod-liver Oil, with the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda added to nourish the bones and tone up the nervous system. The way children gain flesh and strength on Scott's Emulsion is surprising even to physicians.

All delicate children need it.

THURSDAY.......FEBRUARY 21, 1895

The duties of the Viticultural Commission are to be performed after this year by the agricultural department of the University of California. That puts a quietus to one of the costly commissions which the State has been supporting in the past.

The prospect of a rival in the afternoon field has caused the Los Angeles Express to brush up. It is now printed on a Hoe Presto Perfecting press and will soon appear daily in a new dress composed by a typesetting machine. The Express does not intend to be left in the competition for public favor and patronage.

The amended charter offered to the city of Los Angeles was overwhelmingly defeated at the polls last Friday. The vote cast was 595 for and 1952 against. The defeat of the charter is attributed to the fact that it proposed to lengthen the terms of the Board of Education and Council from two to four years, and placed the appointive power of certain offices, now elective, in the hands of the Council. The latter feature was construed very properly as a return to old methods which had been long ago discarded because they were obnoxious to the people and to the theory of good government.

CLARA LOUISE KELLOGG, now Mrs. Carl Strakosch, is content to dine daily with her husband in a 30-cent New York restaurant. The great songstress is said to have lost the greater part of her fortune through an unfortunate investment in a large publishing house, which recently went under owing to the dishonesty of its manager. But what is a much greater calamity to Mrs. Strakosch is that she has lost the magnificent voice which in years past thrilled immense audiences in both hemispheres. This is the second time for Clara Louise to be ruined financially through the dishonesty of others. Many years ago her agent and guardian, George W. Stebbins, then a well-known banker in New York, dissipated the fortune which she had intrusted to his care, through reckless speculation. Clara Louise Kellogg was a great favorite among the music-loving people of this State, and the news of her misfortune will be a source of regret to them.

Constitutional Amendments Needed

The Examiner has finally woke up to the necessity of securing an amendment to the Constitution to enable chartered cities to secure home rule. THE TRIBUNE has been preaching this kind of a gospel for a long time. As the Constitution now is no city is safe. All the labor expended in the framing of charters is virtually wasted. There is no security for the perpetuation of any provision in a municipal charter, although its perpetuation may be essential to the government of the municipality. Some legislative vagary, having no designs on the charter of any city, may contain a provision or a principle which strikes at the very root of the municipal charter. The charters of several cities in the State have suffered that way already. Legislation of a general character is liable to be passed at the present session of the Legislature which may make more serious inroads into them. Every chartered city in the State today is at the mercy of the Legislature; and the friends of whatever form of government a municipality may have under its charter are always nervous when the Legislature is in session, because of the uncertainty of the effect of its acts upon the charter.

San Francisco has gone to great pains and expense to frame a new charter. If the Legislature amends the Political Code so that a vote on a charter shall be included in the definition of a special election, and that at a special election then held for the purpose the charter recently framed should be adopted by the people at the ballot box, the most important features in it may be absolutely annulled through the operation of some general law passed at this session to meet the requirements of some special case.

As a matter of fact, it is a waste of the public money to organize Boards of Freeholders, frame charters and hold charter elections now. If the present Legislature will, however, pass suitable amendments to the Constitution, relieving chartered cities from the operation of such general laws as the Legislature may thereafter enact, and such amendments be adopted at the next general election, to wit: the election held in November, 1896, then charters may be framed for cities and adopted by them with perfect safety. Four years ago the Legislature made an attempt to relieve the Constitution of its infirmities regarding chartered cities, and the amendment was adopted two years ago by the people at the polls; but the work of amending had been done bunglingly by some 'prentice hand, and after its adoption it was found to afford no relief. Let us have amendments this time that will be effective.

Oakland's Annexation Policy.

Next Wednesday the voters of this city will be required to declare at the polls whether or not they desire to annex Temescal, Peralta, Emeryville and Claremont. The policy of Oakland for many years past has been to annex all outlying settlements geographically related to it. The wisdom of the policy is so plain that it needs neither defense nor explanation. Several times the boundaries of the city have been changed by this method, but each change has only been a step toward their final adjustment. There is a corkscrew boundary line on the eastern side that must very soon be straightened out. The necessities of the district outside this irregular line are hastening that event. There is a constant jar and conflict between suburban and municipal interests calling for concurrent attention and adjustment, but every year witnesses greater difficulty in making the adjustment equitable and satisfactory. The suburb wants municipal facilities without paying for them. In some cases the municipality has gone considerably out of its way to accommodate the suburb. Trespass and invasion of municipal rights are becoming more frequent and nearer the point of unavoidability. When that point is reached there will be nothing left for the suburban territory to do but seek annexation.

These are the conditions on the north side of the city also. The point of unavoidability as regards drainage, fire and police protection and some other municipal features, has been reached in the Temescal district. Instead of continuing the policy of trespass and invasion and suffering the evil consequences which will attend detection, it asks to be admitted to the municipality, to suffer its burdens as well as to enjoy its privileges.

It would have been more desirable in the minds of many citizens who look forward to a reincorporation of Oakland on broader and more independent lines than those on which it is now laid out, if the proposition to annex had included all of the territory lying north of the present boundary line of this city, to the southern boundary line of Berkeley, and embracing Piedmont and Golden Gate as well as the places named in the election call. But that is no reason why the territory offering to come in now should be rejected. Its annexation will facilitate the incoming of the remainder. When that occurs the northern boundary of the city will have been adjusted until such time as Berkeley shall recognize that consolidation is a matter of vital interest to it. Affairs are so shaping themselves that it cannot be many years before that recognition will take place. It is among the inevitable events of the near future.

Besides being a measure in perfect harmony with the past policy of Oakland, the annexation of the territory now seeking admission is a wise and prudent measure. It will relieve this city of much anxiety regarding the drainage on the north and other matters which have hitherto been a source of municipal and suburban friction and whatever addition it may cause to municipal cares and expenses, it will be accompanied with ample compensation in the increased revenues from assessable property. Let the vote in the city be consistent with its annexation policy.

Death of Frederick Douglass.

The leader of the emancipated colored race, Fred Douglass, is dead. Few men, even among his white contemporaries, were Douglass' equal. He was one of the most polished and powerful orators of his times. Yet he was born a slave and acquired his education after escaping from bondage and reaching the age of manhood. In this laudable effort Douglass was greatly aided by William Lloyd Garrison.

He gave the best years of his life to the service of his race, laboring with unremitting zeal for twenty years to secure their emancipation. After that was obtained, as one of the fruits of the War of the Rebellion, Douglass then devoted much of his energies toward the elevation of his race so that they would be better fitted to enjoy their new station in the nation.

In 1871 President Grant recognized his public services by appointing him secretary of the San Domingo Commission, and later a member of the Territorial Council of the District of Columbia. In 1876 he was made Marshal of the District and in 1881, Recorder of Deeds, which position he held until removed by Cleveland in 1886. His last appointment in the public service was as United States Minister to Hayti, but he never entered on that mission because of the protest made against it. In his last years he lost some of his popularity with his own race because of his marriage to a white woman, who now survives him. Douglass leaves also two sons and a daughter by a former wife of his own race. But in the death of Frederick Douglass the colored people of the United States have lost their champion and leader in those dark days when they lived and labored in bondage, and as such his death will be mourned and his memory will be preserved.

The Song of a Train.

The subjoined poem is taken from the Kansas City Star, where it was published on the 17th inst. as an original poem, written by one John Davidson. Every Welshman familiar with the compositions of the late John Ceirog Hughes, will recognize in it nothing more or less than a translation of one of Ceirog's best known poems which has been used as a popular recitation for the past thirty years in every town and hamlet where the Welsh language is spoken. A bolder piece of literary piracy than that which Davidson has committed and imposed upon the Eastern press has rarely, if ever, been recorded.

A monster taught
To come to haul
Amain
As swift as thought
Across the land
The train.

The song it sings
Has an iron sound;
Its iron wings
Like wheels go round.

Crash under bridges,
Flash over ridges,
And vault the downs;
The road is straight—
Nor stile nor gate;
For milestones—towns!

Voluminous, vanishing, white,
The steam plume trails;
Parallel streaks of light,
The polished rails.

Oh, who can follow?
The little swallow,
The trout of the sky;
But the sun
Is outrun,
And Time passed by.

O'er bosky dens,
By marsh and mead,
Forest and fens,
Embodied speed
Is clanked and hurled:
O'er rivers and runnels;

And into the earth
And out again
In death and birth
That know no pain.
For the whole round world
Is a warren of railway tunnels.
Hark! Hark! Hark!
It screams and cleaves the dark;
And the subterranean night
Is gilt with smoky light.
Then out again apace
It runs its thundering race,
The monster taught
To come to hand
Amain.
That swift as thought
Speeds through the land,
The train.

NOTES FOR WOMEN.

Bluet blue, cerise and magenta pink are the three colors now most favored as accessories both by modistes and milliners.

Orange cream—One-half ounce gelatine, six large oranges, one lemon, six ounces sugar, one-half pint cream. Strain the juice from the oranges and lemon and put it into a saucepan with the gelatine and sufficient water to make a pint; rub the sugar on the orange and lemon peel and add it to the other ingredients, then boil for ten minutes; strain thhrough a muslin bag, and when cold beat it up with the cream; wet a mold, pour in the cream, and put it in a cold place to set.

Pretty checked velvets now rival the shepherd's check silk used for fancy waists and dress trimmings.

Collars are in great demand again, but if the light laces are really coming in, collars will have a tendency to be changed from the heavy styles of last season, and Mirecourt and Luxeuil are already showing some beautiful designs in these goods which harmonize in effect with the laces now in vogue.

Satin antique and several grades of Liberty silks are in great use for crush collars and belts.

Braiding remains a very fashionable trimming. It is too effective to be given up. The work is this season very often done upon strips of colored velvet or heavy satin, which are then applied in various ways on gowns of self-colored cloth.

The necessity for a safety riding skirt has brought various kinds to light, but the latest one invented is practically a large apron in the saddle, and a complete walking skirt when it is buttoned together. It does away with the disfiguring bulge at the knee, and the wearer can walk and ride with equal comfort.

An experienced mother recommends the following receipt for an ointment to be applied to chafed surfaces, cuts and chapped hands: Take equal parts of beeswax, fresh lard and sweet oil. Melt the beeswax, measure it, add the same quantity of melted lard and oil and stir constantly until the mixture becomes stiff. Put in a box or wide-mouthed bottle ready for use.

A new substitute for crinoline is an English one. It consists of a silk petticoat, lined throughout with soft canvas, and has a deep yoke on the front and sides, with deep organ plaits in the back and a fluted flounce at the lower edge of the yoke. It is called "The Elizabethan petticoat," and anything more suggestive of crinoline proper than the title and appearance of the skirt could not possibly be furnished.

A little known example of inventive genius in woman is that afforded by Barbara Uttman, of Saxony, and her point lace so long in fashionable use all over the world. She invented the process and apparatus for manufacturing this beautiful handiwork, which has since given employment to millions of operators, and which, in its line, had never been excelled. The apparatus looks like a long pincushion bristling with pins arranged to outline the pattern or design. The operator manages from ten to fifty peculiar spools, allowing the thread to feed over the pins alternately, until the design is completed. The spools, or bobbins are purposely of different colors, so as to be easily distinguishable. The process is slow and difficult to learn. Miss Uttman founded schools where thousands learned it. Since her time, when inventive ability was rare, even among men her ideas have been incorporated in the construction of machinery by which the lace is produced at wonderfully lower rates, and yet Barbara Uttman's lace still surpasses all.

Blue denim is still a great favorite with people who like plenty of color. Some curtains of this material recently noticed had a design of water lilies stamped across the ends and outlined boldly in white paint. They were finished with a heavy white cotton fringe, and caught back with a white cord and tassels. These were draped over heavy fringed linen shades. Another set of the blue denim curtains had arabesque of crimson and gold flannel appliqued across the ends, which gave them a rich Oriental look.

RANDOM NOTES.

Albert Frazier, who married recently in Muncie, Ind., in celebrating the event gave cigars to a couple of boys who are minors. The Grand Jury indicted Frazier for the act. Judge Koons, however, quashed the indictment after reading a letter from Rev. C. A. Hill, who officiated at the wedding, and a petition from several other citizens.

A good deal of excitement was caused at a Baptist mission in New York City last week when at the semi-annual meeting the chairman incautiously spoke of the Italian members as "dagoes." Hisses and cries of "Shame, shame!" arose from every quarter of the room. The Italians rose to their feet as one man, and started toward the speaker. They filled the aisles and jumped over the pews and scrambled over each other. It was some time before order was restored.

Three or four Southern Legislatures have set out to cut down the salaries of State officials this winter, as a South Carolinian said, "to bring them down to a five-cent cotton basis." South Carolina has paid poor enough salaries at best, but the Legislature has taken a considerable slice off, and now the Alabama Senate has passed a bill to limit all official salaries to $2000 a year.

Divorce has been made easier in South Dakota. Three months' instead of six months' residence will be required hereafter by waifs from the storms of matrimonial infelicity. Chicago will have to annex South Dakota yet.

In the file and document rooms at the Capitol, secreted under piles of useless Government publications and the accumulated dust of years, lie many precious papers and books whose existence is forgotten, or at least is unknown. Not long ago one of the file clerks of the House of Representatives found eight autograph letters of Washington in the midst of a pile of old records, which his superior officer thought he "might just as well get rid of." At another time he discovered in a pigeon hole the original of the letter Martha Washington wrote in response to a resolution declaring it to be the sense of Congress that the Father of his Country should be buried in the crypt of the Capitol, in which she gives her objections to that plan.—Washington Star.

PRIZES ON PATENTS.

How to Get $100 and Perhaps Make a Fortune.

We secure patents and to induce people to keep track of their bright ideas we offer a prize of one hundred dollars to be paid on the first of every month to the person who submits to us the most meritorious invention during the preceding month. We will also advertise the invention free of charge in the National Recorder, a weekly newspaper, published in Washington, D. C., which has an extensive circulation throughout the United States and is devoted to the interests of inventors.

NOT SO HARD AS IT SEEMS

The idea of being able to invent something strikes most people as being very difficult, this delusion the Company wishes to dispel. It is the simple things and small inventions that make the greatest amount of money, and the complex ones are seldom profitable. Almost everybody, at some time or another, conceives an idea which, if patented would probably be worth to him a fortune. Unfortunately such ideas are usually dismissed without thought. The simple inventions like the car window which could be easily slid up and down without breaking the passenger's back, the saucepan, the collar button, the nut lock, the bottle stopper, the snow shovel, are things that almost everyone sees some way of improving upon, and it is these kind of inventions that bring the greatest returns to the author.

The prize we offer will be paid at the end of each month, whether the application has been acted upon by the Patent Office or not. Every competitor must apply for a patent on his invention through us, and whether he secures the prize or not the inventor will have a valuable patent.

Enthusiastic Pythians Meet in Commemoration.

The Junior Order of Foresters to Be Introduced Here.

The leading feature of interest during the week was the thirty-first anniversary of the organization of the Pythian order. Several other events of more than passing interest occurred, while tomorrow will bring another event in the laying of the corner stone of the Native Sons' building in San Francisco. A resume of the week will be found below.

Knights of Pythias.

The thirty-first anniversary of the organization of the Pythian order was commemorated throughout the country on the 19th inst. In this city, however, the celebration did not take place until last night, when the annual reunion of the Pythian lodges comprising District No. 5 in Pythian jurisdiction. The lodges in this district are Live Oak No. 17, Oakland No. 103 and Piedmont No. 17.

The invitations to the reunion assured the recipients that there would be good speaking, good singing, pleasing recitations, light refreshments and a dance.

Everyone of these promises was realized to the letter and to this accounts one of the largest audiences which ever assembled within Pythian Castle, to testimony.

The reunion was presided over by George Samuels, grand vice chancellor. He is owed the masters of his business. The programme was a lengthy one, and the chairman decided that there should be no encores. He knew that if recalls were allowed the entertainment would not be brought to a close until after midnight. He therefore insisted that there should be no recalls and his will prevailed, although in the case of Alexander Rosborough the audience good naturedly took the bit in its teeth for nearly five minutes.

A most varied and artistic programme was given in this city. It opened with an instrumental piano duet by Mr Randle and Mrs O'Connor. This was followed by an address by V. C. Samuels, a vocal solo by J. J. Learn, song and dance "Hazel Journal." The Lackman Historical recitation George Allen Watson, ... the Cotton sisters ... Mrs. George Fowler, vocal solo "A Little Chill" "Father's Visit to His Sons" ... duet Professor Aldemann and ... vocal feature by the ... Alexander Rosborough, a Irish R. Refreshments were then served and the enjoyable programme was brought to a close by a dance.

OAKLAND LODGE.

Foresters of America.

... reported that it had secured the ... grounds for the second Sunday in June.

... remarks were made ... At the close of the ... were ... Columbia Quartet ... Cohen and E. S. Jessen ... rendered a number of recitation.

A JUNIOR COURT.

In the Foresters of America there is a junior order degree to which boys may be sons of Foresters, from 14 to 18 years old are eligible. The first meeting to organize a court of this character was held at ... Hall.

There were present Masters Harry Coffee, ... Jacobs, A. Meyer, ... Frank Lewis, J. Livingston and ...

The objects of the junior order were set forth and the boys present expressed themselves as ready to form a court. Among the seniors present were ... chief ranger ... Rosenberg, sub chief ranger, Frank Jacobs, junior past chief ranger ... of Court United States of America.

The junior court will be organized by Samuel ... It will have a charter membership of about thirty-five boys and youths.

The next meeting will be held next Sunday afternoon in the hall over Becker's market.

COMPANIONS OF THE FOREST.

United States Circle Companions of the Forest of America No. 260 had a well attended meeting last Thursday night. There was a box full of valentines and each person present was made the recipient of a souvenir of the day and season.

After the distribution, there was a contest by ballot for the most popular young woman and Miss Fannie Lewis was the winner, a valuable prize being accorded to her.

This circle is receiving a number of new members and hopes to be the banner circle of the county soon.

OAKLAND CIRCLE.

Oakland Circle No. 3, is rapidly gaining the standard which it formerly enjoyed.

A committee has been appointed to make arrangements for a dime social, to be held on the 27th inst.

Ancient Order of Foresters.

Court Triumph which was formed last week, is progressing rapidly. It has a large list of members. On next Thursday evening many new members will be initiated.

The rendition of the initiatory work is impressing candidates strongly.

COURT ADVOCATE.

Court Advocate, the oldest and strongest court of the Ancient Order of Foresters in this city keeps on the even tenor of its way and is increasing its membership weekly.

On Wednesday night next delegates to the Subsidiary High Court will be elected. The anniversary ball will take place.

SUB HIGH COURT.

The meeting of the Sub High Court will take place in San Francisco on May 14th.

Star of Bethlehem.

Star of Truth Lodge, No 19, order of Star of Bethlehem entertained its many friends at one of its pleasant monthly socials in its rooms in California Hall last Tuesday evening. Although there were not as many present as usual, there being two other parties in the same hall on the same evening, yet everyone seemed to enjoy himself as there was a fine programme prepared by the committee. The numbers were so well rendered that each one was encored two or three times. The programme was as follows: Instrumental solo, Miss Perez; duet, Raymond and Grace Welsh; recitation, I. D. Stout; violin solo, Mr. Perez; reading, Percy Jones; song, George Cooper; recitation, Maggie Bassett; song and dance, Miss Pearl Hickman and Lulu Borein; recitation, Miss Amos; song, Mrs. H. Cooper; fancy dance, Miss Maggie Bassett; recitation, Miss Rose Kelley. Music for the dancing was rendered by Miss E. Wells and Mr. Leeby. After the programme refreshments were served, followed by dancing. A few figures in the cotillon were added to the regular order of dances.

The committee in charge of the affair was Lady L. N. Adams, Sirs R. H. Larsen and A. Karlson, Sir Karlson acting as floor manager.

Retail Clerks.

A large attendance was present at the meeting Monday evening, of the Retail Clerks Association.

President Rosenberg occupied the chair with his customary ability.

Permission having been granted to President Gaider of the Federated Trades of Alameda County to address a few words to those present, the speaker made use of a number of arguments to convince the members that they must have political representation to further their interests.

Messrs. Isaacs, Bernstein and Rosenberg were elected representatives to the Federated Trades convention with full power to act in indorsing candidates that are favorable to labor interests.

The committee appointed to call upon saleswomen stated that it had met with flattering success, the ladies being anxious to join the union and that over twenty would sign the roll of membership as soon as the movement took a tangible form.

The delegate to the Federated Trades stated that three merchants had been caught in the act of selling goods on Sunday by a committee from the Federation and that some definite action will be taken at the next meeting of the Federated Trades to show up these merchants who could break their promise to close on Sunday, given some time ago.

United Workmen.

Keystone Lodge, No 64, Ancient Order of United Workmen held its regular meeting on last Tuesday evening at A. O. U. W. Hall on Thirteenth street. The attendance was not as large as formerly. However a pleasant evening was spent.

Among the visitors were Brothers Harris, Fennon and Haswell, who entertained the lodge with some excellent remarks.

Visitors are always welcome to Keystone Lodge on Tuesday evening, at which time every effort will be made to have a delightful time.

IVY LODGE.

Ivy Lodge, No 1, Degree of Honor, Ancient Order of United Workmen, had an extremely well attended meeting last Monday evening. Many of those who were present excused themselves for non-attendance at the previous meeting on account of the inclement weather.

Great regret was expressed at the unavoidable absence of Chief of Honor Mrs. A. Woodwalch, which was caused by sudden indisposition.

During the evening a new member was initiated, Past Chief of Honor Mrs. Lillian Cogan performing the chief of honor's portion of the initiatory exercises with her noted elocutionary ability and impressiveness.

Lady of Honor Mrs. A. Marks occupied the chief of honor's chair with marked executive ability.

Eulogies and eloquent speeches were delivered by Brother ... Fall, Wood, Mayon, Cohen and Greenebaum.

Lady of Honor Mrs. Marks favored those present with a comic recitation entitled "The Irish Schoolmaster." The brogue ... by the talented sister savored of the Emerald Isle to such a degree that loud applause greeted the effort.

Young Men's Institute.

Rev. Father O'Neil, Grand Director of the Young Men's Institute will visit Haywards Council No. 1.. on the evening of March 1st. The members are preparing a fine reception for him and a banquet will be one of the features of the evening.

Sons of Veterans.

Colonel E. D. Baker Camp, Sons of Veterans will give their monthly social and dance next Monday evening. A good programme with dancing will be the features of the evening at Grand Army of the Republic Hall.

Catholic Ladies' Aid Society.

The Catholic Ladies' Aid Society intends that the musical and dramatic entertainment to be given next Tuesday evening at St. Francis de Sales' Hall, corner of Grove and Jones streets shall be a grand success. The proceeds are to be applied to the help of the sick and needy.

Native Sons.

President Stone of Oakland Parlor, No. 50 Native Sons of the Golden West, has issued the following circular to the members of that organization:

"On Washington's birthday there will be a general parade in San Francisco of Native Sons from the city and bay parlors together with the National Guard, upon which occasion the corner stone of the new home of the order will be laid.

"The Joint Committee having the matter in charge have perfected all the arrangements which promise to be on an elaborate scale.

"Governor Budd and Mayor Sutro will take part in the ceremonies.

"Inquiries from other parlors indicate that the members are going to turn out in large numbers, and it is the earnest wish of the officers of our parlor that Oakland Parlor No. 50 will not be outdone in point of numbers and enthusiasm by any other of the Alameda county parlors.

"You will meet many of your old friends upon this occasion and a good time is promised.

"All brothers intending to participate in the parade are requested to assemble at the parlor headquarters at 9 A. M. sharp, February 22d, where the regalia will be furnished.

"The brothers will march to Broadway and Seventh street and take the 9:30 train to the city.

"The point of assembly in San Francisco is at Battery and Market streets."

Similar notes have been addressed to the other local parlors by their respective presidents.

Grand President Sproul has issued a circular to the parlors at large suggesting that they invest some of their surplus in the proposed new hall in San Francisco, as he believes it will be a good, permanent dividend-paying proposition for unused funds of parlors.

Rathbone Sisters.

Calanthe Temple, No 6 Rathbone Sisters have moved from the Pythian Castle on Twelfth street to Becker's Hall on Washington street, and will now meet on Thursday night. Thursday, February 28th, they will give an entertainment and dance. The temples of this district are preparing to receive the grand chief of this State, who is making an official visit.

Gronlund's Lecture Tonight.

Laurence Gronlund will lecture in the First Congregational Church tonight on "Productive State Employment for the Unemployed." The lecture will be free.

STARK OBJECTS.

A Prohibition Indorsement Is Not Wanted.

Cold Water Advocates Likewise Make Protest.

A Candidate Who Thinks He Cannot Carry Two Fights.

The most interesting development in local politics is the row that has been raised in the First ward by G. Stark's refusal to accept the indorsement of the Prohibition Party, as a candidate for School Director from that ward.

Stark is the only candidate, to date, who has made the extraordinary move of refusing to stand in line with all, and any indorsement he can secure. But G. Stark says he has no use for the Prohibition support. In fact, he fears their indorsement has settled his chances for election adversely unless he can publicly repudiate the Prohibition candidacy. Not only does he not want it, but he avows he will be beaten. It is a load, he claims, he cannot carry.

Stark has the nomination from the Non-Partisans. He is content to make his fight on that issue without involving any other question.

Some of the Prohibition leaders who have learned of his actions with regard to their indorsement are as angry as he is. They do not propose to be scorned in any such fashion. For their side they say Stark need not be alarmed now. He will not get the Prohibition vote. "We will see that he is not elected by our votes," said one of them "and he could be elected I believe, had he been willing to accept the indorsement of our party."

The general political situation is utterly devoid of startling features. In several wards there are from eight to a dozen candidates for the Council, and in these districts the fight is warm.

In the Mayoralty fight, John L. Davie is making a hard struggle against overwhelming odds which, it is believed, he stands no chance of overcoming. He is making an active personal canvass and his familiar form is seen daily on buttonholing expeditions along Broadway.

None of the candidates for the principal offices seem to be making an unusually desperate fight. There are the usual number of political advertisements in circulation on the streets. Candidates as a rule, are distributing photo-lithos of themselves, so numerously that the prominent places about town look like a portrait gallery.

An Independent.

James Hennessy is an independent candidate for Councilman from the First ward. He is one of the oldest residents of the ward, having lived there for the past eighteen years. He is a well-known business man.

Veterans to Meet.

There will be a meeting of Mexican and Union Veterans at Shattuck Hall, corner of Eighth street and Broadway on Saturday evening, February 23d, at 7:30 o'clock. The purpose of the meeting will be to discuss matters of interest to veterans. A large attendance is desired. Veterans of the Mexican war and of the late war are requested to turn out. At the last meeting of the club J. A. Colquhoun was elected president.

JOHN BOYD THACHER A WITNESS

He Fully Verifies a Disputed World's Fair Award.

John Boyd Thacher's laconic and decisive in his statements. During the lively campaign just closed in New York this marked him especially as chairman of the Democratic State Committee. It was equally true of him as chairman of the executive committee on Awards at the World's Fair. This is the most valued testimony in which he verifies in an official letter the honors won by Dr. Price's Baking Powder:

"I herewith inclose you an official copy of your award which in due time will be inscribed on the diploma and forwarded."

Thus the question respecting the award raised by an envious New York rival is settled beyond cavil. This same rival by the way is widely advertising an award for itself. The official records prove this claim wholly false as they show the New York pretender was not so much as an exhibitor at the World's Fair.

PETERSON CRAZY.

He Is Caught While Trying to Play an Unwelcome Coachman.

I. Peterson formerly a railroad employe of this city who went crazy a month ago and was confined in Dr. Rundberg's asylum in San Francisco escaped from there yesterday. He ran after a carriage containing Mrs. L. Murphy and some friends and ordered her to stop. She declined to obey. He overtook the vehicle, caught one of the wheels and the horse stopped. Peterson was about to enter the carriage and seize the lines when he was overpowered and taken back to the asylum.

ANOTHER STEP.

The Oakland Horse Meet Steadily Advancing.

R. M. Fitzgerald Heads the Executive Committee.

D. W. Martin Has Become Interested in the Matter.

R. M. Fitzgerald has accepted the offer of the chairmanship of the executive committee of the Oakland Horse Meet. He has promised to devote himself studiously to the duties of the position and has no doubt that the undertaking will be made a grand success. I. L. Requa, who had been mentioned in connection with the chairmanship of the committee, hesitated to assume the responsibility of the position because of heavy business demands made upon him.

The executive committee will comprise fifteen members, who will be selected from the committee of 100. It will be subdivided and each subdivision will be placed in charge of one of the features of the meet which it is proposed to introduce.

Among the members of the committee are Mrs. R. Chabot, who has long been devoted to Fabiola Hospital, Mrs. W. R. Davis and a number of others.

The services and enthusiasm of D. W. Martin, late Supervisor and a most experienced horseman have been enlisted in the undertaking. He promises to not only work himself but also enlist the services of lovers of horses all through the country.

A number of the members of the Acme Club have promised to do all they can in aiding in getting up athletic events in connection with the meet.

The committee will assemble next Saturday night at the residence of Mrs. Chabot. Before that time, however, the full executive committee will have been selected.

At Home, 466 Eleventh Street, H. Schellhaas, the furniture dealer.

A WASTED LIFE.

The Sad Condition of Young Edward Marcellus.

Again in the County Jail for Insanity.

Had Two Days' Liberty After Six Months' Confinement.

Edward P. Marcellus, son of ex-Postmaster Charles Marcellus, is in the County Jail again after two days' liberty. The young man is a total wreck from the use of opium, and all efforts to restrain him from the use of the deadly drug are unavailing.

He was arrested last evening at the Eureka Hotel, where he had thrown the guests into a state of terror by his queer antics. He was seized with a sudden fit of insanity, which culminated in the performance of unseemly acts which drove the guests out of the house. All effort to control him while he was groveling on the floor and dodging behind doors in attempts to escape from imaginary pursuers were fruitless until a policeman was called in. The officer quieted the young man and escorted him to the jail. He was released last Tuesday after serving a six-months' term for vagrancy. He was imprisoned in the hope that confinement might assist in recuperating his wasted constitution and in curing him of his deadly habit.

About two weeks before the expiration of his term, he was examined by physicians who suggested that he be sent to the County Hospital.

In accordance with the recommendation the prison officers transferred him to the hospital van on Tuesday afternoon. There was no trouble with Marcellus and it was believed he would go the Infirmary without being placed under restraint. He failed to reach the hospital. At some point on the journey thither he escaped from the van and made his way into Oakland where he was next heard from last evening at the Eureka Hotel.

Mrs Burns, a friend of the young man's mother who resides in Los Angeles, has been caring for the unfortunate fellow. This morning she held a consultation with Attorney Button. It was decided to have Marcellus confined in the County Jail temporarily until further steps could be taken.

A charge of insanity is pending against him, but physicians who have examined him say it would be difficult to furnish sufficient evidence to sustain the charge, as he is only subject to peculiar aberrations when not supplied with opium.

An effort will probably be made, however to cause him to be committed to some institution on the ground that he is dangerous to be at large.

AN ELECTRIC ROAD.

The People of Haywards Are in Favor of Improvement.

A mass meeting was held at Haywards Tuesday night for the purpose of considering the building of the electric railway between Haywards and San Jose which is proposed by Felix Chappelet of Oakland who organized a company to build the road some time ago. Many prominent speakers addressed the meeting, among them Mr. Chappelet, who explained that the stock is to be divided into 100,000 shares valued at $10 each, no collections to be made till $250,000 of the stock is subscribed.

A committee of ten was appointed to solicit subscriptions.

Another mass meeting will be held next Saturday evening.

MRS. HARRINGTON DEAD

Sorrowful Ending of a Young, But Troubled Life.

Mrs. Mamie Harrington, who shot herself in Hogan & Watson's law office in Napa a couple of weeks ago, died at that place on last Saturday. She was a native of Sioux City, Ia., and came to this city with her husband some time ago. She then discovered that her husband was a gambler. She then went to the office of Attorney Fred Button of this city and employed him to secure a divorce for her. Her life, which had extended over only twenty-five years, was not a happy one and was ended with a suicide's bullet.

FINE COAL OIL

Sold at Low Prices and in Cans of the Latest Designs.

It is a dictate of prudence that, in using illuminating fluid, only the best that may be procured should be used. This is especially true when the best can be procured for the most reasonable prices, and served in Kennedy's Safety Faucet oil cans. Such is the experience of the patrons of Kennedy's oil agency, 1919 San Pablo avenue. This is the oldest and most reliable oil house in Oakland. There, ten gallons of Eastern coal oil may be procured for $1.25 in two of the patent cans before referred to, and delivered free to all parts of the city.

This safety faucet invention is the only thing of the kind in use, and guarantees absolute immunity from accidents in handling oil. It does away with the cheaply constructed and easily corroding can which has heretofore been used by many families, and which was always in a leaky condition.

Kennedy's agency is doing a large and profitable business.

Destitution That Is Real.

Mamie Worthington, an actress, whose home name is Mrs. Mamie Axtell, is lying dangerously ill and in need of friendly assistance at 836½ Broadway. She is best known to the public in the character of "Topsy" in Uncle Tom's Cabin.

St. Paul's Concert.

Mrs. Carrie Fross-Snyder, Mrs. Olive Reed-Batchelder, Mrs. Bruno and others will give a recital tonight at Hamilton Hall, under the auspices of the ladies of St. Paul's Church.

Admission Free.

CHILD SICKLY?

Strength Is Not Enough for Proper Growth.

The Young Body Fails to Get Well Nourished.

Needs Richer Bone and Tissue Forming Food.

Body Cannot Grow Without Pure, Sturdy Blood.

Unequalled Value of Paine's Celery Compound.

From birth till past the age of 30 there is growth, some of the bones do not completely knit till 35.

All this time in addition there is the steady waste of the tissues that must be repaired. The demand upon the vitality and upon the powers of assimilation is thus enormous during these years. Without plenty of rich nourishing blood, growth must be defective and tardy. But when it courses through all the arteries in a full, vigorous stream, growth goes on steadily and perfectly.

What countless numbers of frail youngsters physicians see whose pitiably thin wrists and bloodless faces cry out for better nourishment. All this does not escape the vigilant insight of parents. In thousands of homes it is well known that the boys and girls are somehow badly nourished.

The weak stomachs and organs of assimilation cannot extract the food for growing nerves and brain in sufficient quantities from the ordinary diet. A special nerve diet is what they need. Paine's celery compound is Prof. Edward E. Phelps' great preparation for nourishing these little frames and making them grow into strong, active men and women. Dr. Phelps, upon whom colleges conferred their highest honors for his invaluable investigations in medicine, knew from ripe experience the exact needs of these little sufferers.

A chorus of gratitude has gone up all over the country, from mothers of children once weakly and pale, without promise of ever growing into robust men and women, who have outgrown weakness and a lack of vitality by the use of Paine's celery compound, taken with the regularity that physicians adhere to when prescribing this wonderful nerve and blood restorative.

It is valuable in all wasting diseases, in cleansing the blood of rheumatism, neuralgia, scrofula and supplying new and healthy vital fluid—its value can neither be weighed nor measured.

As the great modern nerve and brain strengthener and restorer Paine's celery compound is pronounced invaluable by all progressive physicians. Give this grand invigorator a fair trial and be convinced.

AT HOME.

Encouragement of industry and enterprise should "begin at home." The money you pay for home products stays at home—helps to reduce the number of unemployed "at home."

FOR FIVE HUNDRED YEARS and over, the whole world has been coming to Carlsbad to be cured. Disorders of the stomach, of the liver, of the bowels, of the kidneys and bladder, gout, rheumatism, diabetes, obesity—all have been sent to Carlsbad.

Here is the very same remedy now, right at your own door—the Carlsbad Sprudel Salt (the water solidified and put into powder form at the spring). You need it for constipation, for indigestion, for biliousness, just as much as in other and graver ailments. All druggists keep it. But see that you obtain the genuine imported, with the signature of "Wiener & Mendelson Co., Sole Agents, New York." on every bottle.

A BAD ROAD.

Complaint Made About the Condition of San Pablo Avenue.

Editor Tribune—The road on San Pablo avenue, between Golden Gate and Berkeley, is in a most deplorable condition; also in other places, but more so in the former.

For years this part of the road has been an eyesore to farmers of San Pablo and Pinole, who have to take the road to bring their produce, hay or grain to the Oakland market.

On the other hand, the merchants of Oakland who have to go to Berkeley have in most cases refused to haul goods to that place or the near neighborhood owing to its unsafeness.

The Mathews family, who own a large frontage in this section, claim that it is not for them to fix that road, but that the town authorities or the railroad company should fix the road and that they will stand their portion of the expenses, and abuse should not be heaped upon them.

Today a hay wagon was mired to the hub and it took six heavy horses to pull the wagon load out.

If this section of the road is not fixed soon there will yet be some accident, and as to whether the town authorities of Berkeley or the Alameda County Board of Supervisors will be held responsible will be a question for some of the courts to decide. One only needs to travel this road to see for himself that some immediate action should be taken. On a dark night, woe to the stranger who strikes one of these chuckholes; either horse, driver or wagon will be damaged, owing to the fact that people want to save a few dollars. M. O'D.

SUNSET LIMITED

The Southern Pacific Company's magnificent Vestibuled Train, between San Francisco and New Orleans, now starts on its flying transcontinental trip an hour and a half earlier and arrives in the Southern metropolis two hours earlier than formerly, reducing the run to 78 hours and opening several other popular routes to prominent Eastern cities.

Immediate connection is now made in New Orleans with the fast through trains of the ILLINOIS CENTRAL for Memphis, St. Louis and Chicago; the QUEEN & CRESCENT for Chattanooga, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Buffalo, New York and Boston; also the PIEDMONT AIR LINE and the SEABOARD AIR LINE, for Atlanta, Danville, Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, and other Eastern cities and in many cases reducing the time an entire day.

To be whirled across the continent from ocean to ocean in 3 days, from San Francisco to New York, with only one change, in the most palatial train that ever crossed a continent, and in a climate of perpetual Spring, is possible by the SUNSET ROUTE only, and on the SUNSET LIMITED. Remember that it costs only the regular fare to travel on this train; that it leaves Oakland Pier every THURSDAY at 9:27 A. M.

TWO DAMAGE SUITS

F. P. Howland Sues for the Society of His Wife

F. P. The trial of O. C. Hyatt's suit against the Oakland Railroad Company was resumed in Judge Greene's court this morning. Hyatt asks for $21,155, and his attorneys, Welles Whitmore and Ben F. Woolner, are doing all in their power to convince the jury that their client is entitled to the amount asked.

A BUSINESS DISPUTE.

Notes in the Valensin Estate Have Been Sold.

The executors of the estate of the late Count Valensin have filed a report of the sale of personal property.

According to the report Valensin in 1892 sold some live stock to Archbishop Riordan of San Francisco, who was represented in the transaction by J. A. McDonald and W. D. McKinnon. The agents gave Valensin notes amounting to $7350. Before the maturity of the notes Valensin transferred them to the Bank of Livermore, obtaining their face value. So far but $593.10 has been paid on the notes leaving a balance of $6756.90, with interest. The claim is held by the executors. The executors state that the transfer of the notes to the bank was understood to convey with it the claim against the Archbishop's agents. The executors claim, however that such cannot be the case, but that they sold the claim to the bank for $5 in order to avoid legal entanglements.

The Lafayette School To Go Under the Hammer.

The old Lafayette school, which has been supplanted by the Third Ward school and which stands at the corner of Grove and Eleventh streets, will be sold at auction next Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. This is now the oldest school in the city. It has been in constant use nearly a third of a century. Through it hundreds of Oakland men and women have passed. It is therefore dear to many and a number of the former students are photographing the old structure as a memorial of the past.

MARKET STEADY

Improvements in Rolling Mill and Steel Plants.

An Advance in Tin Is Now Being Noted.

Copper Is Weaker and Lead Has Declined a Little.

NEW YORK, February 21.—The Iron Age today says:

"In spite of the continued low prices of iron and steel products, a more hopeful feeling is spreading among Eastern manufacturers.

"This is due principally to the fact that costs have been crowded down until now makers feel that they are partly safe in their own territory.

"This applies to pigiron as well as to steel.

"In the latter the basis is open hearth furnaces, which have become the salvation of the Eastern maker. Pigiron for this purpose is being delivered at a low price, while cheap melting scrap has been available in quantity in their territory.

"The result is that with modern improved practice the basis of open hearth steel can be produced in the East at a cost very close to the price at which Western and Bessemer can be laid down in the Eastern market.

"This is a phase of recent developments which has inspired so much confidence that considerable improvements in rolling mills and steel plants are either under way or are in contemplation.

"The current week has brought little that is sensational. In Bessemer pig, Pittsburg reports the sale of one ten-thousand ton block at $10, but has done relatively little in steel billets or wire rods. On the whole the market is steady.

"The advance in the prices of a rough iron pipe seems to have the usual effect of causing buyers to test the sincerity of sellers by keeping out of the market.

"In metals, an advance in tin is noted. Copper is weaker, while lead has declined under the pressure of moderate sales."

A COMMITTEE CRITICISED.

A Mexican Journalist Who Is Interested in Tariff.

ST. LOUIS, February 21.—A. Dacias Salinas, publisher of Las Dos Naciones, and author of "Riches of Mexico and Its Institutions," which was issued under the authority of the Mexican committee, criticises the action of the Ways and Means Committee of Congress in tampering with the "free zone," or "zona libra," as it is called, of Mexico.

"If the resolution presented to the House is passed, and now before the Senate, becomes a law, it will work great harm to our trade," said the Mexican journalist in an interview.

"England, from whom this country took the trade with Mexico fifteen years ago," concluded Mr. Salinas, "will make almost any terms to get it back and will urge retaliation. This would be a calamity. Our trade has increased every year, and the year 1895 promises to be the greatest in volume of our history. The avaries of a few men threatens to dissolve what has taken years to build up, for the Mexicans are a peculiar people and easily aroused."

LARGE CROPS.

The Farmers in North Texas Are at Work.

DALLAS, Texas, February 21.—North Texas is putting in the biggest crop of oats ever known in the history of the State.

The January and February snows and ice left the ground in a pulverized condition, and since the sun has come out, thousands of plows have been put to work preparing the land for oats. On account of the long dry spell in the fall and early winter, the wheat crop suffered.

AN ALLIANCE.

College Athletes Propose to Branch Out.

The Annual Meeting to Be Held Saturday.

Important Matters Will Then Be Disposed Of.

NEW YORK, February 21.—One of the many important matters to be considered at the annual meeting of the Inter-collegiate Athletic Association, to be held at the Fifth Avenue Hotel on Saturday, will be the formation of an alliance between the governing board over college athletics and the Amateur Athletic Union.

The bringing about of a closer affiliation between the two great organizations controlling amateur athletic pastimes in this country will in all probability be ratified by the collegians.

To it such an alliance would be of great advantage to these organizations is manifest.

College athletes come so closely in touch with the outside amateur world during the holiday season that a uniformity of governing rules has become absolutely necessary for the general welfare of the sport, and the time is now pronounced ripe for some impartial understanding which will negative any possibility of future friction.

The A. A. U. is now allied with the North American Gymnastic Union and the League of American Wheelmen, having an aggregate membership of 100,000. The opening wedge in the matter of establishing more intimate relations between the college and club athletes was instituted by the A. A. U. a few months ago, when it appointed a committee to confer with the inter-collegiate association regarding several technical points in athletics of vital interest to both bodies raised by the University of California. The preliminary negotiations were carried out so satisfactorily that the collegians have invited the representatives of the union to appear at their coming meeting for a joint discussion of the points involved and to prescribe such remedies as may be deemed advisable to correct them.

If the questions at issue are amicably settled the A. A. U. delegates will submit to the inter-collegiate association articles of alliance and concede anything that might possibly be construed into an undue assumption of authority. The text of the union's proposition is a secret and will not be disclosed until after the conference with the college men is over.

NEED RELIEF.

There Is Much Destitution in St. John's.

The Government Had to Aid the Poor.

Bread Was Secured by Getting Up a Baking Contest.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., February 21.—The destitution arising from the financial crisis is increasing. In this city between 6000 and 7000 persons are regularly receiving relief.

The funds for this purpose are becoming low and there is yet another month of real hardship before the poor. The Herald, by a bread-baking contest, secured 1000 loaves today, which it will distribute among the Relief Committee.

The Government has heretofore been contributing $1000 weekly for the benefit of the poor, but this has now been withdrawn.

This money was given to the clerical relief fund. The Government intimates the intention of starting relief works.

The opposition press accuses the Government of cutting off its contribution to the relief fund in order to devote the $1000 weekly to a corruption fund to be used in the bye-elections, which occur within a fortnight.

No Spite Work to Count.

Better Prospects for the Officials.

Another Attack Is Made on the Liquor Dealers.

A Bill That Will Make Street Car Men Feel Happy.

Special Correspondence of The Tribune.

SACRAMENTO, February 20.—The members of the Alameda county delegation are going to be just in their action on the County Government bill. When it became known that they were investigating the salaries of the various officials with a view of cutting down the pay of those who were in receipt of fat incomes, everyone with an ax to grind or spleen to vent imagined he saw an opportunity to get even.

As a result the legislators have been flooded with correspondence offensive, but scarcely reliable. The spite work is too apparent in many cases to have any effect, for individuals who were telling one story three or four months ago before it was known how the election would go, have now veered around to exactly the opposite point of the compass.

It stands to reason that statements from these sources will have but little weight, and as the delegation is a fair minded one the rabid slaughter which was predicted a short time ago will fail to materialize. There will of course be some pruning, but it will be more in the way of regulating salaries rather than of making radical changes in the conducting of the offices.

"What we are engaging," said a Senatorial member of the delegation today, "is to have the offices conducted properly and fair to the incumbent as well as to the people. For my part I do not think it right to consider venomous attacks from disappointed candidates who, if the conditions were reversed, would be shouting just as loud at the top end of the see-saw as they are doing now at the lower extremity. It is all very well to furnish statements and figures, but it is not a square deal for us to accept them literally, as there is no telling what expenses incurred in the workings of the office have been suppressed, and it would not be right to act on a doctored or colored showing."

As regards the the township officers, the intentions of the committee are now pretty well known. The new County Government act, which went into effect the first of the present year, cuts down the fees of civil business about one-half, so that " will be permitted to stand. As for the criminal litigation, the proposition is to allow the Township Justices $75 a month salary and a limit of $75 in fees. The constables are to get $75 a month and an outside fee limit of $50.

This will make a great change in Judge Chit's office, especially in the profits on tramps, for it means a loss to him in that connection alone of $400 a month for some months of the year, the average loss per annum being about $2400. However, neither he nor the constables are complaining very much, as even under the new regulations they will have offices well worth fighting for.

THE LIQUOR FIGHT.

The attacks on the liquor men are becoming virulent, for the temperance people are afraid something will pass the Legislature that will undo all the moral knots they have been trying to tie for the past two years. In consequence they are flooding Sacramento with protests and appeals, and ministerial agents are again shedding their benign influence over the law makers.

But the onslaught is not confined to the prohibitionists by any means. Another element is at work, as may be seen by the following sweeping constitutional amendment prepared by Senator Linder:

"The Legislature shall have no power to impose taxes upon counties, cities, towns or other public or municipal corporations, or upon the inhabitants or property thereof, for county, city, town or other municipal purposes, but may, by general laws, vest in the corporate authorities thereof the power to assess and collect taxes for such purpose.

"Provided, however, that no person, firm or corporation shall transact, carry on, conduct or engage in the business of selling or vending malt, vinous or spirituous liquors without first paying the sum of $500 to the State Treasurer, who shall thereupon issue a license, to be countersigned by the State Controller, to carry on and conduct such business at a place named in said license, and said license shall be valid for one year from its date. Any person, firm or corporation conducting, carrying on, transacting or engaging in such business without obtaining such license is hereby declared guilty of a misdemeanor and is punishable accordingly, provided, however, that nothing contained herein shall be construed to abridge, deny or impair the right of county, city and county or other municipal corporation to impose and collect license taxes on such business, or to regulate for any purpose, or to control, abolish or suppress the same.

"Provided further, that no license shall be issued by the state Treasurer to carry on or conduct said business within the limits of any such municipality in which the legislative body has declared by ordinance that no license shall be issued for such business, or that the same shall be abolished or suppressed."

This is all what is known as "hot stuff," but the representatives here of the liquor men say they do not fear it, as whatever animosity there may be against them is not so pronounced as to attempt to legislate them out of business.

THE CIGARETTE CRUSADE.

An attack on a kindred organization is the way the cigarette people are being batted. Senator Gesford's bill not only got through the upper house, but also passed the Assembly, where a motion to reconsider brought it up with a short turn. Outside of the fact that they do not like this indication of public sentiment the cigarette men say they do not care whether the bill passes or not, for they believe they can knock it out in the courts.

Their argument in this direction is as follows: The bill reads: "Every person who manufactures, or deals in, or sells, or offers for sale, or gives away, or otherwise disposes of cigarettes, is guilty of a misdemeanor." The point they take is that the section does not read "cigarettes containing tobacco," and that, therefore, cubebs and many other products are assailed, making it certain that the law will not stand.

HIGH HATS MUST GO.

The crusade against high hats seems to have taken hold, for the Assembly has passed the bill which declares it unlawful for any one visiting a place of public amusement to wear a hat, bonnet, hood or other headwear during the hours of the performance. The individual violating the act is liable to a fine of $25, and furthermore, is to pay to the person aggrieved a sum not to exceed $50.

Senator Mathews' proposition to allow counties to issue bonds for the construction of railroads is to be considered during the early part of the coming week. He will go into the fight strongly backed, for he has obtained indorsements from Chambers of Commerce throughout the State. He says he does not think the Southern Pacific will antagonize his project, as it will have the effect of helping the company's business by tapping productive territory throughout the State in sections where it would not pay the corporation to build.

FOR STREET CAR MEN.

Here is a bill that will make street car employes happy. It is by Senator Earl and declares that it shall be unlawful for any owner of a street railway in this State or for any agent or representative of such owner to require any deposit whatever from any conductor, motorman or other employe at any time, either before, during or after the employment of any such employe. Any owner of a street railroad in this State who now has in custody or possession any deposit heretofore required of any conductor, motorman or other employes of such railroad company shall forthwith, within thirty days of the passage of this act, return the same to the person from whom the same has been received.

There is a little history to this bill. When the Piedmont road went into bankruptcy, about $3000 deposited by the carmen was tied up. Furthermore, the companies have always held this fund as a sword over the heads of their employes, fines and delinquencies being charged up against the deposit of $25, which every man is required to make. Then again the fact that the money is held by the corporations without interest, is a point not to be forgotten.

Senator Earl says that he does not desire to wreak any hardship on the car companies or to subject them to probable losses. They can guard themselves against this by a system of indemnity bonds which would give them all the protection they now have, and at the same time be fair to their men.

MILLARD IS BETTER.

Considerable consternation was aroused around the Capitol when the dispatches were read announcing that Lieutenant Governor Millard is dying. Senator Androus was soon out denying the rumor, as he is in constant communication with Millard and would be certain to hear if such a condition of affairs existed. As a matter of fact, he has only just received a letter to the contrary. It is dated Indio, February 14 th, and reads as follows:

"I am improving in health, but it is doubtful if I shall be able to reach Sacramento before the end of the session."

THE PAUPER BILL.

The Indigent bill has been engaging the attention of the Legislature. Assemblymen Dodge and North have been fighting the proposition to continue the allowances, their point being that the system is far too extravagant. The apportionment has been $100 per annum for each indigent, and though everything went well at first it did not take long to get the charity abused. From every hill and dale paupers were in evidence, and the magnitude of the business is best illustrated by the fact that it would take $800,000 to meet the expenses for the coming two years. The proposition now is to make every county take care of its own poor.

THE FERRY FOUNDATION.

Well Known Engineers Employed to Investigate It.

SACRAMENTO, February 21.—In the Assembly the concurrent resolution was adopted by a vote of 30 to 26, authorizing Colonels Mendell and Heuer of the United States engineers to examine the ferry depot foundations at San Francisco and report to the Assembly.

The resolution was opposed by the Democrats, who charged this to be direct discourtesy to the Governor, who has been conducting the investigation. The resolution was offered at the request of Harbor Commissioner Bassett, who said that the integrity of the commission had been attacked by the report of the Governor's expert.

An effort to reconsider the vote by which the Anti-Cigarette bill was passed yesterday was defeated.

The Agricultural Committee reported that after a conference with the Senate Committee it was agreed to favor the maintenance of district fairs and the State fair at one-half of the appropriation made at the last session.

A concurrent resolution, asking Congress to consider a plan for the protection to farm produce, was adopted.

The bill submitted by the committee appointed by Mayor Sutro to afford relief to unemployed was reported from the committee adversely.

ON THE STAND.

Harry Hayward Tells His Story in Court.

He Says His Brother Gave False Testimony.

He Declares That Miss Ging Was a Noble Woman.

MINNEAPOLIS, February 21. — The cross-examination of W. W. Hayward, father of the young man accused of murdering Miss Ging, was continued today.

County Attorney Nye could not shake his testimony the slightest.

By the testimony of Gunsmith William Yale the defense established that the bullet which killed Miss Ging was the same weight as the one taken from the 38 short cartridge.

Blixt had testified that Harry Hayward had told him the cartridges were 38 long.

The defendant, Harry Hayward, was called and took the stand with arms folded and teeth set.

He declared, in answer to questions, that the testimony of Blixt and Adry Hayward was false.

He said he knew the reason that his brother testified falsely against him, and Erwin asked him to explain.

The prosecution objected and the objection was sustained.

Erwin asked: "Did your brother have any fear of you for the reason you might make disclosures about him?"

"Yes, sir," responded Harry. The answer was ruled out.

"Now, you have heard Adry say he had never seen Miss Ging. Did he ever see her?"

"He did. It was on a narrow, dark road between Nicollet avenue and Lake Calhoun. He could not see her very well, but he could feel her all right."

"Was he alone with her?"

"He was not."

"Who was with him?"

"I would rather not tell, unless it is necessary. The young lady is here in the city."

"What is the name? It will be necessary to know it."

"Miss Veddar. They were both with him."

Nye objected strenuously to anything further on this line and was sustained by the court.

"I tell you," said Judge Smith, "it is an insult to this court when you know what you are proposing to show has been ruled out by this court, you try to bring it in in another way."

"I mean no disrespect," said Erwin, "and I do not think I deserve reproof.

"Now (turning to the witness) I will ask you about your relations with Miss Ging."

"Well," said Harry, "I was introduced to Miss Ging, I think, in January, 1894, by Mr. Speaker, at a boarding-house. I met her at first perhaps as often as once a week. After a while I met her as often as twice a week. From July and August on to December we were what you might call lovers, I suppose."

"Now, I will ask you if at any time while you were lovers there were improper relations existing between you?"

"No, sir. She was a true and noble girl to the best of my belief, both toward me and toward everybody else."

Hayward said he had "gambled high and lots of it."

He admitted he tried to keep it from the public, but his friends all knew it. He said he had gambled in almost every city in the country, and named San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego and Cheyenne among the places he had visited.

Miss Ging knew that he gambled and took part in faro games herself.

A DIAMOND THIEF.

He Was Captured With the Gems in His Possession.

On his person were found two packages of gems, only one of which, however, was identified as belonging to Fox & Co.

It is thought that a Senator will be elected tomorrow, the last day of the session. It is generally conceded Dolph cannot be elected.

NEW YORK, February 21.—The strike of the building trades, in sympathy with that of the electrical wire men, bids fair to surpass any other in the history of these organizations. It may affect nearly 100,000.

So far 2000 men are out.

At noon today the workmen employed on the American Surety Building and the addition to St. Luke's Hospital quit.

It is announced that work will cease this afternoon on the new Clearing House building on Cedar street.

The Committee Making Fine Progress.

An Appeal Has Been Sent to Prominent Citizens.

Great Work Being Done in the Interest of Oakland.

There is activity all along the line in the fight for the terminal. Since the publication of the first fruits of the committee's labors there has been an encouraging response from all sides. The financial support already accorded the terminal proposition has through publicity given a fresh impetus to the work in hand. The committee has settled down to systematic work, which will bring results very rapidly, now that the movement is well in hand.

It is confidently expected that the subscription list will swell very rapidly as the financial interests already represented are so well known that their participation in the project immediately stamps it as a business-like proposition. A most gratifying feature of the situation is the keen interest manifested by the local mercantile firms. Nearly $10,000 has already been subscribed by them and the individual amounts average nearly $1000 to each firm. If this ratio is maintained the mercantile community will have no reason to be ashamed of its representation. The work that is being accomplished in this direction by the Merchants' Exchange speaks well for the organization's future labors in behalf of the city.

The agitation of the subscription matter in connection with the terminal fight has thoroughly aroused all classes of business men in the city. There is ample manifestation of this in the calling together of representative organizations to devise ways and means for furthering the work of the committee.

Last evening the Builders' Exchange was in session to discuss the situation. A large number of members responded to the call for the meeting. President William Winnie was in the chair. J. B. McDonald believed in the project, both as an individual and as a member of the Exchange. He was in favor of a subscription by the Exchange of $1000. Contractor Concannon thought the individual members should subscribe.

Mr. Shay thought the new road should be supported. Oakland was its natural terminus. "We must bestir ourselves," he said, "to secure it. San Jose has offered to raise $1,000,000 and 250 acres of land for the road. It will stimulate our building and real estate interests, and will infuse new blood into the city."

Several members debated the question whether the Exchange should make a subscription. A motion finally prevailed that the Exchange be listed for $1000, and the individual members subscribe in such amounts as they desired The list as started last evening is as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| BUILDERS' EXCHANGE | $1000 |
| E. M. DERBY | 200 |
| I. COHEN | 100 |
| P. MALONEY | 100 |
| J. M. SHAY | 100 |
| W. P. WETMORE | 100 |
| W. CONCANNON | 100 |
| TOTAL | $1700 |

A committee, composed of J. B. McDonald, W. Concannon, P. Maloney, William Winnie and J. M. Shay, was appointed to secure subscriptions.

The Terminal Committee has issued a letter which is being sent today to a large number of prominent property owners who cannot be reached directly. The text of the letter is as follows:

Dear Sir—The Oakland Terminal Committee, knowing that you are personally and as a citizen interested in everything that concerns the development and prosperity of Oakland, beg leave to draw your special attention to the present opportunity and pleasant duty of helping to bring the western terminus of the San Francisco and San Joaquin Valley Railroad to Oakland and within such reasonable limits and territory as to avail something to Oakland as well as to the general idea of a competing railroad. Will you kindly in advance think over the amount you will be able to subscribe, so that the time of the committee's representatives will be saved and made the more effective. We ask you to consider fairly and fully the public welfare side of the question. The individual side will present itself strongly enough without thinking about it on this special occasion.

Oakland has not learned well as yet how to pull together. This opportunity calls for concerted, liberal and sustained action. Help us all you reasonably can as a public-spirited citizen. Any word sent by you to the committee will be promptly attended to.

The known facts and the prospects are very favorable, and we call upon you to join those now exerting themselves in behalf of Oakland, doing on your part all that your two partners, purse and public spirit, will permit you to do.

Oakland Terminal Committee.

There is every reason to suppose that the San Francisco stockholders will at once get to work formulating a plan of operations for the immediate future. The election of the board of directors yesterday will be followed by incorporation at once. The first installment on subscriptions is pouring into the road's coffers in a golden stream that tells the story of absolute confidence in the project better than all words. The board is an able, efficient and business-like organization of men with a purpose in view. There will be no delay on their part in getting down to work. It stands to reason, therefore, that Oakland must be at the front with a strong proposition before many days. The competition is becoming so keen among the interior towns and cities for railroad privileges from the new system that Oakland must press its work with speed.

There can be no doubt that this city has been favored by location. It is without question a most accessible and desirable point for the terminal. But vigorous work must be done to secure it.

Robert Watt, one of the directors of the road, was seen this morning at his residence in Oakland by a TRIBUNE reporter. He was requested to state the outlook for this city with reference to the terminal being located here.

"It is rather too soon to say anything on this matter. The directorate has only been organized half a day, and so far as I know the subject has not been considered. Personally, however, I hope Oakland will be able to make a big showing when its committee is ready to go before the stockholders with their arguments in favor of the location of the terminal here. I cannot give any statement as to the sentiment of the directors in this connection."

TERMINAL LOCATIONS.

Suitable Tracts Lying on the Water Front.

On Tuesday last, THE TRIBUNE referred to the talk associated with the site of the Pacific Nail Works as a desirable location, for a terminus for the new railroad on this side of the bay. It was, however, then understood that a clause in the deed of sale to the Pacific Nail Works prohibited the sale of the property for the purposes of a competing railroad. Councilman Heitmann, who is ever alert to the needs of the Fourth ward, has since visited Hormann J. Sadler, president of the firm of Mau, Sadler & Co. of San Francisco, who is also largely interested in the Pacific Nail Works, to ascertain the true status of the land. Mr. Heitmann remarked to a TRIBUNE representative today, that Mr. Sadler informed him that the prohibition does not exist, the Oakland Water Front and the railroad companies having given a deed to the property entirely free from any reservation.

"This tract contains," added Mr. Heitmann, "fourteen acres of land, and, I believe, is the only tract of land on the water front suitable for railroad terminal purposes which is free from any restrictive condition, and Mr. Sadler assured me it will be disposed of at a reasonable price. Mr. Sadler is one of the owners of the California Steel Works, adjoining the Judson Works at Emeryville, and the old machinery of the Pacific Nail Works could be readily transferred to that establishment and utilized there in the event of the sale of the Nail Works tract."

It may may be stated that the John Hays estate owns forty-two and one-quarter acres adjoining the Nail Works tract; but it embraces only marsh land, and does not include the water frontage. This is the tract that the Fulton Iron Works negotiated for before accepting the Fair property at North Beach, San Francisco.

No Spite Work to Count.

Better Prospects for the Officials.

Another Attack Is Made on the Liquor Dealers.

A Bill That Will Make Street Car Men Feel Happy.

Special Correspondence of The Tribune.

SACRAMENTO, February 20.—The members of the Alameda county delegation are going to be just in their action on the County Government bill. When it became known that they were investigating the salaries of the various officials with a view of cutting down the pay of those who were in receipt of fat incomes, everyone with an ax to grind or spleen to vent imagined he saw an opportunity to get even.

As a result the legislators have been flooded with correspondence effusive, but scarcely reliable. The spitework is too apparent in many cases to have any effect, for individuals who were telling one story three or four months ago before it was known how the election would go, have now veered around to exactly the opposite point of the compass.

It stands to reason that statements from these sources will have but little weight, and as the delegation is a fair minded one the rabid slaughter which was predicted a short time ago will fail to materialize. There will of course be some pruning, but it will be more in the way of regulating salaries rather than of making radical changes in the conducting of the offices.

"What we are essaying," said a Senatorial member of the delegation today, "is to have the offices conducted properly and fair to the incumbent as well as to the people. For my part I do not think it right to consider venomous attacks from disappointed candidates who, if the conditions were reversed, would be shouting just as loud at the top end of the see-saw as they are doing now at the lower extremity. It is all very well to furnish statements and figures, but it is not a square deal for us to accept them literally, as there is no telling what expenses incurred in the workings of the office have been suppressed, and it would not be right to act on a doctored or colored showing."

As regards the the township officers, the intentions of the committee are now pretty well known. The new County Government act, which went into effect the first of the present year, cuts down the fees of civil business about one-half, so that it will be permitted to stand. As for the criminal litigation, the proposition is to allow the Township Justices $75 a month salary and a limit of $75 in fees. The constables are to get $75 a month and an outside fee limit of $83.

This will make a great change in Judge Clift's office, especially in the profits on tramps, for it means a loss to him in that connection alone of $400 a month for some months of the year, the average loss per annum being about $2400. However, neither he nor the constables are complaining very much, as even under the new regulations they will have offices well worth fighting for.

THE LIQUOR FIGHT.

The attacks on the liquor men are becoming virulent, for the temperance people are afraid something will pass the Legislature that will undo all the moral knots they have been trying to tie for the past two years. In consequence they are flooding Sacramento with protests and appeals, and ministerial agents are again shedding their benign influence over the law makers.

But the onslaught is not confined to the prohibitionists by any means. Another element is at work, as may be seen by the following sweeping constitutional amendment prepared by Senator Linder:

"The Legislature shall have no power to impose taxes upon counties, cities, towns or other public or municipal corporations, or upon the inhabitants or property thereof, for county, city, town or other municipal purposes, but may, by general laws, vest in the corporate authorities thereof the power to assess and collect taxes for such purpose.

"Provided, however, that no person, firm or corporation shall transact, carry on, conduct or engage in the business of selling or vending malt, vinous or spirituous liquors without first paying the sum of $600 to the State Treasurer, who shall thereupon issue a license, to be countersigned by the State Controller, to carry on and conduct such business at a place named in said license, and said license shall be valid for one year from its date. Any person, firm or corporation conducting, carrying on, transacting or engaging in such business without obtaining such license is hereby declared guilty of a misdemeanor and is punishable accordingly, provided, however, that nothing contained herein shall be construed to abridge, deny or impair the right of county, city and county or other municipal corporation to impose and collect license taxes on such business, or to regulate for any purpose, or to control, abolish or suppress the same.

"Provided further, that no license shall be issued by the State Treasurer to carry on or conduct said business within the limits of any such municipality in which the legislative body has declared by ordinance that no license shall be issued for such business, or that the same shall be abolished or suppressed."

This is all what is known as "hot stuff," but the representatives here of the liquor men say they do not fear it, as whatever animosity there may be against them is not so pronounced as to attempt to legislate them out of business.

THE CIGARETTE CRUSADE.

An attack on a kindred organization is the way the cigarette people are being batted. Senator Gesford's bill not only got through the upper house, but also passed the Assembly, where a notice to reconsider brought it up with a short turn. Outside of the fact that they do not like this indication of public sentiment the cigarette men say they do not care whether the bill passes or not, for they believe they can knock it out in the courts.

Their argument in this direction is as follows: The bill reads: "Every person who manufactures, or deals in, or sells, or offers for sale, or gives away, or otherwise disposes of cigarettes, is guilty of a misdemeanor." The point they take is that the section does not read "cigarettes containing tobacco," and that, therefore, cubebs and many other products are assailed, making it certain that the law will not stand.

HIGH HATS MUST GO.

The crusade against high hats seems to have taken hold, for the Assembly has passed the bill which declares it unlawful for any one visiting a place of public amusement to wear a hat, bonnet, hood or other headwear during the hours of the performance. The individual violating the act is liable to a fine of $25, and furthermore, is to pay to the person aggrieved a sum not to exceed $50.

Senator Mathews' proposition to allow counties to issue bonds for the construction of railroads is to be considered during the early part of the coming week. He will go into the fight strongly backed, for he has obtained indorsements from Chambers of Commerce throughout the State. He says he does not think the Southern Pacific will antagonize his project, as it will have the effect of helping the company's business by tapping productive territory throughout the State in sections where it would not pay the corporation to build.

FOR STREET CAR MEN.

Here is a bill that will make street car employes happy. It is by Senator Earl and declares that it shall be unlawful for any owner of a street railway in this State or for any agent or representative of such owner to require any deposit whatever from any conductor, motorman or other employe at any time, either before, during or after the employment of any such employe. Any owner of a street railroad in this State who now has in custody or possession any deposit heretofore required of any conductor, motorman or other employes of such railroad company shall forthwith, within thirty days of the passage of this act, return the same to the person from whom the same has been received.

There is a little history to this bill. When the Piedmont road went into bankruptcy, about $3000 deposited by the carmen was tied up. Furthermore, the companies have always held this fund as a sword over the heads of their employes, fines and delinquencies being charged up against the deposit of $25, which every man is required to make. Then again the fact that the money is held by the corporations without interest, is a point not to be forgotten.

Senator Earl says that he does not desire to wreak any hardship on the car companies or to subject them to probable losses. They can guard themselves against this by a system of indemnity bonds which would give them all the protection they now have, and at the same time be fair to their men.

MILLARD IS BETTER.

Considerable consternation was aroused around the Capitol when the dispatches were read announcing that Lieutenant Governor Millard is dying. Senator Androus was soon out denying the rumor, as he is in constant communication with Millard and would be certain to hear if such a condition of affairs existed. As a matter of fact, he has only just received a letter to the contrary. It is dated Indio, February 14th, and reads as follows:

"I am improving in health, but it is doubtful if I shall be able to reach Sacramento before the end of the session."

THE PAUPER BILL.

The Indigent bill has been engaging the attention of the Legislature. Assemblymen Dodge and North have been fighting the proposition to continue the allowances, their point being that the system is far too extravagant. The apportionment has been $100 per annum for each indigent, and though everything went well at first it did not take long to get the charity abused. From every hill and dale paupers were in evidence, and the magnitude of the business is best illustrated by the fact that it would take $800,000 to meet the expenses for the coming two years. The proposition now is to make every county take care of its own poor.

THE FERRY FOUNDATION.

Well Known Engineers Employed to Investigate It.

SACRAMENTO, February 21.—In the Assembly the concurrent resolution was adopted by a vote of 36 to 26, authorizing Colonels Mendell and Heuer of the United States engineers to examine the ferry depot foundations at San Francisco and report to the Assembly.

The resolution was opposed by the Democrats, who charged this to be direct discourtesy to the Governor, who has been conducting the investigation. The resolution was offered at the request of Harbor Commissioner Bassett, who said that the integrity of the commission had been attacked by the report of the Governor's expert.

An effort to reconsider the vote by which the Anti-Cigarette bill was passed yesterday was defeated.

The Agricultural Committee reported that after a conference with the Senate Committee it was agreed to favor the maintenance of district fairs and the State fair at one-half of the appropriation made at the last session.

A concurrent resolution, asking Congress to consider a plan for the protection to farm produce, was adopted.

The bill submitted by the committee appointed by Mayor Sutro to afford relief to unemployed was reported from the committee adversely.

BILLS PASSED.

Action Taken in the Senate This Morning.

Protecting the grounds of Whittier school from intruders; providing stenographer for the Coroner of each county of over 100,000 population; concerning contracts for the lease or sale of street railway equipment; amending Street Improvement Bond act; appropriating $275,000 for coyote scalp claims.

Action on all special orders and bills was postponed until Tuesday next.

ON THE STAND.

Harry Hayward Tells His Story in Court.

He Says His Brother Gave False Testimony.

He Declares That Miss Ging Was a Noble Woman.

MINNEAPOLIS, February 21. — The cross-examination of W. W. Hayward, father of the young man accused of murdering Miss Ging, was continued today.

County Attorney Nye could not shake his testimony the slightest.

By the testimony of Gunsmith William Yale the defense established that the bullet which killed Miss Ging was the same weight as the one taken from the 38 short cartridge.

Blixt had testified that Harry Hayward had told him the cartridges were 38 long.

The defendant, Harry Hayward, was called and took the stand with arms folded and teeth set.

He declared, in answer to questions, that the testimony of Blixt and Adry Hayward was false.

He said he knew the reason that his brother testified falsely against him, and Erwin asked him to explain.

The prosecution objected and the objection was sustained.

Erwin asked: "Did your brother have any fear of you for the reason you might make disclosures about him?"

"Yes, sir," responded Harry. The answer was ruled out.

"Now, you have heard Adry say he had never seen Miss Ging. Did he ever see her?"

"He did. It was on a narrow, dark road between Nicollet avenue and Lake Calhoun. He could not see her very well, but he could feel her all right."

"Was he alone with her?"

"He was not."

"Who was with him?"

"I would rather not tell, unless it is necessary. The young lady is here in the city."

"What is the name? It will be necessary to know it."

"Miss Veddar. They were both with him."

Nye objected strenuously to anything further on this line and was sustained by the court.

"I tell you," said Judge Smith, "it is an insult to this court when you know what you are proposing to show has been ruled out by this court, you try to bring it in in another way."

"I mean no disrespect," said Erwin, "and I do not think I deserve reproof.

"Now (turning to the witness) I will ask you about your relations with Miss Ging."

"Well," said Harry, "I was introduced to Miss Ging, I think, in January, 1894, by Mr. Speaker, at a boarding-house. I met her at first perhaps as often as once a week. After a while I met her as often as twice a week. From July and August on to December we were what you might call lovers, I suppose."

"Now, I will ask you if at any time while you were lovers there were improper relations existing between you?"

"No, sir. She was a true and noble girl to the best of my belief, both toward me and toward everybody else."

Hayward said he had "gambled high and lots of it."

He admitted he tried to keep it from the public, but his friends all knew it. He said he had gambled in almost every city in the country, and named San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego and Cheyenne among the places he had visited.

Miss Ging knew that he gambled and took part in faro games herself.

A DIAMOND THIEF.

He Was Captured With the Gems in His Possession.

NEW YORK, February 21.—A man, apparently 55 years of age, who refused to give his name, took a package containing diamonds, valued at $10,000, from the establishment of M. Fox & Co., importers of gems, Maiden lane, at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon and was arrested five minutes later.

On his person were found two packages of gems, only one of which, however, was identified as belonging to Fox & Co.

CANNOT BE ELECTED.

Dolph Losing Ground in the Senatorial Fight.

SALEM, Or., February 21.—In the Senatorial ballot today Dolph lost two votes. The ballot resulted: Dolph, 39; Williams, 30; Hare, 10; Raley, 7; absent, 4.

It is thought that a Senator will be elected tomorrow, the last day of the session. It is generally conceded Dolph cannot be elected.

FIGHTING STUDENTS.

Soldiers Called Out to Quell Them.

ST. PETERSBURG, February 21.—The students' demonstrations became so riotous that soldiers were summoned to quell them.

On Tuesday last, THE TRIBUNE referred to the talk associated with the site of the Pacific Nail Works as a desirable location for a terminus for the new railroad on this side of the bay. It was, however, then understood that a clause in the deed of sale to the Pacific Nail Works prohibited the sale of the property for the purposes of a competing railroad. Councilman Heitmann, who is ever alert to the needs of the Fourth ward, has since visited Hermann J. Sadler, president of the firm of Mau, Sadler & Co. of San Francisco, who is also largely interested in the Pacific Nail Works, to ascertain the true status of the land. Mr. Heitmann remarked to a TRIBUNE representative today, that Mr. Sadler informed him that the prohibition does not exist, the Oakland Water Front and the railroad companies having given a deed to the property entirely free from any reservation.

"This tract contains," added Mr. Heitmann, "fourteen acres of land, and, I believe, is the only tract of land on the water front suitable for railroad terminal purposes which is free from any restrictive condition, and Mr. Sadler assured me it will be disposed of at a reasonable price. Mr. Sadler is one of the owners of the California Steel Works, adjoining the Judson Works at Emeryville, and the old machinery of the Pacific Nail Works could be readily transferred to that establishment and utilized there in the event of the sale of the Nail Works tract."

It may may be stated that the John Hays estate owns forty-two and one-quarter acres adjoining the Nail Works tract; but it embraces only marsh land, and does not include the water frontage. This is the tract that the Fulton Iron Works negotiated for before accepting the Fair property at North Beach, San Francisco.

SHERMAN'S CASE

He Is Placed on Trial for Criminal Libel.

Attorney Garrity Replies to an Insinuation.

The Prosecution Closes and a Recess Is Taken.

The case of the people against E. A Sherman Jr., charged with criminal libel upon Chief Schaffer of the police force, was called in the Police Court this morning. The lobby was packed with people.

The people were represented by Assistant District Attorney Melvin.

The defendant appeared for himself, though J. A. Sands and Secretary Gardner of the Young Men's Christian Endeavor Association sat beside him.

Both the prosecution and the defendant waived a jury trial.

On motion of Mr. Melvin, Thomas F. Garrity was associated with the prosecution.

As soon as this motion was made Sherman arose and said he had no objection to Mr. Garrity acting with the prosecution, but he would like to know whether or not he (Garrity) represented the complaining witness or the saloon keepers, whom he appeared in the Police Court so often to defend.

This insinuation caused a sensation in court.

Garrity then arose and said that he represented the complaining witness. He then became visibly excited, and, turning around to Sherman, said with emotion: "With reference to your statement as to the people I defend, I desire to say that I defend other people, as well as saloon keepers, and I desire further to say that if I do defend saloon keepers I am proud of it."

Garrity then resumed his seat.

Mr. Melvin said that he hoped the case would be conducted without unnecessary friction and that the counsel on the other side would show the same courtesy that the prosecution intended to show to them.

Mr. Garrity then arose and remarked that if there were any more insinuations of the kind made by Sherman, there would be some trouble between himself and Sherman before the case came to a close.

Secretary Kaufman of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners then took the stand and testified that the defendant had filed charges against Schaffer with the Fire and Police Commissioners.

On cross-examination Kaufman said that the paper had been presented to him folded; that he had not filed it; had placed it in his pocket and kept it for three or four days until the excitement of the campaign had passed; that he then handed the communication to the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners, but that they had declined to file it as they did not consider it a proper communication.

Mr. Kaufman was asked why he had not returned the communication to the party who had presented it. His reply was that he did not know who it was that had given him the document and had not seen the donor until he met the defendant in court today.

The communication containing the alleged libelous matter was then read by Mr. Melvin. The reading was listened to with the greatest attention by the lobby. The paper referred to Chief Schaffer in most abusive terms. It went on to show that he was incompetent, and the friend of the enemies of good government; that he corruptly associated with the lowest elements; that he was in connivance with lawbreakers, and that he was guilty of various other irregularities; that his resignation as head of the Police Department ought to be accepted, and that the good people of Oakland would be profoundly grateful if the commissioners would accept the resignation.

This communication was shown to have been adopted at a meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society and had been signed by several, and among them was E. A. Sherman and Secretary Gardner of the association.

The document was then filed as the people's exhibit "A."

Chief Schaffer then took the stand and was sworn. He testified that he had had an interview with the defendant and that he had shown the latter the communication containing the alleged libel. He had asked Sherman if the first signature to the document was his (the defendant's) and that Sherman had replied that it was his signature. Witness had also asked Sherman if he had read the document before signing it and Sherman again replied in the affirmative, and further, that he could prove the allegations which the communication contained.

The defendant also admitted that the signature of Gardner to the communication was that of the secretary of the Endeavorers' Union.

On cross-examination, Sherman asked whether he had not said to the chief, with reference to the signature, that "perhaps" it was his (Sherman's) signature.

The Chief admitted that Sherman had made such an answer, but said that when the witness had asked, "Don't you know whether or not it is your signature?" Sherman replied. "Yes, it is my signature."

Witness was then asked whether or not, with reference to Gardner's signature, the defendant had not said to Schaffer that he (Sherman) was looking after his own signature and no other person's.

Witness replied that such was not the case.

Witness was then asked whether or not the defendant had not said that he (Sherman) could come pretty near proving the charges made. Again the Chief gave a reply in the negative.

In response to a number of questions by the defendant, Chief Schaffer detailed how Captain Wilson had pointed Sherman out to him as Sherman was going aboard the ferry; how they had met and how Sherman had conducted himself in a mild manner. This last answer was educed for the purpose of showing that, in the defendant's estimation the lack of vehement explosion when taken to task by the Chief for writing the communication, was proof that the document was inspired by no malice on the part of Sherman.

Mr. Melvin then announced that the people rested their case.

Sherman then arose and moved that the case be dismissed on the ground that the prosecution had not shown that malice had actuated the defendant; that it had not been shown that the charges had been written and circulated by the defendant, or that he had procured any person to write or circulate them and that, consequently, no public offense had been committed and that the case of the people consequently "fell short." The document in question had been folded and handed, he said, to the secretary of the Fire and Police Commissioners; that that board was the proper one to redress the grievances and that all the evidence showed that that document had been signed by the defendant as presiding officer of the meeting at which the charges had been adopted.

The court held that he did not think the motion to dismiss could be entertained on the ground that the document was not supposed to be malicious.

Mr. Melvin held that the statute was not disjunctive but conjunctive, and that the defendant must show not only a justifiable motive in circulating the charges but must also show the truth of the charges.

Mr. Sherman then made a motion that the case be dismissed on the ground that the document was a privileged communication. He would like, he said, if the court did not feel disposed to grant the motion at present, to have a date set on which argument on the proposition could be heard. The shortness of the testimony for the State, had not been expected, and the defendant at that moment was not prepared for argument.

Mr. Melvin said he certainly objected to a continuance on any such ground.

The judge said he disliked to continue the case and that the defendant should have come prepared to argue the motion. He finally asked how it would do to have the arguments heard on Monday evening next.

Mr. Melvin said that he could not be present on that occasion. The case ought not to be continued. The prosecution had put all its witnesses on the stand. The defendant should have had his witnesses there.

Mr. Garrity claimed that there had been no legal ground shown for a continuance. The case had been set a month ago, and the defendant, instead of having witnesses there and going to trial on the merits of the case, sought to get out of it by a contemptible technicality, a mere quibble.

Mr. Sherman said that he was not accompanied by all of his principal counsel, who, for some unknown reason, had failed to put in an appearance.

Judge Wood asked how Tuesday evening next would answer.

Mr. Melvin said that he had an appointment for that evening, but that he thought he would have to break it in order to attend the case.

Mr. Sherman said that the authorities, he thought, would support the motion made.

Mr. Melvin wanted to know if the defendant was conscious of that act, why he did not cite them now and abandon the idea of a continuance.

Mr. Sherman said he had been led to believe that the authorities were with him on the point.

It was finally decided that arguments on the motion to dismiss, on the ground of a privileged communication, would be heard next Tuesday night, and the case was continued till then.

Williamson, manager, and H. M. Brace, managing editor. The Union outlines an independent policy, its prime aim being to become a thorough newspaper. Such an ambition is laudable and deserving of success. The Union is laying down in its initial number a broad claim to the right to live and to prosper. THE TRIBUNE welcomes it to the field.

AS AN EXAMPLE.

Judge Frick's Methods Inspected by School Children.

The somber gravity of Judge Frick's court was relieved this morning by the presence of a couple of score of school children intently observing the examination of witnesses, the by-play of the attorneys and the thousand and one incidents which attend a court trial.

The presence of the children was the result of an original idea on the part of Miss A. A. McCourt, teacher of the class of civil government in the Cole school. Miss McCourt believes there is nothing so effective to the young idea as an object lesson, especially in so important a study in which she is teacher. Hence the presence of the boys and girls in the courtroom

THIEVES CAUGHT

Bold Bay Pirates Fell Into a Trap.

A Woman Gives Them Over to the Police.

Many Thefts Will Now Be Traced to the Prisoners.

Four bold bay pirates were lodged in jail this morning by Officers Lamping, Keefe and Lerri.

The prisoners are members of a gang which has been plundering vessels along the water front for several months. The gang's headquarters is unknown at present, but it is believed the pirates have a large quantity of stores cached in some secluded spot.

From remarks of one of the gang last night to a person he was endeavoring to sell some flour to, it is believed the cache is located in some of the abandoned houses on the West Berkeley shore. Two of the prisoners are Jud Stack and Pat Muir. The other two are unknown.

Yesterday afternoon Muir and Stack called at a residence near the foot of Franklin street and offered to sell ten sacks of fine flour at 50 cents per sack.

The lady of the house suspected that all was not right, and telling the men to call this morning, notified the officers.

At 7 o'clock today the fellows drove up to the house with an antiquated rig and the flour. They were at once arrested by the officers and lodged in jail. Shortly after the arrest the officers caught the rest of the quartet in the act of carrying away a sack of potatoes from a vessel moored at the City wharf.

The surprise was so complete that the thieves had no opportunity of escape and they were soon to join their companions behind the bars. Many mysterious thefts will undoubtedly be cleared up when the thieves' den is discovered.

Two of the boys are strangers here, but Muir and Stack are well known. Muir got into a cattle stealing scrape at East Oakland a few days ago, but was allowed to go free on a technicality. Stack was badly hurt on a steam dredger in the estuary some months ago. None of the gang will talk.

TOO "SPEEDY."

A Double Charge Against Another Industrial Leader.

Another industrial was caught in the toils this morning, the victim being George Speed, the gentleman with whom General Kelley exchanged compliments on the streets a few nights ago. He was charged with obstructing the street. A second charge, that of disturbing the peace, was preferred against him by G. W. C. De Jarley, who lives on Merrimac street.

Speed had been a lodger in the De Jarley residence, but belied his name in the manner in which he satisfied his landlord for shelter from the night's bleak winds. A few evening's ago, Speed returned to his abode and found that somebody, presumably his landlord, had not only locked him out, but had nailed the doors against him, whereupon Speed kicked the door to pieces. Then De Jarley brought about Speed's arrest.

SCHUTZ'S DIAMONDS.

It Is Thought That They Have Been Located.

There is reason to believe that the police have got a good clew to the parties who robbed the residence of J. J. Schutz, 818 Twelfth street, on the 20th of December, 1893.

In diamonds, jewelry, heirlooms of extrinsic and intrinsic value, $1200 were stolen.

During all these months a man named Wilcox was suspected by the chief of committing the robbery.

That man has just returned from abroad and has been locked up.

This afternoon, Chief Schaffer and Detective Holland went out in the country, it is thought to secure the goods which have been stored away.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address

He Is Placed on Trial for Criminal Libel.

Attorney Garrity Replies to an Insinuation.

The Prosecution Closes and a Recess Is Taken.

The case of the people against E. A Sherman Jr., charged with criminal libel upon Chief Schafter of the police force, was called in the Police Court this morning. The lobby was packed with people.

The people were represented by Assistant District Attorney Melvin.

The defendant appeared for himself, though J. A. Sands and Secretary Gardner of the Young Men's Christian Endeavor Association sat beside him.

Both the prosecution and the defendant waived a jury trial.

On motion of Mr. Melvin, Thomas F. Garrity was associated with the prosecution.

As soon as this motion was made Sherman arose and said he had no objection to Mr. Garrity acting with the prosecution, but he would like to know whether or not he (Garrity) represented the complaining witness or the saloon keepers, whom he appeared in the Police Court so often to defend.

This insinuation caused a sensation in court.

Garrity then arose and said that he represented the complaining witness. He then became visibly excited, and, turning around to Sherman, said with emotion: "With reference to your statement as to the people I defend, I desire to say that I defend other people, as well as saloon keepers, and I desire further to say that if I do defend saloon keepers I am proud of it."

Garrity then resumed his seat.

Mr. Melvin said that he hoped the case would be conducted without unnecessary friction and that the counsel on the other side would show the same courtesy that the prosecution intended to show to them.

Mr. Garrity then arose and remarked that if there were any more insinuations of the kind made by Sherman, there would be some trouble between himself and Sherman before the case came to a close.

Secretary Kaufman of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners then took the stand and testified that the defendant had filed charges against Schaffer with the Fire and Police Commissioners.

On cross-examination Kaufman said that the paper had been presented to him folded; that he had not filed it; had placed it in his pocket and kept it for three or four days until the excitement of the campaign had passed; that he then handed the communication to the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners, but that they had declined to file it as they did not consider it a proper communication.

Mr. Kaufman was asked why he had not returned the communication to the party who had presented it. His reply was that he did not know who it was that had given him the document and had not seen the donor until he met the defendant in court today.

The communication containing the alleged libelous matter was then read by Mr. Melvin. The reading was listened to with the greatest attention by the lobby. The paper referred to Chief Schaffer in most abusive terms. It went on to show that he was incompetent, and the friend of the enemies of good government; that he corruptly associated with the lowest elements; that he was in connivance with lawbreakers, and that he was guilty of various other irregularities; that his resignation as head of the Police Department ought to be accepted, and that the good people of Oakland would be profoundly grateful if the commissioners would accept the resignation.

This communication was shown to have been adopted at a meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society and had been signed by several, and among them was E. A. Sherman and Secretary Gardner of the association.

The document was then filed as the people's exhibit "A."

Chief Schaffer then took the stand and was sworn. He testified that he had had an interview with the defendant and that he had shown the latter the communication containing the alleged libel. He had asked Sherman if the first signature to the document was his (the defendant's) and that Sherman had replied that it was his signature. Witness had also asked Sherman if he had read the document before signing it and Sherman again replied in the affirmative, and further, that he could prove the allegations which the communication contained.

The defendant also admitted that the signature of Gardner to the communication was that of the secretary of the Endeavorers' Union.

On cross-examination, Sherman asked whether he had not said to the chief, with reference to the signature, that "perhaps" it was his (Sherman's) signature.

The Chief admitted that Sherman had made such an answer, but said that when the witness had asked, "Don't you know whether or not it is your signature?" Sherman replied, "Yes, it is my signature."

Witness was then asked whether or not, with reference to Gardner's signature, the defendant had not said to Schaffer that he (Sherman) was looking after his own signature and no other person's.

Witness replied that such was not the case.

Witness was then asked whether or not the defendant had not said that he (Sherman) could come pretty near proving the charges made. Again the Chief gave a reply in the negative.

In response to a number of questions by the defendant, Chief Schaffer detailed how Captain Wilson had pointed Sherman out to him as Sherman was going aboard the ferry; how they had met and how Sherman had conducted himself in a mild manner. This last answer was educed for the purpose of showing that, in the defendant's estimation the lack of vehement explosion when taken to task by the Chief for writing the communication, was proof that the document was inspired by no malice on the part of Sherman.

Mr. Melvin then announced that the people rested their case.

Sherman then arose and moved that the case be dismissed on the ground that the prosecution had not shown that malice had actuated the defendant; that it had not been shown that the charges had been written and circulated by the defendant, or that he had procured any person to write or circulate them and that, consequently, no public offense had been committed and that the case of the people consequently "fell short." The document in question had been folded and handed, he said, to the secretary of the Fire and Police Commissioners; that that board was the proper one to redress the grievances and that all the evidence showed that that document had been signed by the defendant as presiding officer of the meeting at which the charges had been adopted.

The court held that he did not think the motion to dismiss could be entertained on the ground that the document was not supposed to be malicious.

Mr. Melvin held that the statute was not disjunctive but conjunctive, and that the defendant must show not only a justifiable motive in circulating the charges but must also show the truth of the charges.

Mr. Sherman then made a motion that the case be dismissed on the ground that the document was a privileged communication. He would like, he said, if the court did not feel disposed to grant the motion at present, to have a date set on which argument on the proposition could be heard. The shortness of the testimony for the State had not been expected, and the defendant at that moment was not prepared for argument.

Mr. Melvin said he certainly objected to a continuance on any such ground.

The judge said he disliked to continue the case and that the defendant should have come prepared to argue the motion. He finally asked how it would do to have the arguments heard on Monday evening next.

Mr. Melvin said that he could not be present on that occasion. The case ought not to be continued. The prosecution had put all its witnesses on the stand. The defendant should have had his witnesses there.

Mr. Garrity claimed that there had been no legal ground shown for a continuance. The case had been set a month ago, and the defendant, instead of having witnesses there and going to trial on the merits of the case, sought to get out of it by a contemptible technicality, a mere quibble.

Mr. Sherman said that he was not accompanied by all or by his principal, counsel, who, for some unknown reason, had failed to put in an appearance.

Judge Wood asked how Tuesday evening next would answer.

Mr. Melvin said that he had an appointment for that evening, but that he thought he would have to break it in order to attend the case.

Mr. Sherman said that the authorities, he thought, would support the motion made.

Mr. Melvin wanted to know if the defendant was conscious of that act, why he did not cite them now and abandon the idea of a continuance.

Mr. Sherman said he had been led to believe that the authorities were with him on the point.

It was finally decided that arguments on the motion to dismiss, on the ground of a privileged communication, would be heard next Tuesday night, and the case was continued till then.

It is published on the co-operative principle, every worker on it having an interest in its responsibilities, its obligations and its profits with S. K. H. [illegible] as its president; J. C. Williamson, manager, and H. M. Bruce, managing editor. The Union outlines an independent policy, its prime aim being to become a thorough newspaper. Such an ambition is laudable and deserving of success. The Union is laying down in its initial number a broad claim to the right to live and to prosper. THE TRIBUNE welcomes it to the field.

AS AN EXAMPLE.

Judge Frick's Methods Inspected by School Children.

The somber gravity of Judge Frick's court was relieved this morning by the presence of a couple of score of school children intently observing the examination of witnesses, the by-play of the attorneys and the thousand and one incidents which attend a court trial.

The presence of the children was the result of an original idea on the part of Miss A. A. McCourt, teacher of the class of civil government in the Cole school. Miss McCourt believes there is nothing so effective to the young idea as an object lesson, especially in so important a study in which she is teacher. Hence the presence of the boys and girls in the courtroom.

INGLER HELD.

The Charge Reduced to Assault, With Bonds at $1000.

James A. Ingler, ex-deputy constable, was held to answer under $1000 by Judge Wood this morning on the charge of assault with a deadly weapon. The alleged assault took place in January last, the victim being John Keeffe, whom Ingler shot in the leg.

The delay was occasioned by a request from Kelley that the case be put over until after the election.

GOING AND GONE.

The Last Call for the Old Lafayette School.

The sale at auction of the old Lafayette school will take place next Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The hammer will be wielded by Secretary Kaufman of the Board of Public Works.

Taxes Coming In.

This was the liveliest day of the season in the City Treasurer's office. The receipts have, heretofore, amounted to only about $200 per day, on an average. Today, they ran up to $2150, of which $1751 61 was paid by the German Savings and Loan Society of San Francisco.

THIEVES CAUGHT

Bold Bay Pirates Fell Into a Trap.

A Woman Gives Them Over to the Police.

Many Thefts Will Now Be Traced to the Prisoners.

Four bold bay pirates were lodged in jail this morning by Officers Lamping, Keefe and Lerri.

The prisoners are members of a gang which has been plundering vessels along the water front for several months. The gang's headquarters is unknown at present, but it is believed the pirates have a large quantity of stores cached in some secluded spot.

From remarks of one of the gang last night to a person he was endeavoring to [illegible] is believed the cache [illegible] located in some of the abandoned houses on the West Berkeley shore. Two of the prisoners are Jud Stack and Pat Muir. The other two are unknown.

Yesterday afternoon Muir and Stack called at a residence near the foot of Franklin street and offered to sell ten sacks of [illegible] flour [illegible].

The lady of the house suspected that all was not right, and telling the men to call this morning, notified the officers.

At 7 o'clock today the fellows drove up to the house with an antiquated rig and the flour. They were at once arrested by the officers and lodged in jail. Shortly after the arrest the officers caught the rest of the quartet in the act of carrying away a sack of potatoes from a vessel moored at the City wharf.

The surprise was so complete that the thieves had no opportunity of escape and they were sent to join their companions behind the bars. Many mysterious thefts will undoubtedly be cleared up when the thieves' den is discovered.

Two of the boys are strangers here, but Muir and Stack are well known. Muir got into a cattle stealing scrape at East Oakland a few days ago, but was allowed to go free on a technicality. Stack was badly hurt on a steam dredger in the estuary some months ago. None of the gang will talk.

TOO "SPEEDY."

A Double Charge Against Another Industrial Leader.

Another industrial was caught in the toils this morning, the victim being George Speed, the gentleman with whom General Kelley exchanged compliments on the streets a few nights ago. He was charged with obstructing the street. A second charge, that of disturbing the peace, was preferred against him by G. W. C. De Jarley, who lives on Merrimac street.

Speed had been a lodger in the De Jarley residence, but defied the name in the manner in which he satisfied his landlord for shelter from the night's bleak winds. A few evenings ago, Speed returned to his abode and found that somebody, presumably his landlord, had not only locked him out, but had nailed the doors against him, whereupon Speed kicked the door to pieces. Then De Jarley brought about Speed's arrest.

SCHUTZ'S DIAMONDS.

It Is Thought That They Have Been Located.

There is reason to believe that the police have got a good clew to the parties who robbed the residence of J. J. Schutz, 818 Twelfth street, on the 29th of December, 1893.

In diamonds, jewelry, heirlooms of extrinsic and intrinsic value, $1200 were stolen.

During all these months a man named Wilcox was suspected by the chief of committing the robbery.

That man has just returned from abroad and has been locked up.

This afternoon, Chief Schaffer and Detective Holland went out in the country, it is thought to secure the goods which have been stored away.

For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address from taking medicine. They don't like its taste. But they are eager to take what they like—Scott's Emulsion, for instance. Children almost always like Scott's Emulsion.

And it does them good.

Scott's Emulsion is the easiest, most palatable form of Cod-liver Oil, with the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda added to nourish the bones and tone up the nervous system. The way children gain flesh and strength on Scott's Emulsion is surprising even to physicians.

All delicate children need it.

And it does them good.

Scott's Emulsion is the easiest, most palatable form of Cod-liver Oil, with the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda added to nourish the bones and tone up the nervous system. The way children gain flesh and strength on Scott's Emulsion is surprising even to physicians.

All delicate children need it.

THURSDAY.....FEBRUARY 21, 1895

THE duties of the Viticultural Commission are to be performed after this year by the agricultural department of the University of California. That puts a quietus to one of the costly commissions which the State has been supporting in the past.

THE prospect of a rival in the afternoon field has caused the Los Angeles Express to brush up. It is now printed on a nice Presto Perfecting press and will soon appear daily in a new dress composed by a typesetting machine. The Express does not intend to be left in the competition for public favor and patronage.

THE amended charter offered to the city of Los Angeles was overwhelmingly defeated at the polls last Friday. The vote cast was 395 for and 1952 against. The defeat of the charter is attributed to the fact that it proposed to lengthen the terms of the Board of Education and Council from two to four years, and placed the appointive power of certain offices, now elective, in the hands of the Council. The latter feature was construed very properly as a return to old methods which had been long ago discarded because they were obnoxious to the people and to the theory of good government.

CLARA LOUISE KELLOGG, now Mrs. Carl Strakosch, is content to dine daily with her husband in a 30-cent New York restaurant. The great songstress is said to have lost the greater part of her fortune through an unfortunate investment in a large publishing house, which recently went under owing to the dishonesty of its manager. But what is a much greater calamity to Mrs. Strakosch is that she has lost the magnificent voice which in years past thrilled immense audiences in both hemispheres. This is the second time for Clara Louise to be ruined financially through the dishonesty of others. Many years ago her agent and guardian, George W. Stebbins, then a well-known banker in New York, dissipated the fortune which she had intrusted to his care, through reckless speculation. Clara Louise Kellogg was a great favorite among the music-loving people of this State, and the news of her misfortune will be a source of regret to them.

Constitutional Amendments Needed.

The Examiner has finally woke up to the necessity of securing an amendment to the Constitution to enable chartered cities to secure home rule. THE TRIBUNE has been preaching this kind of a gospel for a long time. As the Constitution now is no city is safe. All the labor expended in the framing of charters is virtually wasted. There is no security for the perpetuation of any provision in a municipal charter, although its perpetuation may be essential to the government of the municipality. Some legislative vagary, having no designs on the charter of any city, may contain a provision or a principle which strikes at the very root of the municipal charter. The charters of several cities in the State have suffered that way already. Legislation of a general character is liable to be passed at the present session of the Legislature which may make more serious inroads into them. Every chartered city in the State today is at the mercy of the Legislature; and the friends of whatever form of government a municipality may have under its charter are always nervous when the Legislature is in session, because of the uncertainty of the effect of its acts upon the charter.

San Francisco has gone to great pains and expense to frame a new charter. If the Legislature amends the Political Code so that a vote on a charter shall be included in the definition of a special election, and that at a special election then held for the purpose the charter recently framed should be adopted by the people at the ballot box, the most important features in it may be absolutely annulled through the operation of some general law passed at this session to meet the requirements of some special case.

As a matter of fact, it is a waste of the public money to organize Boards of Freeholders, frame charters and hold charter elections now. If the present Legislature will, however, pass suitable amendments to the Constitution, relieving chartered cities from the operation of such general laws as the Legislature may thereafter enact, and such amendments be adopted at the next general election, to wit: the election held in November, 1896, then charters may be framed for cities and adopted by them with perfect safety. Four years ago the Legislature made an attempt to relieve the Constitution of its infirmities regarding chartered cities, and the amendment was adopted two years ago by the people at the polls; but the work of amending had been done bunglingly by some 'prentice hand, and after its adoption it was found to afford no relief. Let us have amendments this time that will be effective.

Oakland's Annexation Policy.

Next Wednesday the voters of this city will be required to declare at the polls whether or not they desire to annex Temescal, Peralta, Emeryville and Claremont. The policy of Oakland for many years past has been to annex all outlying settlements geographically related to it. The wisdom of the policy is so plain that it needs neither defense nor explanation. Several times the boundaries of the city have been changed by this method, but each change has only been a step toward their final adjustment. There is a corkscrew boundary line on the eastern side that must very soon be straightened out. The necessities of the district outside this irregular line are hastening that event. There is a constant jar and conflict between suburban and municipal interests calling for concurrent attention and adjustment, but every year witnesses greater difficulty in making the adjustment equitable and satisfactory. The suburb wants municipal facilities without paying for them. In some cases the municipality has gone considerably out of its way to accommodate the suburb. Trespass and invasion of municipal rights are becoming more frequent and nearer the point of unavoidability. When that point is reached there will be nothing left for the suburban territory to do but seek annexation.

These are the conditions on the north side of the city also. The point of unavoidability as regards drainage, fire and police protection and some other municipal features, has been reached in the Temescal district. Instead of continuing the policy of trespass and invasion and suffering the evil consequences which will attend detection, it asks to be admitted to the municipality, to suffer its burdens as well as to enjoy its privileges.

It would have been more desirable in the minds of many citizens who look forward to a reincorporation of Oakland on broader and more independent lines than those on which it is now laid out, if the proposition to annex had included all of the territory lying north of the present boundary line of this city, to the southern boundary line of Berkeley, and embracing Piedmont and Golden Gate as well as the places named in the election call. But that is no reason why the territory offering to come in now should be rejected. Its annexation will facilitate the incoming of the remainder. When that occurs the northern boundary of the city will have been adjusted until such time as Berkeley shall recognize that consolidation is a matter of vital interest to it. Affairs are so shaping themselves that it cannot be many years before that recognition will take place. It is among the inevitable events of the near future.

Besides being a measure in perfect harmony with the past policy of Oakland, the annexation of the territory now seeking admission is a wise and prudent measure. It will relieve this city of much anxiety regarding the drainage on the north and other matters which have hitherto been a source of municipal and suburban friction and whatever addition it may cause to municipal cares and expenses, it will be accompanied with ample compensation in the increased revenues from assessable property. Let the vote in the city be consistent with its annexation policy.

Death of Frederick Douglass.

The leader of the emancipated colored race, Fred Douglass, is dead. Few men, even among his white contemporaries, were Douglass' equal. He was one of the most polished and powerful orators of his times. Yet he was born a slave and acquired his education after escaping from bondage and reaching the age of manhood. In this laudable effort Douglass was greatly aided by William Lloyd Garrison.

He gave the best years of his life to the service of his race, laboring with unremitting zeal for twenty years to secure their emancipation. After that was obtained, as one of the fruits of the War of the Rebellion, Douglass then devoted much of his energies toward the elevation of his race so that they would be better fitted to enjoy their new station in the nation.

In 1871 President Grant recognized his public services by appointing him secretary of the San Domingo Commission, and later a member of the Territorial Council of the District of Columbia. In 1876 he was made Marshal of the District and in 1881, Recorder of Deeds, which position he held until removed by Cleveland in 1886. His last appointment in the public service was as United States Minister to Hayti, but he never entered on that mission because of the protest made against it. In his last years he lost some of his popularity with his own race because of his marriage to a white woman, who now survives him. Douglass leaves also two sons and a daughter by a former wife of his own race. But in the death of Frederick Douglass the colored people of the United States have lost their champion and leader in those dark days when they lived and labored in bondage, and as such his death will be mourned and his memory will be preserved.

The Song of a Train.

The subjoined poem is taken from the Kansas City Star, where it was published on the 17th inst. as an original poem written by one John Davidson. Every Welshman familiar with the compositions of the late John Ceiriog Hughes will recognize in it nothing more or less than a translation of one of Ceiriog's best known poems which has been used as a popular recitation for the past thirty years in every town and hamlet where the Welsh language is spoken. A bolder piece of literary piracy than that which Davidson has committed and imposed upon the eastern press has rarely, if ever, been recorded.

A monster taught
To come to hand
Again
As swift as thought
Speeds through the land,
The train.

The song it sings
Has an iron sound;
Its iron wings
Like wheels go round.

Crash under bridges,
Flash over ridges,
And vault the downs;
The road is straight—
Nor style nor gate,
Nor milestones—towns!

Voluminous, vanishing, white,
The steam plume trails,
Parallel streaks of light,
The polished rails.

Oh, who can follow?
The little swallow,
The trout of the sky;
But it's soon
In autumn,
And Time passed by.

O'er bosky dens,
By marsh and mead,
Forest and fens,
Embodied speed
Is caught and tried
O'er rivers and runnels;

And into the earth
And out again
In death and birth
That know no pain.
For the whole round world
Is a warren of railway tunnels.
Hark! Hark! Hark!
It screams and cleaves the dark,
And the subterranean night
Is gilt with smoky light.
Then out again apace
It runs its thundering race,
The monster taught
To come to hand
Again
That swift as thought
Speeds through the land,
The train.

NOTES FOR WOMEN.

Bluet blue, cerise and magenta pink are the three colors now most favored as accessories both by modistes and milliners.

Orange cream—One-half ounce gelatine, six large oranges, one lemon, six ounces sugar, one-half pint cream. Strain the juice from the oranges and lemon and put it into a saucepan with the gelatine and sufficient water to make a pint; rub the sugar on the orange and lemon peel and add it to the other ingredients, then boil for ten minutes, strain through a muslin bag, and when cold beat it up with the cream; wet a mold, pour in the cream, and put it in a cold place to set.

Pretty checked velvets now rival the shepherd's check silk used for fancy waists and dress trimmings.

Collars are in great demand again, but if the light laces are really coming in, collars will have a tendency to be changed from the heavy styles of last season, and Mirecourt and Luxeuil are already showing some beautiful designs in these goods which harmonize in effect with the laces now in vogue.

Satin antique and several grades of Liberty silks are in great use for crush collars and belts.

Braiding remains a very fashionable trimming. It is too effective to be given up. The work is this season very often done upon strips of colored velvet or heavy satin, which are then applied in various ways on gowns of self-colored cloth.

The necessity for a safety riding skirt has brought various kinds to light, but the latest one invented is practically a large apron in the saddle, and a complete walking skirt when it is buttoned together. It does away with the disfiguring bulge at the knee, and the wearer can walk and ride with equal comfort.

An experienced mother recommends the following receipt for an ointment to be applied to chafed surfaces, cuts and chapped hands: Take equal parts of beeswax, fresh lard and sweet oil. Melt the beeswax, measure it, add the same quantity of melted lard and oil and stir constantly until the mixture becomes stiff. Put in a box or wide-mouthed bottle ready for use.

A new substitute for crinoline is an English one. It consists of a silk petticoat, lined throughout with soft canvas, and has a deep yoke on the front and sides, with deep organ plaits in the back and a fluted flounce at the lower edge of the yoke. It is called "The Elizabethan petticoat," and anything more suggestive of crino line proper than the title and appearance of the skirt could not possibly be furnished.

A little known example of inventive genius in woman is that afforded by Barbara Uttman, of Saxony, and her point lace so long in fashionable use all over the world. She invented the process and apparatus for manufacturing this beautiful handiwork, which has since given employment to millions of operators, and which, in its line, had never been excelled. The apparatus looks like a long pincushion bristling with pins arranged to outline the pattern or design. The operator manages from ten to fifty peculiar spools, allowing the thread to reel over the pins alternately, until the design is completed. The spools, or bobbins are purposely of different colors, so as to be easily distinguishable. The process is slow and difficult to learn. Miss Uttman founded schools where thousands learned it. Since her time, when inventive ability was rare, even among men her ideas have been incorporated in the construction of machinery by which the lace is produced at wonderfully lower rates, and yet Barbara Uttman's lace still surpasses all.

Blue denim is still a great favorite with people who like plenty of color. Some curtains of this material recently noticed had a design of water lilies stamped across the ends and outlined boldly in white paint. They were finished with a heavy white cotton fringe, and caught back with a white cord and tassels. These were draped over heavy fringed linen shades. Another set of the blue denim curtains had arabesque of crimson and gold flannel appliqued across the ends, which gave them a rich Oriental look.

RANDOM NOTES.

Albert Frazier, who married recently in Muncie, Ind., in celebrating the event gave cigars to a couple of boys who are minors. The Grand Jury indicted Frazier for the act. Judge Koons, however, quashed the indictment after reading a letter from Rev. G. A. Hill, who officiated at the wedding, and a petition from several other citizens.

A good deal of excitement was caused at a Baptist mission in New York City last week when at the semi-annual meeting the chairman incautiously spoke of the Italian members as "dagoes." Hisses and cries of "Shame, sname!" arose from every quarter of the room. The Italians rose to their feet as one man, and started toward the speaker. The ladies and children jumped over the pews and scrambled over each other. It was some time before order was restored.

Three or four Southern Legislatures have set out to cut down the salaries of State officials this winter, as a South Carolinian said, "to bring them down to a five-cent cotton basis." South Carolina has paid poor enough salaries at best, but the Legislature has taken a considerable slice off, and now the Alabama Senate has passed a bill to limit all official salaries to $2000 a year.

Divorce has been made easier in South Dakota. Three months' instead of six months' residence will be required hereafter by waifs from the storms of matrimonial infelicity. Chicago will have to annex South Dakota yet.

In the file and document rooms at the Capitol, secreted under piles of useless Government publications and the accumulated dust of years, lie many precious papers and books whose existence is forgotten, or at least is unknown. Not long ago one of the file clerks of the House of Representatives found eight autograph letters of Washington in the midst of a pile of old records, which his superior officer thought he "might just as well get rid of." At another time he discovered in a pigeon hole the original of the letter Martha Washington wrote in response to a resolution declaring it to be the sense of Congress that the Father of his Country should be buried in the crypt of the Capitol, in which she gives her objections to that plan.—Washington Star.

PRIZES ON PATENTS.

How to Get $100 and Perhaps Make a Fortune.

We secure patents and to induce people to keep us informed of their bright ideas we offer a prize of one hundred dollars to be paid on the first of every month to the person who submits to us the most meritorious invention during the preceding month. We will also advertise the invention free of charge in the National Recorder, a weekly newspaper published in Washington, D. C., which has a large circulation throughout the United States and is devoted to the interests of inventors.

NOT SO HARD AS IT SEEMS.

The idea of being able to invent something strikes most people as being very difficult, this delusion the Company wishes to dispel. It is the simple things and small inventions that make the greatest amount of money, and the complex ones are generally unprofitable. Almost everybody, at some time or another, conceives an idea which, if patented would probably be worth to him a fortune. Unfortunately such ideas are usually dismissed without thought. The simple invention like the car window which could be easily slid up and down without breaking the passenger's back the saucepan, the collar button, the nut lock, the bottle stopper the snow shovel, are things that almost everyone sees some way of improving upon and it is these kind of inventions that bring the greatest returns to the author.

The prize we offer will be paid at the end of each month, whether the application has been acted upon by the Patent Office or not. Every competitor is at liberty to apply for a patent on his invention through us, and whether he secures the prize or not the inventor will have a valuable patent.

THURSDAY.......FEBRUARY 21, 1895

THE duties of the Viticultural Commission are to be performed after this year by the agricultural department of the University of California. That puts a quietus to one of the costly commissions which the State has been supporting in the past.

THE prospect of a rival in the afternoon field has caused the Los Angeles Express to brush up. It is now printed on a Hoe Presto Perfecting press and will soon appear daily in a new dress composed by a typesetting machine. The Express does not intend to be left in the competition for public favor and patronage.

THE amended charter offered to the city of Los Angeles was overwhelmingly defeated at the polls last Friday. The vote cast was 395 for and 1952 against. The defeat of the charter is attributed to the fact that it proposed to lengthen the terms of the Board of Education and Council from two to four years, and placed the appointive power of certain offices, now elective, in the hands of the Council. The latter feature was construed very properly as a return to old methods which had been long ago discarded because they were obnoxious to the people and to the theory of good government.

CLARA LOUISE KELLOGG, now Mrs. Carl Strakosch, is content to dine daily with her husband in a 30-cent New York restaurant. The great songstress is said to have lost the greater part of her fortune through an unfortunate investment in a large publishing house, which recently went under owing to the dishonesty of its manager. But what is a much greater calamity to Mrs. Strakosch is that she has lost the magnificent voice which in years past thrilled immense audiences in both hemispheres. This is the second time for Clara Louise to be ruined financially through the dishonesty of others. Many years ago her agent and guardian, George W. Stebbins, then a well-known banker in New York, dissipated the fortune which she had intrusted to his care, through reckless speculation. Clara Louise Kellogg was a great favorite among the music-loving people of this State, and the news of her misfortune will be a source of regret to them.

Constitutional Amendments Needed

The Examiner has finally woke up to the necessity of securing an amendment to the Constitution to enable chartered cities to secure home rule. THE TRIBUNE has been preaching this kind of a gospel for a long time. As the Constitution now is no city is safe. All the labor expended in the framing of charters is virtually wasted. There is no security for the perpetuation of any provision in a municipal charter, although its perpetuation may be essential to the government of the municipality. Some legislative vagary, having no designs on the charter of any city, may contain a provision or a principle which strikes at the very root of the municipal charter. The charters of several cities in the State have suffered that way already. Legislation of a general character is liable to be passed at the present session of the Legislature which may make more serious inroads into them. Every chartered city in the State today is at the mercy of the Legislature; and the friends of whatever form of government a municipality may have under its charter are always nervous when the Legislature is in session, because of the uncertainty of the effect of its acts upon the charter.

San Francisco has gone to great pains and expense to frame a new charter. If the Legislature amends the Political Code so that a vote on a charter shall be included in the definition of a special election, and that at a special election then held for the purpose the charter recently framed should be adopted by the people at the ballot box, the most important features in it may be absolutely annulled through the operation of some general law passed at this session to meet the requirements of some special case.

As a matter of fact, it is a waste of the public money to organize Boards of Freeholders, frame charters and hold charter elections now. If the present Legislature will, however, pass suitable amendments to the Constitution, relieving chartered cities from the operation of such general laws as the Legislature may thereafter enact, and such amendments be adopted at the next general election, to wit: the election held in November, 1896, then charters may be framed for cities and adopted by them with perfect safety. Four years ago the Legislature made an attempt to relieve the Constitution of its infirmities regarding chartered cities, and the amendment was adopted two years ago by the people at the polls; but the work of amending had been done bunglingly by some 'prentice hand, and after its adoption it was found to afford no relief. Let us have amendments this time that will be effective.

Oakland's Annexation Policy.

Next Wednesday the voters of this city will be required to declare at the polls whether or not they desire to annex Temescal, Peralta, Emeryville and Claremont. The policy of Oakland for many years past has been to annex all outlying settlements geographically related to it. The wisdom of the policy is so plain that it needs neither defense nor explanation. Several times the boundaries of the city have been changed by this method, but each change has only been a step toward their final adjustment. There is a corkscrew boundary line on the eastern side that must very soon be straightened out. The necessities of the district outside this irregular line are hastening that event. There is a constant jar and conflict between suburban and municipal interests calling for concurrent attention and adjustment, but every year witnesses greater difficulty in making the adjustment equitable and satisfactory. The suburb wants municipal facilities without paying for them. In some cases the municipality has gone considerably out of its way to accommodate the suburb. Trespass and invasion of municipal rights are becoming more frequent and nearer the point of unavoidability. When that point is reached there will be nothing left for the suburban territory to do but seek annexation.

These are the conditions on the north side of the city also. The point of unavoidability as regards drainage, fire and police protection and some other municipal features, has been reached in the Temescal district. Instead of continuing the policy of trespass and invasion and suffering the evil consequences which will attend detection, it asks to be admitted to the municipality, to suffer its burdens as well as to enjoy its privileges.

It would have been more desirable in the minds of many citizens who look forward to a reincorporation of Oakland on broader and more indipendent lines than those on which it is now laid out, if the proposition to annex had included all of the territory lying north of the present boundary line of this city, to the southern boundary line of Berkeley, and embracing Piedmont and Golden Gate as well as the places named in the election call. But that is no reason why the territory offering to come in now should be rejected. Its annexation will facilitate the incoming of the remainder. When that occurs the northern boundary of the city will have been adjusted until such time as Berkeley shall recognize that consolidation is a matter of vital interest to it. Affairs are so shaping themselves that it cannot be many years before that recognition will take place. It is among the inevitable events of the near future.

Besides being a measure in perfect harmony with the past policy of Oakland, the annexation of the territory now seeking admission is a wise and prudent measure. It will relieve this city of much anxiety regarding the drainage on the north and other matters which have hitherto been a source of municipal and suburban friction and whatever addition it may cause to municipal cares and expenses, it will be accompanied with ample compensation in the increased revenues from assessable property. Let the vote in the city be consistent with its annexation policy.

Death of Frederick Douglass.

The leader of the emancipated colored race, Fred Douglass, is dead. Few men, even among his white contemporaries, were Douglass' equal. He was one of the most polished and powerful orators of his times. Yet he was born a slave and acquired his education after escaping from bondage and reaching the age of manhood. In this laudable effort Douglass was greatly aided by William Lloyd Garrison.

He gave the best years of his life to the service of his race, laboring with unremitting zeal for twenty years to secure their emancipation. After that was obtained, as one of the fruits of the War of the Rebellion, Douglass then devoted much of his energies toward the elevation of his race so that they would be better fitted to enjoy their new station in the nation.

In 1871 President Grant recognized his public services by appointing him secretary of the San Domingo Commission, and later a member of the Territorial Council of the District of Columbia. In 1876 he was made Marshal of the District and in 1881, Recorder of Deeds, which position he held until removed by Cleveland in 1886. His last appointment in the public service was as United States Minister to Hayti, but he never entered on that mission because of the protest made against it. In his last years he lost some of his popularity with his own race because of his marriage to a white woman, who now survives him. Douglass leaves also two sons and a daughter by a former wife of his own race. But in the death of Frederick Douglass the colored people of the United States have lost their champion and leader in those dark days when they lived and labored in bondage, and as such his death will be mourned and his memory will be preserved.

The Song of a Train.

The subjoined poem is taken from the Kansas City Star, where it was published on the 17th inst as an original poem, written by one John Davidson. Every Welshman familiar with the compositions of the late John Ceiriog Hughes will recognize in it nothing more or less than a translation of one of Ceiriog's best known poems which has been used as a popular recitation for the past thirty years in every town and hamlet where the Welsh language is spoken. A bolder piece of literary piracy than that which Davidson has committed and imposed upon the Eastern press has rarely, if ever, been recorded.

A monster taught
To come to hand
Amain
As swift as thought
Across the land
The train.

The song it sings
Has an iron sound;
Its iron wings
Like wheels go round.

Crash under bridges,
Flash over ridges,
And vault the towns;
The road is straight—
Nor stile nor gate;
For milestones—towns!

Voluminous, vanishing, white,
The steam plume trails;
Parallel streaks of light,
The polished rails.

Oh, who can follow?
The little swallow,
The trout of the sky;
But the sun
Is outrun,
And Time passed by.

O'er bosky dens,
By marsh and mead,
Forest and fens,
Embodied speed
Is clanked and hurled;
O'er rivers and runnels;

And into the earth
And out again
In death and birth
That knew no pain.
For the whole round world
Is a warren of railway tunnels.
Hark! Hark! Hark!
It screams and cleaves the lark;
And the subterranean night
Is gilt with smoky light.
Then out again apace
It runs its thundering race,
The monster taught
To come to hand
Amain,
That swift as thought
Speeds through the land,
The train.

NOTES FOR WOMEN.

Bluet blue, cerise and magenta pink are the three colors now most favored as accessories both by modistes and milliners.

Orange cream—One-half ounce gelatine, six large oranges, one lemon, six ounces sugar, one-half pint cream. Strain the juice from the oranges and lemon and put it into a saucepan with the gelatine and sufficient water to make a pint; rub the sugar on the orange and lemon peel and add it to the other ingredients, then boil for ten minutes; strain through a muslin bag, and when cold beat it up with the cream; wet a mold, pour in the cream, and put it in a cold place to set.

Pretty checked velvets now rival the shepherd's check silk used for fancy waists and dress trimmings.

Collars are in great demand again, but if the light laces are really coming in, collars will have a tendency to be changed from the heavy styles of last season, and Mirecourt and Luxeuil are already showing some beautiful designs in those goods which harmonize in effect with the laces now in vogue.

Satin antique and several grades of Liberty silks are in great use for crush collars and belts.

Braiding remains a very fashionable trimming. It is too effective to be given up. The work in this season very often done upon strips of colored velvet or heavy satin, which are then applied in various ways on gowns of self-colored cloth.

The necessity for a safety riding skirt has brought various kinds to light, but the latest one invented is practically a large apron in the saddle, and a complete walking skirt when it is buttoned together. It does away with the disfiguring bulge at the knee, and the wearer can walk and ride with equal comfort.

An experienced mother recommends the following receipt for an ointment to be applied to chafed surfaces, cuts and chapped hands: Take equal parts of beeswax, fresh lard and sweet oil. Melt the beeswax, measure it, add the same quantity of melted lard and oil and stir constantly until the mixture becomes stiff. Put in a box or wide-mouthed bottle ready for use.

A new substitute for crinoline is an English one. It consists of a silk petticoat, lined throughout with soft canvas, and has a deep yoke on the front and sides, with deep organ plaits in the back and a fluted flounce at the lower edge of the yoke. It is called "The Elizabethan petticoat," and anything more suggestive of crinoline proper than the title and appearance of the skirt could not possibly be furnished.

A little known example of inventive genius in woman is that afforded by Barbara Uttman, of Saxony, and her point lace so long in fashionable use all over the world. She invented the process and apparatus for manufacturing this beautiful handiwork, which has since given employment to millions of operators, and which, in its line, had never been excelled. The apparatus looks like a long pincushion bristling with pins arranged to outline the pattern or design. The operator manages from ten to fifty peculiar spools, allowing the thread to reel over the pins alternately, until the design is completed. The spools, or bobbins are purposely of different colors, so as to be easily distinguishable. The process is slow and difficult to learn. Miss Uttman founded schools where thousands learned it. Since her time, when inventive ability was rare, even among men her ideas have been incorporated in the construction of machinery by which the lace is produced at wonderfully lower rates, and yet Barbara Uttman's lace still surpasses all.

Denim is still a great favorite with people who like plenty of color. Some curtains of this material recently noticed had a design of water lilies stamped across the ends and outlined boldly in white paint. They were finished with a heavy white cotton fringe, and caught back with a white cord and tassels. These were draped over heavy fringed linen shades. Another set of the blue denim curtains had arabesque of crimson and gold flannel appliqued across the ends, which gave them a rich Oriental look.

RANDOM NOTES.

Albert Frazer, who married recently in Muncie, Ind., in celebrating the event gave cigars to a couple of boys who are minors. The Grand Jury indicted Frazier for the act. Judge Koons, however, quashed the indictment after reading a letter from Rev. G. A. Hill, who officiated at the wedding, and a petition from several other citizens.

A good deal of excitement was caused at a Baptist mission in New York City last week when at the semi-annual meeting the chairman incautiously spoke of the Italian members as "dagoes." Hisses and cries of "Shame, shame!" arose from every quarter of the room. The Italians rose to their feet as one man, and started toward the speaker. They filled the aisles and jumped over the pews and scrambled over each other. It was some time before order was restored.

Three or four Southern Legislatures have set out to cut down the salaries of State officials this winter, as a South Carolinian said, "to bring them down to a five-cent cotton basis." South Carolina has paid poor enough salaries at best, but the Legislature has taken a considerable slice off, and now the Alabama Senate has passed a bill to limit all official salaries to $2000 a year.

Divorce has been made easier in South Dakota. Three months' instead of six months' residence will be required hereafter by waifs from the storms of matrimonial infelicity. Chicago will have to annex South Dakota yet.

In the file and document rooms at the Capitol, secreted under piles of useless Government publications and the accumulated dust of years, lie many precious papers and books whose existence is forgotten, or at least is unknown. Not long ago one of the file clerks of the House of Representatives found eight autograph letters of Washington in the midst of a pile of old records, which his superior officer thought he "might just as well get rid of." At another time he discovered in a pigeon hole the original of the letter Martha Washington wrote in response to a resolution declaring it to be the sense of Congress that the Father of his Country should be buried in the crypt of the Capitol, in which she gives her objections to that plan.—Washington Star.

PRIZES ON PATENTS.

How to Get $100 and Perhaps Make a Fortune.

We secure patents and to induce people to keep track of their bright ideas we offer a prize of one hundred dollars to be paid on the first of every month to the person who submits to us the most meritorious invention during the preceding month. We will also advertise the invention free of charge in the National Recorder, a weekly newspaper, published in Washington, D. C., which has an extensive circulation throughout the United States and is devoted to the interests of inventors.

NOT SO HARD AS IT SEEMS

The idea of being able to invent something strikes most people as being very difficult; this delusion the Company wishes to dispel. It is the simple things and small inventions that make the greatest amount of money, and the complex ones are seldom profitable. Almost everybody, at some time or another, conceives an idea which, if patented would probably be worth to him a fortune. Unfortunately such ideas are usually dismissed without thought. The simple inventions like the car window which could be easily slid up and down without breaking the passenger's back, the saucepan, the collar button, the nut lock, the bottle stopper, the snow shovel, are things that almost everyone sees some way of improving upon, and it is these kind of inventions that bring the greatest returns to the author.

The prize we offer will be paid at the end of each month, whether the application has been acted upon by the Patent Office or not. Every competitor must apply for a patent on his invention through us, and whether he secures the prize or not, the inventor will have a valuable patent.

Exemplified Nightly in the Local Lodges.

Enthusiastic Pythians Meet in Commemoration.

The Junior Order of Foresters to Be Introduced Here.

The leading feature of interest during the week was the thirty-first anniversary of the organization of the Pythian order. Several other events of more than passing moment transpired, while tomorrow will inaugurate another event in the laying of the corner stone of the Native Sons' building in San Francisco. A resume of the week will be found below:

Knights of Pythias.

The thirty-first anniversary of the organization of the Pythian order was commemorated throughout the county on the 19th inst. In this city, however, the celebration did not take place until last night, when there was a reunion of the Pythian lodges comprising District No. 6 in Pythian Castle. The lodges in this district are Live Oak No. 17, Oakland No. 193 and Piedmont No. 172.

The invitations to the reunion assured the recipients that there would be good speaking, good singing, pleasing recitations, light refreshments and a dance.

Everyone of these promises was realized to the letter, and to this fact one of the largest audiences which ever assembled within Pythian Castle bore testimony.

The reunion was presided over by George Hammers, grand vice chancellor. He showed that he understood his business. The programme was a lengthy one, and the chairman decided that there should be no encores. He knew that if recalls were allowed, the entertainment would not be brought to a close until after midnight. He therefore, insisted that there should be no recalls and his will prevailed, although, in the case of Alexander Roxborough, the audience, good naturedly, took the bit in its teeth for nearly five minutes.

A more varied and artistic programme was never given in this city. It opened with an instrumental piano duet by Mr. Saunders and Miss O'Connor. This was followed with an address by G. V. C. Samuels; a vocal solo by J. R. Fearn; song and dance, Hazel Journal; "The Blacksmith's Story," a recitation, George Allen Watson; "Curious Courtship," by the Cotton sisters; song, Mrs. George Poulter; vocal solo, Alfred Cuff; "Father's Visit to His Sons," William Pelton; banjo duet, Professor Baldwin and wife; vocal feature by the S. M. I. trio; humorous solo, Alexander Roxborough; address, Rev. Edwards Davis; vocal solo, Mrs. Blake Alverson; "The El Child," recitation, Alma Ferris; "The Organ Grinder," character sketch, Archie Donaldson.

Of course, almost perfection was expected and exemplified in the work of the adults. It must be said, however, that their efforts were no more pleasing than were those of the little ones, of whom there were several on the programme. These were the Cotton children, whose Chinese sketch was very entertaining; Hazel Journal, whose song-and-dance act was instinct with harmony and graceful ease; Archie Donaldson, as the organ grinder, who had a clever conception of the character, and Alma Ferris, a pretty little tot of 7 years, whose grace, intelligence and winsomeness enabled her to give a most delightful rendition of her pretty piece.

Refreshments were then served, and the successful programme was brought to a close by a dance.

OAKLAND LODGE.

The celebrated team of Oakland Lodge, Knights of Pythias, will confer the amplified third degrees on two esquires from Brooklyn Lodge, No. 35, next Thursday evening. A large number of visitors will be in attendance. Brooklyn Lodge will do the honors in the hospitable manner for which it is so noted.

Foresters of America.

Court United States of America, No. 7711, initiated two candidates at its last meeting.

The committee reported that it had secured the San Lorenzo picnic grounds for the second Sunday in June.

There were present a number of visiting brothers from Seattle and Red Bluff. A number of interesting remarks were made on the good of the order. At the close of the session the jinks were indulged in for some time. N. Montgomery's Columbia Quartet sang several very pretty selections. There was a pedestal clog by M. Cohen, and I. S. Lewin delivered a number of recitations.

A JUNIOR COURT.

In the Foresters of America there is a junior order or degree, to which boys, mainly sons of Foresters, from 12 to 18 years old, are eligible. The first meeting to organize a court of this character was held last Sunday.

There were present Masters Harry Coffee, Leon Burel, Mady Cohen, Reuben Jacobs, A. Meyerson, Frank Lewis, J. Livingston and Joe Crowder.

The objects of the junior order were set forth, and the boys present expressed themselves as ready to form a court. Among the seniors present were T. L. Holden, chief ranger; R. Rosenberg, sub chief ranger; Frank Jacobs, junior past chief ranger—all of Court United States of America.

The junior court will be organized by Samuel Bercovich. It will have a charter membership of about thirty-five boys and youths.

The next meeting will be held next Sunday afternoon in the hall over Becker's market.

COMPANIONS OF THE FOREST.

United States Circle, Companions of the Forest of America, No. 260, had a well attended meeting last Thursday night. There was a box full of valentines, and each person present was made the recipient of a souvenir of the day and season.

After the distribution, there was a contest by ballot for the most popular young woman, and Miss Fannie Lewis was the winner, a valuable prize being accorded to her.

This circle is receiving a number of new members and hopes to be the banner circle of the county soon.

OAKLAND CIRCLE.

Oakland Circle, No. 3, is rapidly gaining the standard which it formerly enjoyed.

A committee has been appointed to make arrangements for a dime social, to be held on the 27th inst.

Ancient Order of Foresters.

Court Triumph, which was formed last week, is progressing rapidly. It has a large list of members. On next Thursday evening many new members will be initiated.

The rendition of the initiatory work is impressing candidates strongly.

COURT ADVOCATE.

Court Advocate, the oldest and strongest court of the Ancient Order of Foresters in this city, keeps on the even tenor of its way and is increasing its membership weekly.

On Wednesday night next delegates to the Subsidiary High Court will be elected. The anniversary ball will take place.

SUB HIGH COURT.

The meeting of the Sub High Court will take place in San Francisco on May 14th.

Star of Bethlehem.

Star of Truth Lodge, No. 19, order of Star of Bethlehem, entertained its many friends at one of its pleasant monthly socials in its rooms in California Hall last Tuesday evening. Although there were not as many present as usual, there being two other parties in the same hall on the same evening, yet everyone seemed to enjoy himself, as there was a fine programme prepared by the committee. The numbers were so well rendered that each one was encored two or three times. The programme was as follows: Instrumental solo, Miss Perez; duet, Raymond and Grace Walsh; recitation, T. D. Stout; violin solo, Mr. Perez; reading, Percy Jones; song, George Cooper; recitation, Maggie Bassett; song and dance, Miss Pearl Hickman and Lulu Borem; recitation, Miss Amos; song, Mrs. H. Cooper; fancy dance, Miss Maggie Bassett; recitation, Miss Rose Kelley. Music for the dancing was rendered by Miss E. Wells and Mr. Beeby. After the programme refreshments were served, followed by dancing. A few figures in the cotillon were added to the regular order of dances.

The committee in charge of the affair was Lady E. N. Adams, Sirs R. H. Larsen and A. Karlson; Sir Karlson acting as floor manager.

Retail Clerks.

A large attendance was present at the meeting, Monday evening, of the Retail Clerks' Association.

President Rosenberg occupied the chair with his customary ability.

Permission having been granted to President Gelder of the Federated Trades of Alameda County to address a few words to those present, the speaker made use of a number of arguments to convince the members that they must have political representation to further their interests.

Messrs. Isaacs, Bernstein and Rosenberg were elected representatives to the Federated Trades convention, with full power to act in indorsing candidates that are favorable to labor interests.

The committee appointed to call upon solicitaries stated that it had met with flattering success, the ladies being anxious to join the union, and that over twenty would sign the roll of membership as soon as the movement took a tangible form.

The delegate to the Federated Trades stated that three merchants had been caught in the act of selling goods on Sunday by a committee from the Federation and that some definite action will be taken at the next meeting of the Federated Trades to show up these merchants who could break their promise to close on Sunday, given some time ago.

United Workmen.

Keystone Lodge, No. 64, Ancient Order of United Workmen, held its regular meeting on last Tuesday evening at A. O. U. W. Hall on Thirteenth street. The attendance was not as large as formerly. However, a pleasant evening was spent.

Among the visitors were Brothers Harris, Fennon and Haswell, who entertained the lodge with some excellent remarks.

Visitors are always welcome to Keystone Lodge on Tuesday evening, at which time every effort will be made to have a delightful time.

IVY LODGE.

Ivy Lodge, No. 4, Degree of Honor, Ancient Order of United Workmen, had an extremely well attended meeting last Monday evening. Many of those who were present excused themselves for non-attendance at the previous meeting on account of the inclement weather.

Great regret was expressed at the unavoidable absence of Chief of Honor, Mrs. A. Wood, which was caused by sudden indisposition.

During the evening a new member was initiated, Past Chief of Honor Mrs. William Cogan performing the chief of honor's portion of the initiatory exercises with her old-time elocutionary ability and impressiveness.

Lady of Honor Mrs. A. Marks occupied the chief of honor's chair with marked executive ability.

Eulogies and eloquent speeches were delivered by Brothers Ingler, Fall, Wood, Mayon, Cohen and Greenabaum.

Lady of Honor Mrs. Marks favored those present with a comical recitation entitled "The Irish Schoolmaster." The brogue used by the talented sister savored of the Emerald isle to such a degree that loud applause greeted the effort.

Young Men's Institute.

Rev. Father O'Neil, Grand Director of the Young Men's Institute, will visit Haywards Council, No. 115 on the evening of March 4th. The members are preparing a fine reception for him, and a banquet will be one of the features of the evening.

Sons of Veterans.

Colonel E. D. Baker Camp, Sons of Veterans, will give their monthly social and dance next Monday evening. A good programme with dancing will be the features of the evening at Grand Army of the Republic Hall.

Catholic Ladies' Aid Society.

The Catholic Ladies' Aid Society intends that the musical and dramatic entertainment to be given next Tuesday evening at St. Francis de Sales' Hall, corner of Grove and Jones streets, shall be a grand success. The proceeds are to be applied to the help of the sick and needy.

Native Sons.

President Stone of Oakland Parlor, No. 50, Native Sons of the Golden West, has issued the following circular to the members of that organization:

"On Washington's Birthday there will be a general parade in San Francisco of Native Sons from the city and bay parlors, together with the National Guard, upon which occasion the corner stone of the new home of the order will be laid.

"The Joint Committee having the matter in charge have perfected all the arrangements which promise to be on an elaborate scale.

"Governor Budd and Mayor Sutro will take part in the ceremonies.

"Inquiries from other parlors indicate that the members are going to turn out in large numbers, and it is the earnest wish of the officers of our parlor that Oakland Parlor, No. 50, will not be outdone in point of numbers and enthusiasm by any other of the Alameda county parlors.

"You will meet many of your old friends upon this occasion and a good time is promised.

"All brothers intending to participate in the parade are requested to assemble at the parlor headquarters at 9 A. M. sharp, February 22d, where the regalia will be furnished.

"The brothers will march to Broadway and Seventh street and take the 9:30 train to the city.

"The point of assembly in San Francisco is at Battery and Market streets."

Similar notes have been addressed to the other local parlors by their respective presidents.

Grand President Sproul has issued a circular to the parlors at large suggesting that they invest some of their surplus in the proposed new hall in San Francisco, as he believes it will be a good, permanent dividend-paying proposition for unused funds of parlors.

Rathbone Sisters.

Calanthe Temple, No. 6, Rathbone Sisters, have moved from the Pythian Castle on Twelfth street to Becker's Hall on Washington street, and will now meet on Thursday night. Thursday, February 28th, they will give an entertainment and dance. The temples of this district are preparing to receive the grand chief of this State, who is making an official visit.

Gronlund's Lecture Tonight.

Laurence Gronlund will lecture in the First Congregational Church tonight on "Productive State Employment for the Unemployed." The lecture will be free.

STARK OBJECTS.

A Prohibition Indorsement Is Not Wanted.

Cold Water Advocates Likewise Make Protest.

A Candidate Who Thinks He Cannot Carry Two Fights.

The most interesting development in local politics is the row that has been raised in the First ward by G. Stark's refusal to accept the indorsement of the Prohibition Party, as a candidate for School Director from that ward.

Stark is the only candidate, to date, who has made the extraordinary move of refusing to stand in line with all, and any indorsement he can secure. But G. Stark says he has no use for the Prohibition support. In fact, he fears their indorsement has settled his chances for election, adversely, unless he can publicly repudiate the Prohibition candidacy. Not only does he not want it, but he avows he will be beaten. It is a load, he claims, he cannot carry.

Stark has the nomination from the Non-Partisans. He is content to make his fight on that issue without involving any other question.

Some of the Prohibition leaders who have learned of his actions feel in regard to their indorsement are as angry as he is. They do not propose to be scorned in any such fashion. For their side they say Stark need not be alarmed now. He will not get the Prohibition vote. "We will see that he is not elected by our votes," said one of them, "and he could be elected, I believe, had he been willing to accept the indorsement of our party."

The general political situation is utterly devoid of startling features. In several wards there are from eight to a dozen candidates for the Council, and in these districts the fight is warm.

In the Mayoralty fight, John L. Davis is making a hard struggle against overwhelming odds which, it is believed, he stands no chance of overcoming. He is making an active personal canvass and his familiar form is seen daily on buttonholing expeditions along Broadway.

None of the candidates for the principal offices seem to be making an unusually desperate fight. There are the usual number of political advertisements in circulation on the streets. Candidates, as a rule, are distributing photo-lithos of themselves, so numerously that the prominent places about town look like a portrait gallery.

An Independent.

James Henneberry is an independent candidate for Councilman from the First ward. He is one of the oldest residents of the ward, having lived there for the past eighteen years. He is a well-known business man.

Veterans to Meet.

There will be a meeting of Mexican and Union Veterans at Shattuck Hall, corner of Eighth street and Broadway, on Saturday evening, February 23d, at 7:30 o'clock. The purpose of the meeting will be to discuss matters of interest to veterans. A large attendance is desired. Veterans of the Mexican war and of the late war are requested to turn out. At the last meeting of the club J. A. Colquhoun was elected president.

JOHN BOYD THACHER A WITNESS.

He Fully Verifies a Disputed World's Fair Award.

John Boyd Thacher is laconic and decisive in his statements. During the lively campaign just closed in New York, this marked him especially as chairman of the Democratic State Committee. It was equally true of him as chairman of the Executive Committee on Awards at the World's Fair. This is the positive and spontaneous way in which he verifies in an official letter, the honors won by Dr. Price's Baking Powder: "I herewith inclose you an official copy of your award, which in due time will be inscribed in the diploma and forwarded." Thus the question respecting the award, raised by an envious New York rival, is settled beyond cavil. This same rival by the way is widely advertising an award for itself. The official records prove this claim wholly false, as they show the New York pretender was not so much as an exhibitor at the World's Fair.

PETERSON CRAZY.

He Is Caught While Trying to Play an Unwelcome Coachman.

L. Peterson, formerly a railroad employe of this city, who went crazy a month ago and was confined in Dr. Rundberg's asylum in San Francisco, escaped from there yesterday. He ran after a carriage containing Mrs. L. Murphy and some friends, and ordered her to stop. She declined to obey. He overtook the vehicle, caught one of the wheels and the horse stopped. Peterson was about to enter the carriage and seize the lines when he was overpowered and taken back to the asylum.

ANOTHER STEP.

The Oakland Horse Meet Steadily Advancing.

D. W. Martin Has Become Interested in the Matter.

R. M. Fitzgerald has accepted the offer of the chairmanship of the executive committee of the Oakland Horse Meet. He has promised to devote himself studiously to the duties of the position and has no doubt that the undertaking will be made a grand success. I. L. Requa, who had been mentioned in connection with the chairmanship of the committee, hesitated to assume the responsibility of the position because of heavy business demands made upon him.

The executive committee will comprise fifteen members, who will be selected from the committee of 100. It will be subdivided and each subdivision will be placed in charge of one of the features of the meet which it is proposed to introduce.

Among the members of the committee are Mrs. R. Chabot, who has long been devoted to Fabiola Hospital; Mrs. W. R. Davis and a number of others.

The services and enthusiasm of D. W. Martin, late Supervisor, and a most experienced horseman, have been enlisted in the undertaking. He promises to not only work himself, but also enlist the services of lovers of horses all through the county.

A number of the members of the Acme Club have promised to do all they can in aiding in getting up athletic events in connection with the meet.

The committee will assemble next Saturday night, at the residence of Mrs. Chabot. Before that time, however, the full executive committee will have been selected.

At Home, 403 Eleventh Street, H. Schellhaas, the furniture dealer.

A WASTED LIFE.

The Sad Condition of Young Edward Marcellus.

Again in the County Jail for Insanity.

Had Two Days' Liberty After Six Months' Confinement.

Edward P. Marcellus, son of ex-Postmaster Charles Marcellus, is in the County Jail again after two days' liberty. The young man is a total wreck from the use of opium, and all efforts to restrain him from the use of the deadly drug are unavailing.

He was arrested last evening at the Eureka Hotel, where he had thrown the guests into a state of terror by his queer antics. He was seized with a sudden fit of insanity, which culminated in the performance of unseemly acts which drove the guests out of the house. All effort to control him while he was groveling on the floor and dodging behind doors in attempts to escape from imaginary pursuers were fruitless until a policeman was called in. The officer quieted the young man and escorted him to the jail. He was released last Tuesday after serving a six-months' term for vagrancy. He was imprisoned in the hope that confinement might assist in recuperating his wasted constitution and in curing him of his deadly habit.

About two weeks before the expiration of his term, he was examined by physicians who suggested that he be sent to the County Hospital.

In accordance with the recommendation the prison officers transferred him to the hospital van on Tuesday afternoon. There was no trouble with Marcellus and it was believed he would go the Infirmary without being placed under restraint. He failed to reach the hospital. At some point on the journey thither he escaped from the van and made his way into Oakland, where he was next heard from last evening at the Eureka Hotel.

Mrs. Burns, a friend of the young man's mother, who resides in Los Angeles, has been caring for the unfortunate fellow. This morning she held a consultation with Attorney Button. It was decided to have Marcellus confined in the County Jail temporarily until further steps could be taken. A charge of insanity is pending against him, but physicians who have examined him say it would be difficult to furnish sufficient evidence to sustain the charge, as he is only subject to peculiar aberrations when not supplied with opium.

An effort will probably be made, however, to cause him to be committed to some institution on the ground that he is dangerous to be at large.

AN ELECTRIC ROAD.

The People of Haywards Are in Favor of Improvement.

A mass meeting was held at Haywards Tuesday night for the purpose of considering the building of the electric railway between Haywards and San Jose, which is proposed by Felix Chappelet of Oakland, who organized a company to build the road some time ago. Many prominent speakers addressed the meeting, among them Mr. Chappelet, who explained that the stock is to be divided into 100,000 shares valued at $10 each; no collections to be made till $250,000 of the stock is subscribed.

A committee of ten was appointed to solicit subscriptions.

Another mass meeting will be held next Saturday evening.

MRS. HARRINGTON DEAD

Sorrowful Ending of a Young, But Troubled Life.

Mrs. Maude Harrington, who shot herself in Hogan & Watson's law office in Napa a couple of weeks ago, died at that place on last Saturday. She was a native of Sioux City, Ia., and came to this city with her husband some time ago. She then discovered that her husband was a gambler. She then went to the office of Attorney Fred Button of this city and employed him to secure a divorce for her. Her life, which had extended over only twenty-five years, was not a happy one and was ended with a suicide's bullet.

FINE COAL OIL

Sold at Low Prices and in Cans of the Latest Designs.

It is a dictate of prudence that, in using illuminating fluid, only the best that may be procured should be used. This is especially true when the best can be procured for the most reasonable prices, and served in Kennedy's Safety Faucet oil cans. Such is the experience of the patrons of Kennedy's oil agency, 1019 San Pablo avenue. This is the oldest and most reliable oil house in Oakland. There, ten gallons of Eastern coal oil may be procured for $1 25 in two of the patent cans before referred to, and delivered free to all parts of the city.

This safety faucet invention is the only thing of the kind in use, and guarantees absolute immunity from accident in handling oil. It does away with the cheaply constructed and easily corroding can which has heretofore been used by many families, and which was always in a leaky condition.

Kennedy's agency is doing a large and profitable business.

Destitution That Is Real.

Mamie Worthington, an actress, whose home name is Mrs. Mamie Axtell, is lying dangerously ill and in need of friendly assistance at 836½ Broadway. She is best known to the public in the character of "Topsy" in Uncle Tom's Cabin.

St. Paul's Concert.

Mrs. Carrie Fross-Snyder, Mrs. Olive Reed-Batcholder, Mrs. Bruns and others will give a recital tonight at Hamilton Hall, under the auspices of the ladies of St. Paul's Church.

CHILD SICKLY?

Strength Is Not Enough for Proper Growth.

The Young Body Fails to Get Well Nourished.

Body Cannot Grow Without Pure, Sturdy Blood.

Unequalled Value of Paine's Celery Compound.

From birth till past the age of 30 there is growth; some of the bones do not completely knit till 35.

All this time in addition there is the steady waste of the tissues that must be repaired. The demand upon the vitality and upon the powers of assimilation is thus enormous during these years. Without plenty of rich, nourishing blood, growth must be defective and tardy. But when it courses through all the arteries in a full, vigorous stream, growth goes on steadily and perfectly.

What countless numbers of frail youngsters physicians see whose pitiably thin wrists and bloodless faces cry out for better nourishment. All this does not escape the vigilant insight of parents. In thousands of homes it is well known that the boys and girls are somehow badly nourished.

The weak stomachs and organs of assimilation cannot extract the food for growing nerves and brain in sufficient quantities from the ordinary diet. A special nerve diet is what they need. Paine's celery compound is Prof. Edward E. Phelps' great preparation for nourishing these little frames and making them grow into strong, active men and women. Dr. Phelps, upon whom colleges conferred their highest honors for his invaluable investigations in medicine, knew from ripe experience the exact needs of these little sufferers.

A chorus of gratitude has gone up all over the country, from mothers of children once weakly and pale, without promise of ever growing into robust men and women, who have outgrown weakness and a lack of vitality by the use of Paine's celery compound, taken with the regularity that physicians adhere to when prescribing this wonderful nerve and blood restorative.

It is valuable in all wasting diseases, in cleansing the blood of rheumatism, neuralgia, scrofula, and supplying new and healthy vital fluid—its value can neither be weighed nor measured.

As the great modern nerve and brain strengthener and restorer Paine's celery compound is pronounced invaluable by all progressive physicians. Give this grand invigorator a fair trial, and be convinced.

SECRET WORK

Exemplified Nightly in the Local Lodges.

Enthusiastic Pythians Meet In Commemoration.

The Junior Order of Foresters to Be Introduced Here.

The leading feature of interest during the week was the thirty-first anniversary of the organization of the Pythian order. Several other events of more than passing moment transpired, while tomorrow will inaugurate another event in the laying of the corner stone of the Native Sons' building in San Francisco. A resume of the week will be found below:

Knights of Pythias.

The thirty-first anniversary of the organization of the Pythian order was commemorated throughout the county on the 19th inst. In this city, however, the celebration did not take place until last night, when there was a reunion of the Pythian lodges comprising District No. 8 in Pythian Castle. The lodges in this district are Live Oak No. 17, Oakland No. 103 and Piedmont No. 172.

The invitations to the reunion assured the recipients that there would be good speaking, good singing, pleasing recitations, light refreshments and a dance.

Everyone of these promises was realized to the letter, and to this fact one of the largest audiences which ever assembled within Pythian Castle bore testimony.

The reunion was presided over by George Samuels, grand vice chancellor. He showed that he understood his business. The programme was a lengthy one, and the chairman decided that there should be no encores. He knew that if recalls were allowed, the entertainment would not be brought to a close until after midnight. He therefore, insisted that there should be no recalls and his will prevailed, although, in the case of Alexander Rosborough, the audience, good naturedly, took the bit in its teeth for nearly five minutes.

A more varied and artistic programme was never given in this city. It opened with an instrumental piano duet by Mr. Saunders and Miss O'Connor. This was followed with an address by G. V. C. Samuels; a vocal solo by J. R. Fearn; song and dance, Hazel Journal; "The Blacksmith's Story," a recitation, George Allen Watson; "Chinese Courtship," by the Cotton sisters; song, Mrs. George Poulter; vocal solo, Alfred Cliff; "Father's Visit to His Sons," William Pelton; banjo duet, Professor Baldwin and wife; vocal feature by the S. M. I. trio; humorous solo, Alexander Rosborough; address, Rev. Edwards Davis; vocal solo, Mrs. Blake Alverson; "The Elf Child," recitation, Alma Ferris; "The Organ Grinder," character sketch, Archie Donaldson.

Of course, almost perfection was expected and exemplified in the work of the adults. It must be said, however, that their efforts were no more pleasing than were those of the little ones, of whom there were several on the programme. These were the Cotton children, whose Chinese sketch was very entertaining; Hazel Journal, whose song-and-dance act was instinct with harmony and gracefulness; Archie Donaldson, as the organ-grinder, who had a clever conception of the character, and Alma Ferris, a pretty little tot of 7 years, whose grace, intelligence and winsomeness enabled her to give a most delightful rendition of her pretty piece.

Refreshments were then served, and the successful programme was brought to a close by a dance.

OAKLAND LODGE.

The celebrated team of Oakland Lodge, Knights of Pythias, will confer the amplified third degrees on two esquires from Brooklyn Lodge, No. 35, next Thursday evening. A large number of visitors will be in attendance. Brooklyn Lodge will do the honors in the hospitable manner for which it is so noted.

Foresters of America.

Court United States of America, No. 7741, initiated two candidates at its last meeting.

The committee reported that it had secured the San Lorenzo picnic grounds for the second Sunday in June.

There were present a number of visiting brothers from Seattle and Red Bluff. A number of interesting remarks were made on the good of the order. At the close of the session stage jinks were indulged in for some time. N. Montgomery's Columbia Quartet sang several very pretty selections. There was a pedestal clog by M. Cohen, and F. S. Lewin delivered a number of recitations.

A JUNIOR COURT.

In the Foresters of America there is a junior order or degree, to which boys, mainly sons of Foresters, from 12 to 18 years old, are eligible. The first meeting to organize a court of this character was held last Sunday.

There were present Masters Harry Coffee, Leon Furst, Many Cohen, Reuben Jacobs, A. Meyerson, Frank Lewis, J. Livingston and Joe Crowder.

The objects of the junior order were set forth, and the boys present expressed themselves as ready to form a court. Among the seniors present were T. L. Holden, chief ranger; R. Rosenberg, sub chief ranger; Frank Jacobs, junior past chief ranger—all of Court United States of America.

The junior court will be organized by Samuel Bercovich. It will have a charter membership of about thirty-five boys and youths.

The next meeting will be held next Sunday afternoon in the hall over Becker's market.

COMPANIONS OF THE FOREST.

United States Circle, Companions of the Forest of America, No. 260, had a well attended meeting last Thursday night. There was a box full of valentines, and each person present was made the recipient of a souvenir of the day and season.

After the distribution, there was a contest by ballot for the most popular young woman, and Miss Fannie Lewis was the winner, a valuable prize being accorded to her.

This circle is receiving a number of new members and hopes to be the banner circle of the county soon.

OAKLAND CIRCLE.

Oakland Circle, No. 3, is rapidly gaining the standard which it formerly enjoyed.

A committee has been appointed to make arrangements for a dime social, to be held on the 27th inst.

Ancient Order of Foresters.

Court Triumph, which was formed last week, is progressing rapidly. It has a large list of members. On next Thursday evening many new members will be initiated.

The rendition of the initiatory work is impressing candidates strongly.

COURT ADVOCATE.

Court Advocate, the oldest and strongest court of the Ancient Order of Foresters in this city, keeps on the even tenor of its way and is increasing its membership weekly.

On Wednesday night next delegates to the Subsidiary High Court will be elected. The anniversary ball will take place.

SUB HIGH COURT.

The meeting of the Sub High Court will take place in San Francisco on May 14th.

Star of Bethlehem.

Star of Truth Lodge, No. 19, order of Star of Bethlehem, entertained its many friends at one of its pleasant monthly socials in its rooms in California Hall last Tuesday evening. Although there were not as many present as usual, there being two other parties in the same hall on the same evening, yet everyone seemed to enjoy himself, as there was a fine programme prepared by the committee. The numbers were so well rendered that each one was encored two or three times. The programme was as follows: Instrumental solo, Miss Perez; duet, Raymond and Grace Walsh; recitation, T. D. Stout; violin solo, Mr. Perez; reading, Percy Jones; song, George Cooper; recitation, Maggie Bassett; song and dance, Miss Pearl Hickman and Lulu Borein; recitation, Miss Amos; song, Mrs. H. Cooper; fancy dance, Miss Maggie Bassett; recitation, Miss Rose Kelley. Music for the dancing was rendered by Miss E. Wells and Mr. Beeby. After the programme refreshments were served, followed by dancing. A few figures in the cotillon were added to the regular order of dances.

The committee in charge of the affair was Lady E. N. Adams, Sirs R. H. Larsen and A. Karlson; Sir Karlson acting as floor manager.

Retail Clerks.

A large attendance was present at the meeting, Monday evening, of the Retail Clerks' Association.

President Rosenberg occupied the chair with his customary ability.

Permission having been granted to President Gelder of the Federated Trades of Alameda County to address a few words to those present, the speaker made use of a number of arguments to convince the members that they must have political representation to further their interests.

Messrs. Isaacs, Bernstein and Rosenberg were elected representatives to the Federated Trades convention, with full power to act in indorsing candidates that are favorable to labor interests.

The committee appointed to call upon salesladies stated that it had met with flattering success, the ladies being anxious to join the union, and that over twenty would sign the roll of membership as soon as the movement took a tangible form.

The delegate to the Federated Trades stated that three merchants had been caught in the act of selling goods on Sunday by a committee from the Federation and that some definite action will be taken at the next meeting of the Federated Trades to show up these merchants who could break their promise to close on Sunday, given some time ago.

United Workmen.

Keystone Lodge, No. 64, Ancient Order of United Workmen, held its regular meeting on last Tuesday evening at A. O. U. W. Hall on Thirteenth street. The attendance was not as large as formerly. However, a pleasant evening was spent.

Among the visitors were Brothers Harris, Fennon and Haswell, who entertained the lodge with some excellent remarks.

Visitors are always welcome to Keystone Lodge on Tuesday evening, at which time every effort will be made to have a delightful time.

IVY LODGE.

Ivy Lodge, No. 4, Degree of Honor, Ancient Order of United Workmen, had an extremely well attended meeting last Monday evening. Many of those who were present excused themselves for non-attendance at the previous meeting on account of the inclement weather.

Great regret was expressed at the unavoidable absence of Chief of Honor, Mrs. A. Wood, which was caused by sudden indisposition.

During the evening a new member was initiated, Past Chief of Honor Mrs. William Cogan performing the chief of honor's portion of the initiatory exercises with her old-time elocutionary ability and impressiveness.

Lady of Honor Mrs. A. Marks occupied the chief of honor's chair with marked executive ability.

Eulogies and eloquent speeches were delivered by Brothers Ingler, Fail, Wood, Mayon, Cohen and Greenabaum.

Lady of Honor Mrs. Marks favored those present with a comical recitation entitled "The Irish Schoolmaster." The brogue used by the talented sister savored of the Emerald isle to such a degree that loud applause greeted the effort.

Young Men's Institute.

Rev. Father O'Neil, Grand Director of the Young Men's Institute, will visit Haywards Council, No. 115, on the evening of March 4th. The members are preparing a fine reception for him, and a banquet will be one of the features of the evening.

Sons of Veterans.

Colonel E. D. Baker Camp, Sons of Veterans, will give their monthly social and dance next Monday evening. A good programme with dancing will be the features of the evening at Grand Army of the Republic Hall.

Catholic Ladies' Aid Society.

The Catholic Ladies' Aid Society intends that the musical and dramatic entertainment to be given next Tuesday evening at St. Francis de Sales' Hall, corner of Grove and Jones streets, shall be a grand success. The proceeds are to be applied to the help of the sick and needy.

Native Sons.

President Stone of Oakland Parlor, No. 50, Native Sons of the Golden West, has issued the following circular to the members of that organization:

"On Washington's Birthday there will be a general parade in San Francisco of Native Sons from the city and bay parlors, together with the National Guard, upon which occasion the corner stone of the new home of the order will be laid.

"The Joint Committee having the matter in charge have perfected all the arrangements which promise to be on an elaborate scale.

"Governor Budd and Mayor Sutro will take part in the ceremonies.

"Inquiries from other parlors indicate that the members are going to turn out in large numbers, and it is the earnest wish of the officers of our parlor that Oakland Parlor, No. 50, will not be outdone in point of numbers and enthusiasm by any other of the Alameda county parlors.

"You will meet many of your old friends upon this occasion and a good time is promised.

"All brothers intending to participate in the parade are requested to assemble at the parlor headquarters at 9 A. M. sharp, February 22d, where the regalia will be furnished.

"The brothers will march to Broadway and Seventh street and take the 9:30 train to the city.

"The point of assembly in San Francisco is at Battery and Market streets."

Similar notes have been addressed to the other local parlors by their respective presidents.

Grand President Sproul has issued a circular to the parlors at large suggesting that they invest some of their surplus in the proposed new hall in San Francisco, as he believes it will be a good, permanent dividend-paying proposition for unused funds of parlors.

Rathbone Sisters.

Calanthe Temple, No. 6, Rathbone Sisters, have moved from the Pythian Castle on Twelfth street to Becker's Hall on Washington street, and will now meet on Thursday night. Thursday, February 28th, they will give an entertainment and dance. The temples of this district are preparing to receive the grand chief of this State, who is making an official visit.

Gronlund's Lecture Tonight.

Laurence Gronlund will lecture in the First Congregational Church tonight on "Productive State Employment for the Unemployed." The lecture will be free.

STARK OBJECTS.

A Prohibition Indorsement Is Not Wanted.

Cold Water Advocates Likewise Make Protest.

A Candidate Who Thinks He Cannot Carry Two Fights.

The most interesting development in local politics is the row that has been raised in the First ward by G. Stark's refusal to accept the indorsement of the Prohibition Party, as a candidate for School Director from that ward.

Stark is the only candidate, to date, who has made the extraordinary move of refusing to stand in line with all, and any indorsement he can secure. But G. Stark says he has no use for the Prohibition support. In fact, he fears their indorsement has settled his chances for election, adversely, unless he can publicly repudiate the Prohibition candidacy. Not only does he not want it, but he avows he will be beaten. It is a load, he claims, he cannot carry.

Stark has the nomination from the Non-Partisans. He is content to make his fight on that issue without involving any other question.

Some of the Prohibition leaders who have learned of his actions with regard to their indorsement are as angry as he is. They do not propose to be scorned in any such fashion. For their side they say Stark need not be alarmed now. He will not get the Prohibition vote. "We will see that he is not elected by our votes," said one of them, "and he could be elected, I believe, had he been willing to accept the indorsement of our party."

The general political situation is utterly devoid of startling features. In several wards there are from eight to a dozen candidates for the Council, and in these districts the fight is warm.

In the Mayoralty fight, John L. Davie is making a hard struggle against overwhelming odds which, it is believed, he stands no chance of overcoming. He is making an active personal canvass and his familiar form is seen daily on buttonholing expeditions along Broadway.

None of the candidates for the principal offices seem to be making an unusually desperate fight. There are the usual number of political advertisements in circulation on the streets. Candidates, as a rule, are distributing photo-lithos of themselves, so numerously that the prominent places about town look like a portrait gallery.

An Independent.

James Hennessey is an independent candidate for Councilman from the First ward. He is one of the oldest residents of the ward, having lived there for the past eighteen years. He is a well-known business man.

Veterans to Meet.

There will be a meeting of Mexican and Union Veterans at Shattuck Hall, corner of Eighth street and Broadway, on Saturday evening, February 23d, at 7:30 o'clock. The purpose of the meeting will be to discuss matters of interest to veterans. A large attendance is desired. Veterans of the Mexican war and of the late war are requested to turn out. At the last meeting of the club J. A. Colquhoun was elected president.

JOHN BOYD THACHER A WITNESS.

He Fully Verifies a Disputed World's Fair Award.

John Boyd Thacher is laconic and decisive in his statements. During the lively campaign just closed in New York, this marked him especially as chairman of the Democratic State Committee. It was equally true of him as chairman of the Executive Committee on Awards at the World's Fair. This is the positive and sententious way in which he verifies in an official letter, the honors won by Dr. Price's Baking Powder: "I herewith inclose you an official copy of your award, which in due time will be inscribed in the diploma and forwarded." Thus the question respecting the award, raised by an envious New York rival, is settled beyond cavil. This same rival by the way is widely advertising an award for itself. The official records prove this claim wholly false, as they show the New York pretender was not so much as an exhibitor at the World's Fair.

PETERSON CRAZY.

He Is Caught While Trying to Play an Unwelcome Coachman.

L. Peterson, formerly a railroad employe of this city, who went crazy a month ago and was confined in Dr. Rundberg's asylum in San Francisco, escaped from there yesterday. He ran after a carriage containing Mrs. L. Murphy and some friends, and ordered her to stop. She declined to obey. He overtook the vehicle, caught one of the wheels and the horse stopped. Peterson was about to enter the carriage and seize the lines when he was overpowered and taken back to the asylum.

ANOTHER STEP.

The Oakland Horse Meet Steadily Advancing.

R. M. Fitzgerald Heads the Executive Committee.

D. W. Martin Has Become Interested in the Matter.

R. M. Fitzgerald has accepted the offer of the chairmanship of the executive committee of the Oakland Horse Meet. He has promised to devote himself studiously to the duties of the position and has no doubt that the undertaking will be made a grand success. I. L. Requa, who had been mentioned in connection with the chairmanship of the committee, hesitated to assume the responsibility of the position because of heavy business demands made upon him.

The executive committee will comprise fifteen members, who will be selected from the committee of 100. It will be subdivided and each subdivision will be placed in charge of one of the features of the meet which it is proposed to introduce.

Among the members of the committee are Mrs. R. Chabot, who has long been devoted to Fabiola Hospital; Mrs. W. R. Davis and a number of others.

The services and enthusiasm of D. W. Martin, late Supervisor, and a most experienced horseman, have been enlisted in the undertaking. He promises to not only work himself, but also enlist the services of lovers of horses all through the county.

A number of the members of the Acme Club have promised to do all they can in aiding in getting up athletic events in connection with the meet.

The committee will assemble next Saturday night, at the residence of Mrs. Chabot. Before that time, however, the full executive committee will have been selected.

At Home, 468 Eleventh Street.

A WASTED LIFE.

The Sad Condition of Young Edward Marcellus.

Again in the County Jail for Insanity.

Had Two Days' Liberty After Six Months' Confinement.

Edward P. Marcellus, son of ex-Postmaster Charles Marcellus, is in the County Jail again after two days' liberty. The young man is a total wreck from the use of opium, and all efforts to restrain him from the use of the deadly drug are unavailing.

He was arrested last evening at the Eureka Hotel, where he had thrown the guests into a state of terror by his queer antics. He was seized with a sudden fit of insanity, which culminated in the performance of unseemly acts which drove the guests out of the house. All effort to control him while he was groveling on the floor and dodging behind doors in attempts to escape from imaginary pursuers were fruitless until a policeman was called in. The officer quieted the young man and escorted him to the jail. He was released last Tuesday after serving a six-months' term for vagrancy. He was imprisoned in the hope that confinement might assist in recuperating his wasted constitution and in curing him of his deadly habit.

About two weeks before the expiration of his term, he was examined by physicians who suggested that he be sent to the County Hospital.

In accordance with the recommendation the prison officers transferred him to the hospital van on Tuesday afternoon. There was no trouble with Marcellus and it was believed he would go the Infirmary without being placed under restraint. He failed to reach the hospital. At some point on the journey thither he escaped from the van and made his way into Oakland, where he was next heard from last evening at the Eureka Hotel.

Mrs. Burns, a friend of the young man's mother, who resides in Los Angeles, has been caring for the unfortunate fellow. This morning she held a consultation with Attorney Button. It was decided to have Marcellus confined in the County Jail temporarily until further steps could be taken. A charge of insanity is pending against him, but physicians who have examined him say it would be difficult to furnish sufficient evidence to sustain the charge, as he is only subject to peculiar aberrations when not supplied with opium.

An effort will probably be made, however, to cause him to be committed to some institution on the ground that he is dangerous to be at large.

AN ELECTRIC ROAD.

The People of Haywards Are in Favor of Improvement.

A mass meeting was held at Haywards Tuesday night for the purpose of considering the building of the electric railway between Haywards and San Jose, which is proposed by Felix Chappelet of Oakland, who organized a company to build the road some time ago. Many prominent speakers addressed the meeting, among them Mr. Chappelet, who explained that the stock is to be divided into 100,000 shares valued at $10 each; no collections to be made till $250,000 of the stock is subscribed.

A committee of ten was appointed to solicit subscriptions.

Another mass meeting will be held next Saturday evening.

MRS. HARRINGTON DEAD

Sorrowful Ending of a Young, But Troubled Life.

Mrs. Mande Harrington, who shot herself in Hogan & Watson's law office in Napa a couple of weeks ago, died at that place on last Saturday. She was a native of Sioux City, Ia., and came to this city with her husband some time ago. She then discovered that her husband was a gambler. She then went to the office of Attorney Fred Button of this city and employed him to secure a divorce for her. Her life, which had extended over only twenty-five years, was not a happy one and was ended with a suicide's bullet.

FINE COAL OIL

Sold at Low Prices and in Cans of the Latest Designs.

It is a dictate of prudence that, in using illuminating fluid, only the best that may be procured should be used. This is especially true when the best can be procured for the most reasonable prices, and served in Kennedy's Safety Faucet oil cans. Such is the experience of the patrons of Kennedy's oil agency, 1019 San Pablo avenue. This is the oldest and most reliable oil house in Oakland. There, ten gallons of Eastern coal oil may be procured for $1 25 in two of the patent cans before referred to, and delivered free to all parts of the city.

This safety faucet invention is the only thing of the kind in use, and guarantees absolute immunity from accident in handling oil. It does away with the cheaply constructed and easily corroding can which has heretofore been used by many families, and which was always in a leaky condition.

Kennedy's agency is doing a large and profitable business.

CHILD SICKLY?

Strength Is Not Enough for Proper Growth.

The Young Body Fails to Get Well Nourished.

Body Cannot Grow Without Pure, Sturdy Blood.

Unequalled Value of Paine's Celery Compound.

From birth till past the age of 30 there is growth; some of the bones do not completely knit till 35.

All this time in addition there is the steady waste of the tissues that must be repaired. The demand upon the vitality and upon the powers of assimilation is thus enormous during these years. Without plenty of rich, nourishing blood, growth must be defective and tardy. But when it courses through all the arteries in a full, vigorous stream, growth goes on steadily and perfectly.

What countless numbers of frail youngsters physicians see whose pitiably thin wrists and bloodless faces cry out for better nourishment. All this does not escape the vigilant insight of parents. In thousands of homes it is well known that the boys and girls are somehow badly nourished.

The weak stomachs and organs of assimilation cannot extract the food for growing nerves and brain in sufficient quantities from the ordinary diet. A special nerve diet is what they need. Paine's celery compound is Prof. Edward E. Phelps' great preparation for nourishing these little frames and making them grow into strong, active men and women. Dr. Phelps, upon whom colleges conferred their highest honors for his invaluable investigations in medicine, knew from ripe experience the exact needs of these little sufferers.

A chorus of gratitude has gone up all over the country, from mothers of children once weakly and pale, without promise of ever growing into robust men and women, who have outgrown weakness and a lack of vitality by the use of Paine's celery compound, taken with the regularity that physicians adhere to when prescribing this wonderful nerve and blood restorative.

It is valuable in all wasting diseases, in cleansing the blood of rheumatism, neuralgia, scrofula, and supplying new and healthy vital fluid—its value can neither be weighed nor measured.

As the great modern nerve and brain strengthener and restorer Paine's celery compound is pronounced invaluable by all progressive physicians. Give this grand invigorator a fair trial, and be convinced.

Encouragement of industry and enterprise should "begin at home." The money you pay forh ome products stays at home—helps to reduce the number of unemployed "at home."

FOR FIVE HUNDRED YEARS and over, the whole world has been coming to Carlsbad to be cured. Disorders of the stomach, of the liver, of the bowels, of the kidneys and bladder, gout, rheumatism, diabetes, obesity—all have been sent to Carlsbad.

Here is the very same remedy now, right at your own door—the Carlsbad Sprudel Salt (the water solidified and put into powder form at the spring). You need it for constipation, for indigestion, for biliousness, just as much as in other and graver ailments. All druggists keep it. But see that you obtain the genuine imported, with the signature of "EISNER & MENDELSON Co., Sole Agents, New York." on every bottle.

A BAD ROAD.

Complaint Made About the Condition of San Pablo Avenue.

Editor Tribune—The road on San Pablo avenue, between Golden Gate and Berkeley, is in a most deplorable condition; also in other places, but more so in the former.

For years this part of the road has been an eyesore to farmers of San Pablo and Pinole, who have to take the road to bring their produce, hay or grain to the Oakland market.

On the other hand, the merchants of Oakland who have to go to Berkeley have in most cases refused to haul goods to that place or the near neighborhood owing to its unsafeness.

The Mathews family, who own a large frontage in this section, claim that it is not for them to fix that road, but that the town authorities or the railroad company should fix the road and that they will stand their portion of the expenses, and abuse should not be heaped upon them.

Today a hay wagon was mired to the hub and it took six heavy horses to pull the wagon load out.

If this section of the road is not fixed soon there will yet be some accident, and as to whether the town authorities of Berkeley or the Alameda County Board of Supervisors will be held responsible will be a question for some of the courts to decide. One only needs to travel this road to see for himself that some immediate action should be taken. On a dark night, woe to the stranger who strikes one of these chuck-holes; either horse, driver or wagon will be damaged, owing to the fact that people want to save a few dollars. M. O'D.

FOR FIVE HUNDRED YEARS and over, the whole world has been coming to Carlsbad to be cured. Disorders of the stomach, of the liver, of the bowels, of the kidneys and bladder, gout, rheumatism, diabetes, obesity—all have been sent to Carlsbad.

Here is the very same remedy now, right at your own door—the Carlsbad Sprudel Salt (the water solidified and put into powder form at the spring). You need it for constipation, for indigestion, for biliousness, just as much as in other and graver ailments. All druggists keep it. But see that you obtain the genuine imported, with the signature of "Eisner & Mendelson Co., Sole Agents, New York," on every bottle.

A BAD ROAD.

Complaint Made About the Condition of San Pablo Avenue.

Editor Tribune—The road on San Pablo avenue, between Golden Gate and Berkeley, is in a most deplorable condition; also in other places, but more so in the former.

For years this part of the road has been an eyesore to farmers of San Pablo and Pinole, who have to take the road to bring their produce, hay or grain to the Oakland market.

On the other hand, the merchants of Oakland who have to go to Berkeley have in most cases refused to haul goods to that place or the near neighborhood owing to its unsafeness.

The Mathews family, who own a large frontage in this section, claim that it is not for them to fix that road, but that the town authorities or the railroad company should fix the road and that they will stand their portion of the expenses, and abuse should not be heaped upon them.

Today a hay wagon was mired to the hub and it took six heavy horses to pull the wagon load out.

If this section of the road is not fixed soon there will yet be some accident, and as to whether the town authorities of Berkeley or the Alameda County Board of Supervisors will be held responsible will be a question for some of the courts to decide. One only needs to travel this road to see for himself that some immediate action should be taken. On a dark night, woe to the stranger who strikes one of these chuck-holes; either horse, driver or wagon will be damaged, owing to the fact that people want to save a few dollars. M. O'D.

SUNSET LIMITED

The Southern Pacific Company's magnificent Vestibuled Train, between San Francisco and New Orleans, now starts on its flying transcontinental trip an hour and a half earlier and arrives in the Southern metropolis two hours earlier than formerly, reducing the run to 75 hours and opening several other popular routes to prominent Eastern cities.

Immediate connection is now made in New Orleans with the fast through trains of the ILLINOIS CENTRAL for Memphis, St. Louis and Chicago; the QUEEN & CRESCENT for Chattanooga, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Buffalo, New York and Boston; also the PIEDMONT AIR LINE and the SEABOARD AIR LINE, for Atlanta, Danville, Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, and other Eastern cities and in many cases reducing the time an entire day.

To be whirled across the continent from ocean to ocean in 3 days, from San Francisco to New York, with only one change, in the most palatial train that ever crossed a continent, and in a climate of perpetual Spring, is possible by the SUNSET ROUTE only, and on the SUNSET LIMITED. Remember that it costs only the regular fare to travel on this train; that it leaves Oakland Pier every THURSDAY at 9:27 A. M.

The Herrmann Engagement at the Macdonough.

He Will Have Large Houses Every Night.

Seats Are Going Rapidly for the Warde and James Week.

Herrmann will play to one of the biggest houses that any attraction ever appeared before on the boards of the Macdonough. Standing room will be at a premium tonight. The great magician's phenomenal feats are matters of world-wide reputation. He comes to Oakland with a magnificent programme of entertaining novelties, new and original. Many of his marvelous mysteries are entirely his own creation and have never before been attempted by any performer. Herrmann rivals the ordinary sleight of hand performer as the sun overshadows the moon. He will, with his beautiful English wife, give only four performances, including a matinee on Saturday.

Warde and James.

The week's engagement of the eminent tragedians, Warde and James, bids fair to surpass anything the Macdonough has had for many months. The advance sale is very large and today the demand is very heavy. Jackson and Madison streets will be largely represented in the audiences of the week. The repertoire opens with Henry IV on Tuesday night, Francesca da Rimini, Wednesday, Julius Cæsar; Thursday, William Greer Harrison's great play, Runnymede; Friday, Lion's Mouth; Saturday matinee, Henry IV; evening, Richard III.

The People's.

The Child-Stealer, with its charming comedy and fine scenery, is a fetching production. The play is doing a good business this week.

The Bicyclists.

The big bicycle tournament is doing well at the Mechanics' Pavilion and large crowds of bicyclists are in attendance every evening. There will be a special holiday programme tomorrow afternoon and evening.

TWO DAMAGE SUITS.

F. P. Howland Missed the Society of His Wife

F. P. Howland's suit against the Oakland Consolidated Street Railway Company and the Consolidated Piedmont Cable Company for $11,500 damages for the loss of his wife's society during the time she was recovering from injuries received in a collision at Sixteenth and Adeline streets is on trial before a jury of nine men in Judge Frick's courtroom today. Mrs. Howland obtained a judgment several months ago for $10,000. Attorney W. W. Foote represents Howland and is making a hard fight for his client. Attorneys R. M. Fitzgerald and Carl H. Abbott appear for the Oakland Consolidated, and Attorneys Samuel McKee and R. Wilson are looking out for the Piedmont Company's interests.

The trial of O. C. Hyatt's suit against the Oakland Railroad Company was resumed in Judge Greene's court this morning. Hyatt asks for $21,155, and his attorneys, Welles Whitmore and Ben F. Woolner, are doing all in their power to convince the jury that their client is entitled to the amount asked.

A BUSINESS DISPUTE.

Notes in the Valensin Estate Have Been Sold.

The executors of the estate of the late Count Valensin have filed a report of the sale of personal property.

According to the report, Valensin in 1892 sold some live stock to Archbishop Riordan of San Francisco, who was represented in the transaction by J. A. McDonald and W. D. McKinnon. The agents gave Valensin notes amounting to $7350. Before the maturity of the votes Valensin transferred them to the Bank of Livermore, obtaining their face value. So far but $593 10 has been paid on the notes, leaving a balance of $6756 90, with interest. The claim is held by the executors. The executors state that the transfer of the notes to the bank was understood to convey with it the claim against the Archbishop's agents. The executors claim, however, that such cannot be the case, but that they sold the claim to the bank for $5 in order to avoid legal entanglements.

A LANDMARK.

The Lafayette School To Go Under the Hammer.

The old Lafayette school, which has been supplanted by the Third Ward school, and which stands at the corner of Grove and Eleventh streets, will be sold at auction next Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. This is now the oldest school in the city. It has been in constant use nearly a third of a century. Through it hundreds of Oakland men and women have passed. It is therefore dear to many and a number of the former students are photographing the old structure as a memorial of the past.

THE THEATERS.

The Herrmann Engagement at the Macdonough.

He Will Have Large Houses Every Night.

Seats Are Going Rapidly for the Warde and James Week.

Herrmann will play to one of the biggest houses that any attraction ever appeared before on the boards of the Macdonough. Standing room will be at a premium to-night. The great magician's phenomenal feats are matters of world-wide reputation. He comes to Oakland with a magnificent programme of entertaining novelties, new and original. Many of his marvelous mysteries are entirely his own creation and have never before been attempted by any performer. Herrmann rivals the ordinary sleight of hand performer as the sun overshadows the moon. He will, with his beautiful English wife, give only four performances, including a matinee on Saturday.

Warde and James.

The week's engagement of the eminent tragedians, Warde and James, bids fair to surpass anything the Macdonough has had for many months. The advance sale is very large and today the demand is very heavy. Jackson and Madison streets will be largely represented in the audiences of the week. The repertoire opens with Henry IV, on Tuesday night Francesca da Rimini, Wednesday, Julius Cæsar, Thursday, William Greer Harrison's great play, Runnymede, Friday, Lion's Mouth; Saturday matinee, Henry IV, evening, Richard III.

The People's.

The Child-Stealer, with its charming comedy and fine scenery, is a fetching production. The play is doing a good business this week.

The Bicyclists.

The big bicycle tournament is doing well at the Mechanics' Pavilion and large crowds of bicyclists are in attendance every evening. There will be a special holiday programme tomorrow afternoon and evening.

TWO DAMAGE SUITS.

F. P. Howland Misses the Society of His Wife

F. P. Howland's suit against the Oakland Consolidated Street Railway Company and the Consolidated Piedmont Cable Company for $11,500 damages for the loss of his wife's society during the time she was recovering from injuries received in a collision at Sixteenth and Adeline streets is on trial before a jury of nine men in Judge Frick's courtroom today. Mrs. Howland obtained a judgment several months ago for $10,000. Attorney W. W. Foote represents Howland and is making a hard fight for his client. Attorneys R. M. Fitzgerald and Carl H. Abbott appear for the Oakland Consolidated, and Attorneys Sam Bell McKee and H. Wilson are looking out for the Piedmont Company's interests.

The trial of O. C. Hyatt's suit against the Oakland Railroad Company was resumed in Judge Greene's court this morning. Hyatt asks for $21,155, and his attorneys, Welles Whitmore and Ben F. Woolner, are doing all in their power to convince the jury that their client is entitled to the amount asked.

A BUSINESS DISPUTE.

Notes in the Valensin Estate Have Been Sold.

The executors of the estate of the late Count Valensin have filed a report of the sale of personal property.

According to the report, Valensin in 1892 sold some live stock to Archbishop Riordan of San Francisco, who was represented in the transaction by J. A. McDonald and W. D. McKinnon. The agents gave Valensin notes amounting to $7350. Before the maturity of the notes Valensin transferred them to the Bank of Livermore, obtaining their face value. So far but $593 10 has been paid on the notes, leaving a balance of $6756 90, with interest. The claim is held by the executors. The executors state that the transfer of the notes to the bank was understood to convey with it the claim against the Archbishop's agents. The executors claim, however, that such cannot be the case, but that they sold the claim to the bank for $5 in order to avoid legal entanglements.

This is now the oldest school in the city. It has been in constant use nearly a third of a century. Through it hundreds of Oakland men and women have passed. # MARKET STEADY

Improvements in Rolling Mill and Steel Plants.

An Advance in Tin Is Now Being Noted.

Copper Is Weaker and Lead Has Declined a Little.

NEW YORK, February 21.—The Iron Age today says:

In spite of the continued low prices of iron and steel products, a more hopeful feeling is spreading among Eastern manufacturers.

"This is due principally to the fact that costs have been crowded down until now makers feel that they are partly safe in their own territory.

"This applies to pigiron as well as to steel.

"In the latter the basis is open hearth furnaces, which have become the salvation of the Eastern maker. Pigiron for this purpose is being delivered at a low price, while cheap melting scrap has been available in quantity in their territory.

"The result is that with modern improved practice the basis of open hearth steel can be produced in the East at a cost very close to the price at which Western and Bessemer can be laid down in the Eastern market.

"This is a phase of recent developments which has inspired so much confidence that considerable improvements in rolling mills and steel plants are either under way or are in contemplation.

"The current week has brought little that is sensational. In Bessemer pig, I hear big rumors in the sale of one ten-thousand ton block at $10 but has done relatively little in steel billets or wire rods. On the whole the market is steady.

"The advance in the prices of a rough iron pipe seems to have the usual effect of causing buyers to test the sincerity of sellers by keeping out of the market.

"In metals, an advance in tin is noted. Copper is weaker, while lead has declined under the pressure of moderate sales."

A COMMITTEE CRITICISED.

A Mexican Journalist Who Is Interested in Tariff

ST LOUIS, February 21.—A Dueas Salinas, publisher of Las Dos Naciones, and author of "Riches of Mexico and Its Institutions," which was issued under the authority of the Mexican committee, criticises the action of the Ways and Means Committee of Congress in tampering with the "free zone," or "zona libra" as it is called of Mexico.

"If the resolution presented to the House is passed, and now before the Senate, becomes a law it will work great harm to our trade," said the Mexican journalist in an interview.

"England, from whom this country took the trade with Mexico fifteen years ago," concluded Mr Salinas, "will make almost any terms to get it back and will urge retaliation. Pain would be a calamity. Our trade has increased every year, and the year 1895 promises to be the greatest in volume of our history. The avarice of a few men threatens to dissolve what has taken years to build up, for the Mexicans are a peculiar people and easily aroused."

LARGE CROPS.

The Farmers in North Texas Are at Work.

DALLAS, Texas, February 21.—North Texas is putting in the biggest crop of oats ever known in the history of the State.

The January and February snows and ice left the ground in a pulverized condition, and since the sun has come out, thousands of plows have been put to work preparing the land for oats. On account of the long dry spell in the fall and early winter, the wheat crop suffered.

AN ALLIANCE.

College Athletes Propose to Branch Out.

The Annual Meeting to Be Held Saturday.

Important Matters Will Then Be Disposed Of.

NEW YORK, February 21.—One of the many important matters to be considered at the annual meeting of the Inter-collegiate Athletic Association, to be held at the Fifth Avenue Hotel on Saturday, will be the formation of an alliance between the governing board over college athletics and the Amateur Athletic Union.

The bringing about of a closer affiliation between the two great organizations controlling amateur athletic pastimes in this country will in all probability be ratified by the collegians.

That such an alliance would be of great advantage to these organizations is plain to see.

College athletes come so closely in touch with the outside amateur world during the holiday season that a uniformity of governing rules has become absolutely necessary for the general welfare of the sport, and the time is now pronounced ripe for some impartial understanding which will negative any possibility of future friction.

The A. A. U. is now allied with the North American Gymnastic Union and the League of American Wheelmen, having an aggregate membership of 100,000. The opening wedge in the matter of establishing more intimate relations between the college and club athletes was instituted by the A. A. U. a few months ago when it appointed a committee to confer with the inter-collegiate association regarding several technical points in athletics of vital interest to both bodies raised by the University of California. The preliminary negotiations were carried out so satisfactorily that the collegians have invited the representatives of the union to appear at their coming meeting for a joint discussion of the points involved and to prescribe such remedies as may be deemed advisable to correct them.

If the questions at issue are amicably settled the A. A. U. delegates will submit to the inter-collegiate association articles of alliance and concede anything that might possibly be construed into an undue assumption of authority. The text of the union's proposition is a secret and will not be disclosed until after the conference with the college men is over.

FOR THIRTY CENTS.

A Life Taken at the Gambling Table.

VELASCO, Tex., February 21.—A shooting scrape occurred in a negro gambling house, in which Walter Armstrong killed Julius McCane and severely wounded Will Clark. All the parties are negroes.

The trouble arose over a dispute between Armstrong and McCane over 50 cents. Five shots were fired, four striking McCane and one hitting Clark, who was standing near watching the gambling. Armstrong gave himself up, and is lodged in jail.

RAPHAEL'S ESCAPE.

He Would Have Been Sent to Jail if Turned Up in Chicago.

CHICAGO, February 21.—J. M. Veroneo was arraigned in Justice Bradwell's court, charged with selling obscene literature.

The defense introduced in evidence a copy of Eugene Murtzi's "Raphael," drawn from the public library. The illustrations of the work were shown to the justice, who said: "Well, it's a good thing that Raphael did not live in this city, for sure if he had been brought before me I would feel it my duty to hold him to the Criminal Court, art or no art."

ACCUSED OF MURDER.

Cherokee Bill on Trial in the Circuit Court.

FORT SMITH, Ark., February 21.—The trial of Crawford Goldsby, alias Cherokee Bill, for the murder of Ernest Melton at Lenaph, I. T., has begun here in the United States Court.

It is expected that the jury will be completed so that evidence can be taken today.

The present Grand Jury has found an indictment charging Cherokee Bill with murdering his brother-in-law, Mose Brown.

HE IS STILL ALIVE.

Actor Gentry Is Being Guarded by Two Policemen.

PHILADELPHIA, February 21.—James B. Gentry, the murderer of Actress Madge Yorke, is still alive, and the chances are that he will recover.

Two policemen are constantly on guard at the hospital, not only to prevent escape, but to frustrate any attempt by Gentry at self destruction.

The American Loan

LONDON, February 21.—The Rothschilds said today that the American loan had been covered over twenty times by subscriptions. The Rothschilds do not intend to take any portion of the amount alloted to America.

THE NEW FOURS.

NEW YORK, February 21.—The new 4s were offered at 1 20 o'clock at the opening of the 'Change today. 118 bid, and since advanced to 118½ bid, offered at 120.

The Stock Market

NEW YORK, February 21.—The stock market opened firm but almost stagnant. After 10 15 o'clock a general advance was made, lead gaining 1 per cent, preferred ¾, Pacific Mail ½ and Northwest and Western Union ¾. The chief feature of the market from 11 to 12 o'clock was the speculation in American Tobacco, which under the bear attack dropped to 84½ 4 per cent below the best price of the morning. Before noon the stock rallied to 85⅝, preferred reacting ¾ per cent. The general list while dull was firm.

Not Prosecuted.

PEORIA, Ill., February 21.—The cases against Dr. Richard C. Flower, the Boston financier, and R. C. Mercer, his silent partner, were not prosecuted on recommendation of the United States attorney. They were accused of swindling D. R. Chapman of $600,000.

A Receiver Appointed

SENT TO JAIL.

Blackmailers in France Are in Trouble.

Engaged in a Scheme to Make Gamblers Divide.

Representatives of the Press in a Bad Business.

PARIS, February 21.—The trial has been concluded of representatives of the press of this city, charged with blackmail, and sentences were pronounced today.

M. De Clerq of the Nineteenth Century was condemned to fifteen months imprisonment, and a fine of 200 francs; M. Girard, manager of the Nineteenth Century and M. Hoffler, two years in prison and 1000 francs fine each; M. Camille Dreyfus, a former member of the Chamber of Deputies, and lately political director of the Nation one year in prison, and 500 francs fine; M. Edouard Portalis, formerly director of the Nineteenth Century, five years imprisonment and 5000 francs fine.

The arrest and conviction of these men grew out of the unearthing of a gigantic scheme levying blackmail upon managers of all casinos and gambling clubs of France.

BITS OF GOSSIP.

Many of the most influential persons in Germany have signified their intention of making valuable presents to Prince Bismarck on his coming eightieth birthday, April 1st. Almost every jeweler of prominence in Berlin is at work on some souvenir.

The major is pretty good authority on such matters, too.—New York correspondence Chicago Times.

There Is Much Destitution in St. John's.

The Government Had to Aid the Poor.

Bread Was Secured by Getting Up a Baking Contest.

ST JOHN'S, N. F., February 21.—The destitution arising from the financial crisis is increasing. In this city between 6000 and 7000 persons are regularly receiving relief.

The funds for this purpose are becoming low and there is yet another month of real hardship before the poor. The Herald, by a bread-baking contest, secured 1000 loaves today, which it will distribute among the Relief Committee.

The Government has heretofore been contributing $1000 weekly for the benefit of the poor, but this has now been withdrawn.

In a money way given to the clerical relief fund. The Government intimates its intention of starting relief works.

The opposition press accuses the Government of cutting off its contribution to the relief fund in order to devote the $1000 weekly to a corruption fund to be used in the by-elections, which occur within a fortnight.

MARKET STEADY

Improvements in Rolling Mill and Steel Plants.

An Advance in Tin is Now Being Noted.

Copper Is Weaker and Lead Has Declined a Little.

NEW YORK, February 21.—The Iron Age today says:

"In spite of the continued low prices of iron and steel products, a more hopeful feeling is spreading among Eastern manufacturers.

"This is due principally to the fact that costs have been crowded down until now makers feel that they are partly safe in their own territory.

"This applies to pigiron as well as to steel.

"In the latter the basis is upon hearth furnaces, which have become the salvation of the Eastern maker. Pigiron for this purpose is being delivered at a low price, while cheap melting scrap has been available in quantity in their territory.

"The result is that with modern improved practice the basis of open hearth steel can be produced in the East at a cost very close to the price at which Western and Bessemer can be laid down in the Eastern market.

"This is a phase of recent developments which has inspired so much confidence that considerable improvements in rolling mills and steel plants are either under way or are in contemplation.

"The current week has brought little that is sensational. In Bessemer pig, Pittsburg recorded the sale of one ten-thousand ton block at $10, but has done relatively little in steel billets or wire rods. On the whole the market is steady.

"The advance in the prices of a rough iron pipe seems to have the usual effect of causing buyers to test the sincerity of sellers by keeping out of the market.

"In metals, an advance in tin is noted. Copper is weaker, while lead has declined under the pressure of moderate sales."

A COMMITTEE CRITICISED.

A Mexican Journalist Who Is Interested in Tariff.

ST. LOUIS, February 21.—A. Duclas Salinas, publisher of Las Dos Naciones, and author of "Riches of Mexico and Its Institutions," which was issued under the authority of the Mexican committee, criticises the action of the Ways and Means Committee of Congress in tampering with the "free zone," or "zona libra," as it is called, of Mexico.

"If the resolution presented to the House is passed, and now before the Senate, becomes a law, it will work great harm to our trade," said the Mexican journalist in an interview.

"England, from whom this country took the trade with Mexico fifteen years ago," concluded Mr. Salinas, "will make almost any terms to get it back and will urge retaliation. Tariff would be a calamity. Our trade has increased every year, and the year 1895 promises to be the greatest in volume of our history. The avarice of a few men threatens to destroy what has taken years to build up, for the Mexicans are a peculiar people and easily aroused."

LARGE CROPS.

The Farmers in North Texas Are at Work.

DALLAS, Texas, February 21.—North Texas is putting in the biggest crop of oats ever known in the history of the State.

The January and February snows and ice left the ground in a pulverized condition, and since the sun has come out, thousands of plows have been put to work preparing the land for oats. On account of the long dry spell in the fall and early winter, the wheat crop suffered.

AN ALLIANCE.

College Athletes Propose to Branch Out.

The Annual Meeting to Be Held Saturday.

Important Matters Will Then Be Disposed Of.

NEW YORK, February 21.—One of the many important matters to be considered at the annual meeting of the Inter-collegiate Athletic Association, to be held at the Fifth Avenue Hotel on Saturday, will be the formation of an alliance between the governing board over college athletics and the Amateur Athletic Union.

The bringing about of a closer affiliation between the two great organizations controlling amateur athletic pastimes in this country will in all probability be ratified by the collegians.

That such an alliance would be of great advantage to these organizations is manifest.

College athletes come so closely in touch with the outside amateur world during the holiday season that a uniformity of governing rules has become absolutely necessary for the general welfare of the sport, and the time is now pronounced ripe for some impartial understanding which will negative any possibility of future friction.

The A. A. U. is now allied with the North American Gymnastic Union and the League of American Wheelmen, having an aggregate membership of 100,000. The opening wedge in the matter of establishing more intimate relations between the college and club athletes was instituted by the A. A. U. a few months ago, when it appointed a committee to confer with the inter-collegiate association regarding several technical points in athletics of vital interest to both bodies raised by the University of California. The preliminary negotiations were carried out so satisfactorily that the collegians have invited the representatives of the union to appear at their coming meeting for a joint discussion of the points involved and to prescribe such remedies as may be deemed advisable to correct them.

If the questions at issue are amicably settled the A. A. U. delegates will submit to the inter-collegiate association articles of alliance and concede anything that might possibly be construed into an undue assumption of authority. The text of the union's proposition is a secret and will not be disclosed until after the conference with the college men is over.

FOR THIRTY CENTS.

A Life Taken at the Gambling Table.

VELASCO, Tex., February 21.—A shooting scrape occurred in a negro gambling house, in which Walter Armstrong killed Julius McCane and severely wounded Will Clark. All the parties are negroes.

RAPHAEL'S ESCAPE.

He Would Have Been Sent to Jail if Turned Up in Chicago.

CHICAGO, February 21.—J. M. Veronee was arraigned in Justice Bradwell's court, charged with selling obscene literature.

The defense introduced in evidence a copy of Eugene Murtzi's "Raphael," drawn from the public library. The illustrations of the work were shown to the justice, who said: "Well, it's a good thing that Raphael did not live in this city, because if he had been brought before me I would feel it my duty to hold him to the Criminal Court, art or no art."

ACCUSED OF MURDER.

Cherokee Bill on Trial in the Circuit Court.

FORT SMITH, Ark., February 21.—The trial of Crawford Goldsby, alias Cherokee Bill, for the murder of Ernest Melton at Lenaph, I. T., has begun here in the United States Court.

It is expected that the jury will be completed so that evidence can be taken today.

Engaged in a Scheme to Make Gamblers Divide.

Representatives of the Press in a Bad Business.

PARIS, February 21.—The trial has been concluded of representatives of the press of this city, charged with blackmail, and sentences were pronounced today.
